DEMOCRATS WAR OVER LIQUOR ISSUE

TROLLEY LINES ASK TO CANCEL F AND G RUNS

Traction Company Wants to Install Buses on Part of Route.

REMOVAL OF TRACKS PROPOSED IN REQUEST

Service to Takoma Park Is Listed for Improvement in New Program.

The Capital Traction Co. late yesterday asked permission of the Public Utilities Commission to discontinue its F and G street service, west of Seventeenth street, and to substitute bus service over part of this route and to Florida avenue and Fifth street northeast. A request was also filed to make certain changes designed to improve the street car service to and from Takoma Park.

This would discontinue street car service southbound on Seventeenth street, between Pennsylvania avenue and G street, west on G to Twenty-sixth, north on Twenty-fifth to Pennsylvania avenue, south on Twenty-sixth to F, and thence east to Nineteenth street.

Tracks would be removed from the small strip of Seventeenth street, as well as all along the route on which the service is proposed to be stopped.

Rebuilding Order Issued.

This portion of the Capital Traction Co.'s line was ordered either rebuilt or abandoned last fall by the Commission in view of plans to repave the streets.

The terminus of the Chevy Chase cars would be changed from Twenty-sixth and G streets to Potomac Park, thus making the line turn south at Nineteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue and run via Nineteenth to Virginia avenue, Eighteenth street, F and Seventeenth street to connect with Pennsylvania avenue at Seventeenth street.

Plans also include the discontinuance of the routing of cars in the midday nonrush period between Navy Yard and Potomac Park, and the stopping of the bus line now operated at nights, Sundays, and on holidays between Potomac Park and Nineteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue. This service would be taken care of by the proposed Chevy Chase-Potomac Park Line.

Terminus Extension Planned.

The east terminus of the Takoma Line would be extended from Peace Monument to the Navy Yard. The route of cars running now on Fourteenth street would be extended from Third and Sheridan streets to Takoma during the midday nonrush period, thus doubling the service to Takoma.

The substituted bus service would have its northwest terminus at Twenty-sixth and F streets and would follow this route: East on F to Twenty-fourth, south to E, east to Twenty-second, north to F, east to Seventeenth, south, turning east, to State place and continuing east on the south side of the White House Grounds to Fifteenth and E, thence north to New York avenue to H, east to Sixth, north to K, east to Fifth

1917 Veterans Demand Profitless War Draft

Policies Commission Opens Series of Hearings to Advocate Legislation Banning Profiteering in Strife.

(Associated Press.)

Men who fought in the World War demandde yesterday that if they are sent ot war again those who stay at home be mobilized to prevent profiteering.

Representatives of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans appeared before the War Policies Commisison to advocate legislation for universal draft in time of war.

The commission, composed of members of the Cabinet, the Senate and the House, was set up by Congress to study "methods of equalizing the burdens nad removing the profits of war."

The hearing yesterday was the first of a series at which those charged with the conduct of the last war will be heard. Bernard Baruch, chairman of the War Industries Board during the world war, will testify today.

Next week Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War during the European conflict, and Gen. John J. Pershing, head of the American Expeditionary Force, will appear.

Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander of the American Legion, urged the commission yesterday to recommend legislation to insure the mobilization of men, mnoey, materials and food in time of war.

O'Neil said the Legion does not want to draft capital or labor, but wants the Govrenment to have absolute conrtol of both. He suggested a plan for limiting profits to a fixed amount, such as 7 per cent, and a far-reaching price-fixing program, unwould be fixed not only for the Govder which the prices of commodities ernment, but for the civil population.

The universal draft plan was characterized by the legion commander as "a peace measure, a preparedness measure and a measure of elemental justice."

"With a universal draft law," he said, "there will be no people in America who can profit in case we go to war. There will be no one in this country who will seek to draw this country into war in order that he may personally profit.

"This is primarily a peace measure. On the other hand, no nation in the

EXTRA PRINTING ROBS STAFF OF HALF HOLIDAYS

Engraving Bureau Head Halts Workers' Joy With Furloughs.

EMPLOYES REQUIRED TO LABOR ON SUNDAY

Hall Refuses to Ask More Money for Department, Despite Order Rush.

Some of the employes of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing will be forced to work overtime tomorrow and on Sunday, despite the new Saturday half-holiday law, Charles R. Long, acting director of the bureau, disclosed yesterday.

Neither will the new Saturday half-holiday law make any difference in the enforcement of the furlough program which was inaugurated some time ago by Alvin W. Hall, director of the bureau, who now is enjoying a vacation trip to Europe, Mr. Long said.

Announcement of the determination of the officials of the bureau to continue to force employes to take furloughs instead of attempting to absorb some of the furlough through the Saturday half-holiday hit bureau employes with something like a thunderbolt yesterday.

Jubilation Is Halted.

John Smith, chief of the division of stamps of the bureau, halted jubilation of employes over the signature of the new law by President Hoover with the sharp warning that the law would do them no good, and this pronouncement was confirmed by Mr. Long last night, although the acting director of the bureau said that Mr. Smith's declaration was not made with the authority of the director's office.

Passage of the Saturday half-holiday law by Congress was greeted with shouts and cheers by employes of the bureau when informed of the action by telephone. Supervisors and division chiefs raced about demanding quiet and asking who was responsible for the demonstration.

A similar demonstration was made when President Hoover signed the law, of which the employes also were informed by telephone, and for a few minutes there was something like revolution in various divisions.

Chiefs Are Dodged.

Supervisors and chiefs were watching for any one who might shout their joy, but groups in one place would yell and when the supervisor went to that place, other groups in another place yelled derisively. It was one of the most extraordinary demonstrations seen in a Government department or bureau.

Women employes of the bureau are forced to take three days a month off and plate printers are forced to take

RASKOB'S OPTION PLAN DISPLEASES CHIEFS AND LEADS TO DENUNCIATIONS

NORTH CAROLINIAN IS HISSED DURING HIS SCATHING ATTACK

Al Smith, Angry, Asserts Former Running Mate's Remarks Would Give Comfort to Hoover; Group Decides to Pay Off Deficit and to Raise $5,400,000.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

A political battle royal was caused by prohibition at yesterday's meeting of the Democratic national committee, one that split the party ticket of 1928 and one that promises to go many more rounds before there is a decision.

The fight, precipitated by Chairman John J. Raskob when he recommended a constitutional amendment that would allow each State to decide whether it should be wet or dry, found two old friends, two old running mates, "Joe" and "Al," arrayed against each other.

Senator Joseph E. Robinson, of Arkansas, Democracy's Vice Presidential nominee in 1928, denounced Chairman Raskob. By his recommendation, he said, Raskob had precipitated a "crisis" that would divide the party, and had rendered assistance to Herbert Hoover and the Republican party.

Smith Defends Raskob.

Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, the party's presidential nominee in 1928, went to the defense of Raskob and took a verbal crack at Senator Robinson. He was obviously angry.

"If there is anything that could give more comfort to President Hoover than the senator's speech," Smith said, "I don't know what it is."

In the end there was something resembling harmony, but it was not very convincing harmony. The committee adopted a motion to thank Chairman Raskob and other officers of the national committee for the work they have done in the last two years or so. There was only one dissenting vote, that of Senator Cameron Morrison, of North Carolina.

Morrison Booed and Hissed.

Senator Morrison, by the way, precipitated hisses and cat calls when he was making an anti-Raskob speech. So upset did he become that he called upon the sergeant at arms to oust the trouble makers.

Red-faced, Chairman Raskob sat through what one committeeman called the "riot" without losing his self-possession.

At the end, he called attention to a fact that was not generally known by those present—that the manuel for the conduct of the committee authorized the committee to make recommendations to the national convention.

Also he had the satisfaction of knowing that at least one Southern dry—Watt Brown, committeeman from Alabama—had lost his nerve. Brown had threatened to introduce a resolution calling for Raskob's resignation, but in the end he backed down.

Sought No Immediate Action.

Chairman Raskob obviously was surprised that his speech, or, as the Southern Democrats called it, his "platform," should cause such a ferment. At the outset, he explained that he did not expect any immediate action on it.

In fact, he specifically asked that nobody suggest any immediate action on it. He wanted the members of the committee to take it home, he said, browse over it, consider the public reaction to it, and then come to the next committee meeting, late this year or early next year, prepared to decide whether or not to pass on the recommendations contained therein to the next national convention.

One of the principal purposes of the meeting—the paying off of the $800,000 deficit and the raising of $5,400,000 to fight future battles—was almost forgotten. In the end, however, the plan suggested by Chairman Raskob was adopted.

Long Fight Is Launched.

The final impression that the observers got at yesterday's meeting, however, was that the Democratic party has a fight on its hands that will not end until the next national convention, and perhaps not even then.

RASKOB'S RUM PLAN PRAISED AND FLAYED

Opposite Sides of Prohibition Question Express Views; Governors Talk.

(Associated Press.)

Quick praise and blame came from opposite sides of the prohibition fence yesterday in answer to the State liquor control plan proposed by Chairman Raskob, of the Democratic national committee.

Praise came in a statement from Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, a denunciation was issued by Dr. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, head of the National Temperance Bureau.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Curran, "that the drys who are honest with themselves will have to scratch around a bit to find a reason for opposing the home rule plan. I don't see what they could lose by this plan.

"They would keep all they now have. They would even get a little more, because Woodcock (the prohibition director) could get busy enforcing prohibition in the States where the drys are in the majority, instead of going off in a wild-goose chase in States where the people don't want

TRIO VISITING HOME OF BISCHOFF NABBED

Audubon, N. J., March 5 (U.P.).—A mysterious visit to the funeral parlors of Frank Foster—where little Benita Bischoff lies in the peaceful death she sought—by three men, presumably from New York, resulted tonight in their arrest.

The police refused to reveal information concerning the arrests, the charges against the men or the nature of their interest in the tragedy that has shaken the citizens of Audubon.

The men arrived at the funeral parlors in a limousine bearing a New York license number and driven by a Japanese chauffeur, in livery.

After a futile attempt to see the body of Vivian Gordon's daughter, who killed herself for shame, they went to the home of John E. C. Bischoff, the girl's father. The arrests were made as they arrived at the house.

Adding to other pitiful phases of the 16-year-old girl's tragedy of scornful companions who, she thought, were pointing the finger of shame at her following revelations of her mother's strange life in New York, it was revealed tonight that her "boy friend," Herbert Trout—to whom she willed her possessions—is married.

Trout, 23, is an expert skater. At the rink with him, on the evening

Hoover Starts South Tomorrow to See Son

(United Press.)

President Hoover is planning a trip to Asheville, N. C., to visit his son, Herbert Hoover, jr., and probably will leave for the South Saturday night, it was announced at the White House last night.

The tentative arrangement is for Mr. Hoover to spend Sunday with his son and return to Washington Monday.

Young Hoover has been ill for several months but is now improving. The President has not seen him since last fall.

5 GOVERNORS SEEK OIL IMPORT BAN

Wilbur Says Standard Oil of Indiana Only Firm Remaining Aloof.

(Associated Press.)

The administration has thrown its weight behind efforts to harmonize oil imports with domestic production.

President Hoover informed the governors of five oil States yesterday that Secretary Lamont was seeking an agreement for big importers to cut down the inflow to aid domestic producers.

Announcement of action by the administration came after a futile campaign by producers to gain virtually the same end through legislation.

Chairman Wilbur, of the Oil Conservation Board, made the President's message public after independent producers had appealed to him by telephone to call a conference to solve the problems.

President Hoover's message was sent to the Governors of Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and California, who telegraphed to him urging a conference.

The reply, Secretary Wilbur said, indicated this method would be followed rather than a conference at this time.

Wilbur explained that Lamont had been conferring for several days with importing companies.

"The Gulf Company and the Standard Oil of New Jersey have already decided to go as far as they can in assisting our own producers," Wilbur said.

"Other companies seem willing to agree, with exception of the Standard of Indiana, which for some reason has not yet expressed a willingness to meet the situation."

He declined to name any other companies.

Texas Governor Flays Drastic Oil Price Cut

Austin, Tex., March 5 (A.P.).—Gov. Ross S. Sterling today telegraphed President Hoover and John D. Rockefeller, jr., protesting against "the drastic" crude oil price cut of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

Gov. Sterling said he feared the price cut would upset the entire oil conservation program and defeat all efforts to save from ruin the oil industry.

DEPOSED PRESIDENT RESTORED IN PERU

Lima, Peru, March 5 (A.P.).—Lieut. Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro returned to the government house tonight after troops loyal to him deposed a military junta that forced Sanchez Cerro out of office Sunday.

Apparently all troops in the Lima garrison supported this coup by Lieut. Col. Gustavo Jimenez, a loyal follower of Sanchez Cerro. Jimenez returned today with a division of troops which started southward last week to crush a rebellion at Arequipa, but were held back after the navy forced Sanchez Cerro out.

Jimenez and his men landed at Callao this morning from the steamers Rimac and Apurimac, and marched to the capital by the highroad connecting the two cities.

At first there was no sign that a coup impended, but when the troops reached their barracks in Lima they began to occupy strategic points, and at 7:10 p. m. Jimenez took over the government house, forcing out the three-man junta which had ruled only five days.

Events have moved swiftly in Peru since February 20. On that day troops

FREEDOM FOR INDIA LOOMS, SAYS GANDHI

Mahatma Serves Notice He Will Fight for Full Independence.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

New Delhi, India, March 5 (A.P.).—While he sipped hot goat's milk from a battered can brought from his recent prison, Mahatma Gandhi gave a notable interview today, based on the results of his agreement with Lord Irwin.

He admitted that the settlement had given much to Nationalists, but served notice anew on Britain that complete independence is the goal of India.

"That is the birthright of India, as it is of every nation worthy of the name," he said.

"If the All-India Congress has shown a readiness to participate in the second round table conference, it is because it seeks to make federation an Indian responsibility, with such safeguards and reservations as will promote the real growth of the country along political, social, economic and moral lines.

"If the congress succeeds in making its position acceptable to the conference, then I claim the fruits of that effort will complete independence, but I know the way to that goal is weary and there are many rocks and pitfalls. But if the congressmen undertake with confidence and courage the new tasks to which they have been assigned I have no misgivings about the result."

The Mahatma appealed for aid from the princes of native Indian states and from moderate Indian political groups, Englishmen generally, the United States and other countries which value liberty.

"The Indian princes' acceptance of the idea of federation was certainly a surprise for me but if they will become equal partners in a federal India I venture to suggest that of their

Capone Slaying Seen If Big Bill Is Defeated

Chicago Bets 6-1 Cermak Will Be Elected Mayor; Gang War Predicted.

Chicago, March 5 (U.P.).—Chicago's mayoralty election still is a month away, but politicians, ganaters and police already have begun to worry about what may be momentous after effects on the voting.

The latter include confident predictions of the murder of "Scarface Al" Capone, either the slaying or the jailing of most of his followers and likely as not the setting up of two or three rival beer barons to take his place.

The predictions are all based on the 6-to-1 betting that Anton J. Cermak, Democrat, will beat Mayor William Hale Thompson, Republican, who is running for reelection on April 7.

Mr. Cermak, immigrant from Bohemia, who rose to power and riches as a Cook County politician, is expected to shear away all of Capone's power, political and otherwise, if elected.

Police will be instructed, said Mr. Cermak, to arrest all Capone vice, gambling and liquor workers on sight, while the City Hall will be swept clean of all politicians favorable to Thompson and the somewhat indefinite political phrase, "Thompsonism."

Under the Thompson regime, Capone and the men believed to be his "higher-ups" have ruled Chicago's underworld with a spiked club. Death has been the penalty for those who have attempted to "muscle in" on the Capone "beer racket."

Should Mr. Cermak be elected and carry out his promised war against the Capone forces, the United Press was informed tonight, "Scarface Al's" billion-dollar extra legal business will be swarmed over by scores of plug-uglies who have been waiting years for just such an opportunity.

The minor racketeers, all hoping to become "big shots," will kill Capone the first opportunity they get, the information added, and then will settle down to killing each other for the

Fleeing Bandits Leave Trail Of Kidnapings and Gunfire

Authorities and Posses Alert in Florida, Georgia and Alabama for Robber Pair, Accompanied by Two Women, in Wild Flight.

Chipley, Fla., March 5 (A.P.).—Northwestern Florida and southeastern Alabama were on the alert tonight as search went forward for two bandits and their women companions who left a trail of shootings, kidnapings and hold-ups across the State today.

The robbers have wounded four men, kidnaped two, who later managed to escape, and held up several motorists, changing from car to car throughout the day.

Tonight they were reported heading toward Pensacola or Panama City or, possibly, into Alabama, and authorities massed posse men at strategic points along all highways.

The shooting started last night in Jacksonville, when two officers recognized an Oklahoma license tag as belonging to a car used in a hold-up. Officer Wilbur Rimmel was shot seriously and Patrolman H. V. Branch clubbed. The bandits sped westward, abandoning their car at Lake City.

Early this morning they reappeared at Wellborn, 20 miles west of Lake City, and, on the pretext of getting aid for a disabled car, seized a garage truck and compelled two garage men to accompany them to Chipley, farther west.

Nearing Chipley, they encountered a posse and in the exchange of shots Gillis Malley, possemen, was critically wounded and B. J. Brock, chief deputy sheriff, slightly shot. Both

Ultra-Liberal Proponent Is Now in House of Lords

Bertrand Russell, Philosopher, Pacifist and Mathematician, Finds Self Member of Parliament as Titled Brother Dies.

London, March 5 (A.P.).—Frequently in his many-sided career Bertrand Russell, raising the banner of an ultraliberal cause, has striven in vain for a seat in Parliament.

Today the widely renowned philosopher, mathematician, pacifist and proponent of companionate marriage found himself a member of the House of Lords as the third Earl of Russell, successor to the title of his brother, John Francis Russell, who died at Marseilles last night.

The new earl's accession brings to the peerage one of the great intellectuals of his time, with an experience as stormy as it is diverse.

When only a dozen men understood the Einstein theory of relativity Bertrand Russell ranked well toward the top of the twelve. He wrote a book in 1925 explaining the theory.

When Judge Ben Lindsey, of Denver, Colo., advocated a period of trial marriage for young people he found Russell one of his earliest and most vociferous champions.

When Britain was at war with Germany Russell pamphleteered against British treatment of conscientious objectors and paid a fine for it, and when the American army poured in France in the winter of 1917-18 Russell was sentenced to six months in prison for averring that whatever merits the Yanks might have as fighting men, they probably would

Calvin Coolidge Says:

The Senate has resolved that the executive department of the Government should take no action concerning making foreign loans by the people of this country. Early in the Harding administration when credit was scarce and interest high, foreigners were borrowing our capital. There was nothing to prevent their getting it even to use in hindering our own efforts for domestic or international welfare. Hence the suggestion, adopted after conference with banking interests, that the State Department be consulted before consummating such loans. Such a policy is pursued by some if not all foreign governments.

While there is much to be said for permitting our people to do what they want with their own money yet it seems clear that there should be some harmony of policy between the great power of finance and our international relations. No new responsibility is undertaken by the State Department in stating its position concerning a loan. It does not assume the credit of the borrower is good or bad nor imply any additional burden to our Government if the loan is not paid. It does assume that our financial power shall be conserved for our own people and shall cooperate with our diplomatic power.

NEWS of SUBURBAN Washington and the Surrounding States

Appears on Pages 5 and 20 Today

The casus belli, of course, is prohibition. Really, Republican spies would have been very much pleased.

The plan that Chairman Raskob offered yesterday is in a way somewhat like the Anderson plan, except that it would leave the eighteenth amendment just as it is, and add another amendment which would allow the various States to do as they would about prohibition—leave the dry States to stay dry and the wet States to go wet. Meanwhile, the eighteenth amendment would be on the books and the Federal Government would be pledged to help the dry States to fight bootlegging.

Raskob Gets Faint Applause.

That there was going to be opposition to Chairman Raskob's prohibition plan was evident from the outset. When Raskob said that copies of his speech could be obtained at the platform, Senator Thaddeus Caraway, of Arkansas, began to mutter.

"Nobody is asking for them," he said, disgustedly.

Raskob's speech, or platform, which called for a five-day week, a liberalization of the antitrust laws, and the creation of a nonpartisan tariff commission, was greeted with what, to say the least, was faint applause.

Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, although he later shook hands with Chairman Raskob, kept his arms folded and remained silent. So, too, did former Gov. Harry Byrd, of Virginia, the only man who knew exactly what Raskob was going to talk about; Senator Swanson, of Virginia; Senator-elect Hull, of Tennessee; Senator-elect Costigan, of Colorado; Senator Caraway, and various other Southern politicians.

Shouse and Michelson Talk.

Jouett Shouse, the chairman of the executive committee, and the man who, together with Charlie Michelson, the publicity director, had really done the work at committee headquarters, took the rostrum to explain that Chairman Raskob was not trying to fix the party's policies.

What Raskob had said merely represented his views, Shouse said, adding that there was no attempt to usurp the powers of the national convention, which fixes the party's policies.

"That's common sense," muttered Senator Caraway.

There was no thought of any action being taken on the Raskob recommendations, Shouse said, until the committee met again to take up, among other things, the selection of a site for the 1932 convention. And in that connection, it might be said that San Francisco and Chicago are already out for it.

Mrs. Ross Makes Speech.

Just before Shouse started there were cries of "We want Al!" But "Al" was not to appear for some time.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, at one time Governor of Wyoming, and now in charge of the Democratic drive for women votes, was the next speaker, but she did not make the vigorous assault on prohibition that she was expected to make.

Senator-elect Hull was the next speaker. He appealed for harmony, saying that prohibition was not really a political issue.

Then came Senator Robinson.

"A crisis has been precipitated in the Democratic party," he said, referring to the prohibition recommendation of Chairman Raskob.

"I would be lacking in frankness," Senator Robinson said, "if I refrained from saying that this crisis has been needlessly precipitated.

Democrats Strongest Now.

"In all the history of our party there has never been a time when it occupied a stronger position in the hearts of the masses than at the present time, when this committee is assembled here.

"Somebody has said that Herbert Hoover has rendered more assistance to the Democratic party than any other human agency. And now I fear that our beloved chairman (Raskob) has paid him back in full, and rendered assistance to the Republican party."

For a member of the national committee, Senator Robinson said, to try to instruct the national convention was to invite dissension and discord.

"You can not write on the banner of the Democratic party a skull and crossbones, the symbol of an outlawed trade," he said, "and expect all Democrats to accept it without resistance."

Senator Robinson said he "repudiated" the effort of Chairman Raskob to submerge all other issues under the prohibition issue, even though he "loved" Raskob.

Feminine Voice Favors Repeal.

"Do you believe that if we ran up the flag of repeal," he asked, "that the women of the country would rally to the Democratic party?"

"Yes," a feminine voice in the audience shouted.

Evidently it was Representative Mary Norton, of New Jersey, for a moment later she was up on the platform verbally chastising Senator Robinson. This was significant because she was the person who seconded his nomination at Houston.

Representative Norton said she was amazed at Senator Robinson's "political speech." It was Senator Robinson, not Chairman Raskob, who had stirred up the trouble at the meeting, she said.

Claims Women for Repeal.

Answering Senator Robinson's question as to what the women voters would do if the Democratic party ran up the wet banner, Mrs. Norton replied that the women she knew would flock to such a banner.

"The womanhood of America," she said, "will be the strongest factor in bringing about repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

The women of the country, she said, know better than anybody else what prohibition has done to the morals of the young people.

Senator Morrison, that bold senator from North Carolina, who does not believe in serving an apprenticeship before he starts speaking, followed Mrs. Norton. He described Chairman Raskob's proposals as "audacious."

Declares Proposal Unfair.

He said Chairman Raskob's proposal to have the committee make recommendations was "unprecedented, unfair and unwarranted."

"Hurrah!" a woman yelled.

"What have you got in your locker?" a wet shouted.

"It's fellows like you that defeat the Democratic party," Senator Morrison retorted.

The noise became so great at this point that Morrison asked that the sergeant-at-arms clear the hall of the noise-makers.

Somebody protested.

"You want to stifle the debate," Morrison screamed.

Committeeman Quinn, of Rhode Island, answers to this.

"No," he said, "I want to stifle the riot."

Al Smith Airs Views.

At this point, M. H. Hughes, of Texas, asked for a speech by America's outstanding Democrat—Al Smith."

Former Gov. Smith's smile seemed to break the ice that had formed.

"I gota brand new conception of democracy today," he said, and the crowd roared.

"But" continued the last nominee, "I had a different idea of Jeffersonian Democracy."

Gov. Smith said it was his understanding that a Democrat could attend any Democratic gathering and speak his mind "without being jumped on."

The reason that Mr. Raskob had been jumped on, he surmised, was because the legislators had been up late the last few nights.

Takes Robinson to Task.

Obviously, he said, some of the legislators (Robinson apparently being his target) had read the Republican press, and had prepared their speeches in advance.

"All this talk about influencing the convention," Smith said, "is the bunk."

Former Gov. Smith said that he was sorry that his old "sparring partner"—Senator Robinson—had taken Raskob's speech wrong—that he had interpreted it to be a dictatorial speech rather than something just to be thought over.

Then he made the statement that Robinson's speech had done more harm to the party than that of Raskob.

Cox Rallies to Raskob.

Former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, who was the party's nominee in 1920, praised Smith and Raskob and appealed for a united Democratic party.

Raskob, he said, should be given credit for having the courage to speak his convictions.

Once Cox had concluded, Chairman Raskob again took the rostrum. He read the manual of the committee and—evidently for the benefit of Senators Robinson and Morrison—he pointed out that, while the national convention alone could decide party policies, the national committee was authorized to make recommendations to the convention. Nobody, it was noticed, disputed this point.

Miss Nancy Bell Brown to Wed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5 (A.P.).—Mr. and Mrs. Norman F. Brown, of Pittsburgh and St. Petersburg, announced that their daughter, Miss Nancy Bell Brown, will be married today to Thomas Diehl, son of Ambrose N. Diehl, vice president of the Carnegie Steel Co., of New York and Pittsburgh.

Text of "Home Rule Plan" As Proposed by Raskob

Following is the statement on prohibition made by Chairman Raskob to the Democratic national committee:

This problem will undoubtedly be one of the outstanding issues in the next campaign and my recommendation is that the eighteenth amendment be not repealed but that the Democratic party advocate a new amendment which will provide that nothing in the eighteenth amendment shall prevent any State from directing and controlling absolutely, without interference by the Federal Government, the manufacture, transportation and sale of intoxicating liquors within its own borders, provided that the plan under which it proposes to do this shall first have been submitted to the people of that State and approved by a majority of them in a State-wide referendum; and provided further, that this new amendment to the Constitution shall not be effective unless and until it is ratified, not by the legislatures of three-fourths of the States but by conventions of the people in three-fourths of the States.

In order to make sure that there is no misunderstanding, let me again state this recommendation.

It is that this committee suggest and advise that the platform adopted by the next national convention shall contain a plank pledging the Democratic party to retain the present eighteenth amendment and advocating a new amendment which shall not be a part of the Constitution unless and until ratified by conventions of the people in three-fourths of the States and which amendment will provide that any State may thereafter direct and control absolutely the manufacture, transportation and sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes within that State, provided the plan under which that State is to do this is first approved by the people of that State in a State-wide referendum.

This plan prevents the return of the saloon.

Under this plan, if the State of New York worked out a liquor control plan similar to the Swedish system and that plan was submitted to and approved by a referendum of the people of the State of New York, then New York State would handle its own liquor problem, but the eighteenth amendment still would be in full force and effect with respect to the other forty-seven States. If later, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts adopted a different plan of liquor control, which was approved by its people, thereafter that Commonwealth would be handling its own liquor problem.

It is felt by many of our people that our Southern States desire to remain dry. Under the plan I propose even if all of the States except the Southern States and a few others should, in the course of ten or fifteen years, adopt different schemes of liquor control, these States could still remain dry and would have the full cooperation and help of the Federal Government in patroling their water boundaries and assisting them in protecting their land boundaries and thus having their sovereignty respected as guaranteed under the Constitution. This plan squares absolutely with the Jeffersonian principles of State's rights and as previously stated, another strong factor in its favor is that it guarantees that the saloon can not return, for the reason that it will be impossible to induce a majority of the people in any State to vote in favor of a liquor control plan for their State that permits the return of the saloon.

To me, it seems impossible to call ourselves Democrats and lovers of liberty, and yet be unwilling to extend to the people of these United States the opportunity to vote on this proposed new amendment and to abide by the decision if a majority of the people in 36 out of our 48 States should vote in favor of it. We can not honestly and conscientiously call ourselves a Democratic party or a liberal party in one breath and deny the people this right in the next, and it is for this reason that I make this recommendation for your consideration.

There is great confusion whenever the liquor question is discussed because the terms "wet" and "dry" are never defined. In order that the Democratic party will not be called "wet" or "dry," should like to christen this plan as the "home rule plan," because it is neither a wet nor a dry plan, but a plan under which the people of this country, through their respective States, may exercise for themselves the right of self-determination.

COMMENTS ATTACK AND LAUD RUM PLAN

Raskob's State Option View Brings Expressions From Various Leaders.

prohibition. * * * Just what is there left for the drys to kick about?"

Dr. Dinwiddie had this to say:

"The plan of Mr. Raskob must be opposed by any honest friend of the eighteenth amendment because it is subversive of that amendment. That amendment was adopted because the liquor question is national in scope and recognizes no State boundaries and it would be a grave mistake to try to deal with it on a State basis. Furthermore, national prohibition is entitled to a fair trial. This it has never had, because the foes of prohibition began their campaign to discredit it immediately after its adoption."

Governors of the 48 States were unwilling for the most part last night to pass an opinion upon the State liquor control plan of Chairman Raskob of the Democratic national committee.

Gov. L. G. Hardman of Georgia remarked that "we have laws against murder and they are violated. The only way to stop the violation of laws is to stop making laws."

Gov. Roosevelt of New York, whose name has been mentioned frequently as a possible Democratic presidential nominee in 1932, and Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania, an outstanding Republican dry, were among those who declined to comment.

Gov. C. Douglass Buck, Republican, of Delaware, said he would wait until he had a chance to study the Raskob proposal.

"I do however, place great importance in State rights," he added.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, also spoken of in connection with the 1932 Democratic presidential nomination, had nothing to say. He has long advocated return to the States of the liquor control system.

Pollard Hits Raskob.

At Richmond, Va., however, Gov. Pollard, a Democrat and a dry, expressed the opinion that "Mr. Raskob does not seem to know what the national committee is for."

"Mr. Raskob, in his wet zeal, has violated all precedent and has given aid and comfort to the enemy," Gov. Pollard said.

Gov. Joseph B. Ely (Democrat), of Massachusetts, saw in the Raskob plan a similarity to his own suggestion of several months ago. Gov. Ely favors giving the States the right to regulate the manufacture and sale of liquor for beverage purposes.

Gov. Charles W. Bryan (Democrat), of Nebraska, brother of the late William Jennings Bryan, said the Raskob proposal would not find support in two-thirds of the States.

No comment was forthcoming from members of the Wickersham committee.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis (Democrat), of Illinois, suggested that there is no need of any amendment to the eighteenth amendment such as Mr. Raskob suggested.

"The second section of the amendment, written by me when I was in the Senate before, obviates the necessity for further amendment," he said.

Kansas Governor Opposed.

Gov. Harry H. Woodring, Kansas Democrat, said "Kansas is dry and will remain so and is against any declaration for the weakening of the prohibitory principle."

Gov. Arthur Seligman (Democrat), New Mexico, last night said he believed "any attempt of the national committee to commit the Democratic party on prohibition would be unwise and contrary to party principles."

In Montana, Gov. J. E. Erickson, Democrat, said the State control of liquor plan advocated by John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, seemingly would lead to "48 different prohibition laws, or 48 'noble experiments' instead of one."

Gov. William H. Murray, of Oklahoma, a Democrat, said he was opposed to "making either side" of the prohibition question "an issue in the next campaign." Gov. Murray also would oppose a prohibition issue in the campaign, he said, because "it but disturbs the public mind which is seeking light for solution of our economic difficulties."

Favors Morrow Plan.

Gov. Morgan F. Larson, of New Jersey, said he preferred the proposal advanced by Senator Dwight W. Morrow, in commenting on the Raskob proposal.

Senator Morrow urged repeal of the eighteenth amendment return of control to the States and Federal aid to those desiring enforcement. Gov. Larson said the Democrats would have difficulty inducing the South to accept Raskob's plan.

The Arizona governor, George W. P. Hunt, Democrat, said:

"I am against such a plan. I personally am for prohibition, but I believe the eighteenth amendment should be resubmitted to the people. From my observation, the eighteenth amendment has been a failure."

Chairman Raskob's plan for "home rule" on the liquor problem brought this comment from Democratic Gov. Henry H. Horton, of Tennessee:

"I would be unalterably opposed to that kind of a program. The question of dealing with the liquor problem has been settled by constitutional amendment. The only way to handle the problem is by and through the Federal Government."

Gov. George White (Democrat), of Ohio declined to express his views on the Raskob prohibition proposal, contending that he is too busy with State affairs.

"Not having seen the text of the Raskob proposal, I am not disposed to pass judgment on it."

POLICEMAN IS SUING RASKOB FOR $50,600

Democratic Chief Is Served With Writ in Action Based on Auto Collision.

His role as chairman of the Democratic national committee in its all-day deliberations yesterday at the Mayflower Hotel, offered John J. Raskob no immunity from a hasty call to the lobby where to his surprise deputy marshals served him with notice of a $0,000 suit filed against him.

The legal action, taken in the District Supreme Court, was brought by David Robert Freeling, attached to the Capitol police, of 338 Maryland avenue nortseast, suing for damages which he claims were received Sunday afternoon in a collision between the machine he was driving and an automobile owned by Mr. Raskob, on Dead Man's Hill, at Elk Ridge, on the Baltimore boulevard.

Mr. Raskob later explained that he had been advised of the accident, which occurred while one of his machines, driven by a chauffeur, Larry Cunningham, was proceeding to Baltimore, returning his son, Robert Raskob, and a fellow student, to McDonough School there after the weekend in Washington. Mr. Raskob said Cunningham, now in New York City, told him that the collision happened during a heavy downpour.

Mr. Freeling, pointing out that he was returning to Washington, claimed that he received numerous injuries which will permanently incapacitate him. He listed a fractured wrist, fractured knee cap, dislocated right foot, various contusions, lacerations and bruises over the entire body, severe shock to the nervous system, great bodily pain and mental anguish. He said he had been incapacitated since the crash.

He asked $50,000 and court costs for the injuries he said he received, and $600 in full payment for his automobile, which he claimed was "totally demolished."

Mr. Freeling contended in his action that the Raskob car was operated recklessly and at a rapid and dangerous speed.

Exclusive of the court action, he said that the loss of two teeth and a broken jaw bone was suffered by his companion in the car, Miss Hazel Miller, of T street northwest near Seventeenth street. He said he was brought by a passing motorist to Sibley Hospital and treated. He identified himself as the son of the chairman of the Republican city committee in Fall River, Mass. He is 28 years old.

KELLEHER IS FREED; TO START LIFE ANEW

Former Real Estate Man to Return to Work Without Grudge for Anyone.

John B. Kelleher, "unlicked," walked from the District Jail a free man at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and immediately started plans for a return to the real estate business and to begin a fight for position, lost when he was sentenced to eight years on a gambling charge.

His two attorneys, Howard F. Ralph and Joseph A. Cantrel, met the former well-to-do real estate man when the jail doors swung outward for him yesterday morning. They had obtained a parole for their client after he had served 21 months of an eight-year sentence.

"Mr. Kelleher is not licked, and he is going back into the real estate business. He holds no grudge against anyone," Mr. Ralph said last night. Kelleher himself could not be reached for a statement.

Mr. Ralph said his client would begin business at once, making his headquarters in an apartment building he owns at Fourteenth street near Thimas Circle.

Col. William Peak, in charge of the District Jail, said that Kelleher had made a model prisoner. During his time there he never missed one day from work.

While there Kelleher became interested and then enthusiastic about the subject of fingerprints and the science of identification. When he was released he had charge of the fingerprint work and classifying the identification marks of prisoners.

For the last two months as it became evident that his application for parole would meet with favor, he spent most of his time training a successor in the art of finger printing and identification.

MRS. D. T. GRADY IS DEAD.

Resident of City for 40 Years Will Be Buried Tomorrow.

Mrs. Ellen M. Grady, 60, wife of Daniel T. Grady, of 1256 Holbrook terrace northeast, died after a three months' illness yesterday at Providence Hospital.

She had been a resident of Washington for about 40 years, coming here from nearby Virginia, and was active in the Mothers of Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies' Auxiliary, District Fire Department.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three sons, Daniel W. Grady, David P. Grady and Bernard J. Grady, and a daughter, Mrs. George Grant, all of Washington.

Funeral services will be held at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at Holy Name Church, followed by interment in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Picture Will Contrast Jazz and Native Music

A talking picture of Zulu tribes, in which points of similarity between their native music and American jazz may be clearly noted, will feature the illustrated lecture by Capt. Carl von Hoffman, before members of the National Geographic Society in the Washington Auditorium this evening.

Capt. von Hoffman's lecture is called "Zulu Rites," and by slides and motion pictures he will show many native customs, such as weddings, burials, dances, &c., which have never before been depicted in this country. Lions, elephants, zebras, giraffes and numerous other spices of the dark continent's animal life, now protected in government reservations and hunted only with a camera, are included in pictures.

Child, 4, Alarms Parents By Brief Disappearance

When 4-year-old Theresa Huppman had not returned to her home at 429 Delafield place northwest several hours after she told her mother she was going out to look for a playmate yesterday, Mrs. Carl Huppman notified police.

A miniature searching party was recruited in the neighborhood and the hunt was on. The mystery was solved when the trail led to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Donald H. Glew, at 417 Delafield place. There was Theresa, playing circus with Billy Glew, who can do a dandy somersault for his 5 years. Mr. Huppman is an engineer for the District.

Drought Loan Groups Are Named for States

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Hyde yesterday announced appointment of State advisory committees to pass on loans from the $20,000,000 supplemental drought relief appropriation.

These committees are charged with investigation of the organization of new agricultural credit corporations or live stock loan associations and will perform a similar service when existing companies of that kind apply for funds to increase their capital stock.

$500,000,000 Deficit Predicted by Smoot

(Associated Press.)

A Treasury deficit of $500,000,000 at the end of the fiscal year in June was predicted yesterday by Chairman Smoot, of the Senate finance committee, but he said he believed improved conditions by next year would remove the necessity of a tax increase.

Improved business conditions, he said, will result in greater revenues from income taxation.

Navy Must Get Back Piano That Tars Took

(Associated Press).

When Mrs. C. J. Wright, 2220 Bagby street, Houston, Tex., went to California, last fall she rented her home, including the player piano.

The flagship Houston of the Asiatic Fleet visited her namesake port and two daughters of the renter, Mrs. Wright says, introduced a group of salors to the piano.

The instrument made such good music the boys simply couldn't leave so when the Houston sailed for China the piano went along.

Now Mrs. Wright is demanding her piano and it is up to assistant Secretary Jahncke, of the Navy, to get it. But he dosen't know just how he's going to do it unless he sends another ship to China.

"And," mused Mr. Jahncke as he read Mrs. Wright's letter, "I wonder if it won't turn out Chinese music when we get it back home?"

Philadelphia Man's Bequest Provides for Payment of Annual Fund.

Philadelphia, March 5 (A.P.).—An annuity of $12,000 to supply "pin money" for the "First Lady of the Land" was provided in the will of Henry G. Freeman, jr., owner of a large parcel of Philadelphia real estate, who died in October, 1917.

This was revealed today when the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Co., executors and trustees, began an accounting because of the death of a son, William McLain Freeman, survivor of two children, who were life tenants of the residue of Henry Freeman's $2,000,000 estate.

The annuity to the "First Lady" is to be known as the "Henry Freeman, jr., pin money fund" and "shall continue in force so long as this glorious Government lasts," the will provides.

(Associated Press.)

The White House has not been notified of the Freeman pin money bequest. It was said there no law exists to prevent the First Lady from accepting such a bequest, if she so chooses.

Palm Tuft Hurts Six Worshippers

Confusion Follows Incident at Celebration in San Antonio.

San Antonio, Tex., March 5 (A.P.).—Six persons were injured when a topmost tuft of a swaying palm tree fell into the midst of 15,000 kneeling worshipers at a military pontifical mass on military plaza to the rear of San Fernando Cathedral today.

The mass was a part of the celebration marking the 200th anniversary of the founding of San Antonio. Patrick Cardinal Hayes, of New York, took part in the mass.

Hundreds of persons near the tree became frightened and confused, but the mass went on uninterrupted. Firemen removed the injured, none of whom was seriously hurt.

Steuart Auto Concern To Erect New Building

To meet the demand of increased business and centralize its activities, L. P. Steuart, Inc., Oakland-Pontiac distributors, will construct a modern three-story brick and concrete building at 1436-1446 P Street northwest, to house its general offices, salesrooms and service department.

Razing of buildings on this site for the new structure will start probably April 1, according to announcement yesterday by H. D Shipley, vice president of the corporation. E. Denton is the architect of the building, which will have a cubic content of 580,000 feet. Its estimated cost is given as $115,000.

President Will Speak On Pan-American Day

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover will make a short address at the Pan-American Union April 14 as part of the celebration of Pan-American Day.

On May 26 last year the President issued a proclamation designating April 14 as Pan-American Day. The meeting of the Pan-American Union will be part of the observance of the day.

The speech will be in the nature of a welcome to the representatives of Pan-American nations who will be present here for the celebration.

Senator Fess to Talk To National Sojurners

Maj. Louis E. Boutwell will fly down from Boston to express greetings of Mayor Curley and extend the city's invitation to the group to hold its eleventh annual convention in Boston, June 11-14.

THREE STATES ALERT FOR FLEEING THUGS

men were taken to a hospital at Dothan, Ala.

Abandoning the truck, the quartet escaped in a hail of bullets, halted a motorist, seized his car and proceeded east. Seven miles away from the scene of the shooting they stopped another motorist and changed cars.

Late reports on the robbers were conflicting. One report said they proceeded to Cottondale and turned south toward Panama City. Another report was that they were nearing Pensacola, where a posse lay in wait. Officers in southern Georgia and Alabama were alert and radio broadcasts were requests from Jacksonville, Pensacola and Montgomery.

Dave McDonald, the Wellborn garage man, said he was positive that one of the women was wounded when the party appeared at his garage.

Blood found on the truck abandoned at Chipley indicated some of the four had been wounded.

Police declined to discuss identity of the suspects.

WAGNER ADVANCE PLAN PROGRESSING

18 Governors Imply Favor of Senator's Program to Stabilize Business.

(Associated Press.)

Definite progress in his efforts to have States enact legislation looking toward advance planning of public works to stabilize business was announced yesterday by Senator Wagner.

The New York Democrat, whose proposal for similar action by the national Government was enacted recently, said he had written the governors of all the States concerning State action and that the responses thus far received were decidedly encouraging.

Out of 28 replies received to date, Wagner said, 18 indicated such interest and approval of the plan that State action upon it was expected.

In nine of these the proposal already had been referred to legislative committees and special commissions, with a view to drafting appropriate legislation.

The States, Wagner said, were Virginia, Arkansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Oregon, Pennsylvania and Missouri.

The others announced as favorable were Kansas, Idaho, Maryland, Montana, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Not a single governor expressed opposition to the plan, Wagner said, adding no definite comments were made by the Governors of Alabama, Colorado, Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Kentucky, Nebraska, Ohio, Vermont and West Virginia.

"Public construction," Wagner said, "amounts to approximately $3,500,000,000 a year and is more than a third of all construction, public and private. If all such work were planned in advance and concentrated by a planning commission into periods of depression a tremendous factor of stability would be added to the business situation."

RUSH OF PRINTING CUTS OFF HOLIDAYS

five days a month off under the Hall-Long furlough system.

Representatives of the employes had been promised that enactment of a Saturday half-holiday law would absorb two or more days furlough each month, depending on the number of Saturdays in the month.

Work Piles Up.

In addition, Congress, in the second deficiency appropriation bill, authorized the bureau to make for Government departments an extra 1,200,000 sheets of checks, drafts, and similar papers, increasing the authorization from 7,800,000 to 9,000,000 sheets.

Director Hall told the House appropriations committee that he did not want any more money for this extra work because he hoped to "absorb" it.

Congressional approval of the Treasury plan to issue $8,000,000,000 in bonds and certificates of indebtedness to refinance outstanding Government obligations also was expected by employes to add to the work of the bureau and cut down, if not entirely eliminate, lay-offs enforced by Director Hall and Acting Director Long.

Employes Are Startled.

Announcement that the furloughs would be continued without change caused startled surprise among employes. Just how the extra work will be done without a change in the working schedule Mr. Long last night said he was not prepared to say.

He intimated that it probably could be done by forcing employes to do more work in the same time, but said that the question was up to the Treasury, and Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills had not informed the bureau of just what would be needed to carry out the refinancing plan, Mr. Long said.

Asked why the Saturday half-holiday law would not be be followed for bureau employes, Mr. Long explained that, although Congress enacted the law it did not provide any additional money for the bureau, and a deficit could not be created.

Treasury Offerings Are Oversubscribed

(United Press.)

Treasury Secretary Andrew W. Mellon announced yesterday that the recent offering of $1,400,000,000 bonds and short-term notes by the Government were heavily oversubscribed and that the books were closed as of the close of business March 3. Requirements for the payment of veterans' loans were responsible for $400,000,000 of the new financing.

The $500,000,000 offer of 3½ per cent 12-year bonds was oversubscribed more than four times. Subscriptions for this issue totaled $2,111,000,000. Subscriptions to the $900,000,000 6 and 9 month short-term notes amounted to $1,823,000,000.

De Martino Affair Is at End, Says Stimson

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Stimson, in a letter to Dr. Charles Fama, New York anti-Fascist leader, has closed so far as the State Department is concerned the recent agitation directed against Ambassador De Martino of Italy.

After the Secretary had declined to receive a group of Italian-Americans desiring a public hearing on charges against the ambassador, who is a Fascist, they forwarded to President Hoover, through Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, a letter on the subject. Secretary Stimson declined to comment on this letter.

Representative Stalker Escapes Hurts in Crash

Representative Gale H. Stalker, of New York, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday when an automobile driven by him crashed into a farm truck at Gaithersburg, Md., on the Frederick pike.

According to police, the truck, driven by Russell Allnutt, Gaithersburg farmer, backed into the path of the congressman's car. Representative Stalker's automobile was badly damaged. The two drivers settled the accident without recourse to County Policeman Harry Merson, of the Rockville Police headquarters, who arrived a few minutes after the crash.

MOTOR-BUS LEVY ASKED BY JOHNSON

Public Roads Chief Asserts Vehicles Are Paying High Taxes Now.

(Associated Press).

Regulation of motor buses used in interstate commerce was advocated yesterday by Pyke Johnson, Washington representative of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Representing his organization at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing, Johnson added its members "have not yet seen any facts which indicate" that regulation of trucks is practicable or desirable in the public interest.

"They are emphatically opposed," he asserted, "to any taxation or regulation of any motor vehicle which is undertaken solely for the purpose of equalizing competition."

Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of Bureau of Public Roads, testified that "heavier trucks and buses are now meeting in taxes all the cost of increasing thickness of road surfaces."

Johnson contended motor vehicles are now paying in taxes amounts adequate to pay highway construction.

"Motor vehicle owners now pay annually more than $1,000,000,000 in special taxes alone," he said. "The increase in motor taxes has decreased railroad taxes devoted to State highways until they have become a negligible factor both in their relation to rail taxes as a whole and to the State highway program."

Air Mail Contracts To Go Under Probe

(Associated Press.)

The groundwork for an extensive investigation of ocean and air mail contracts was laid yesterday by the House appropriations committee.

Meeting in executive session, the committee conferred with Assistant Secretary Klein, of the Commerce Department; Assistant Postmaster General Glover, Superintendent Wadsworth, of the Postoffice air mail, and Vice President Jenkins, of the Shipping Board.

The committee asked for a mass of preliminary data pertaining to terms of contracts, the volume of mail and the air and ocean traffic.

Justice Aid's Car Hits Georgia Boy

Federal Attorney Coner Is Exonerated After Accident in South.

Albert H. Conner, former head of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, and now connected as an attorney in the Department of Justice here, was driver of an automobile which struck and critically injured a six-year-old boy in Waycross, Ga., according to AAssociated Press dispatches yesterday.

Mr. Conner took the child, Robert Lee Gooding, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Gooding, of Waycross, to a hospital and was quoted as saying that he would remain in that town pending a change in the boy's condition, which was reported as grave. The boy received a fracture of the skull.

Police said the accident was unavoidable, and no charge was placed agaist Mr. Conner. In relinquishing his position in the Department of Justice as director of the Bureau of Prisons to assume duties as an attorney, he was succeeded by the present bureau head, Sanford Bates.

Philadelphia, Norfolk Get Work on Warships

(Associated Press.)

The Navy Department announced yesterday that the battleship New Mexico will be modernized at the Philadelphia Navy Yard and the Mississippi at the Norfolk Navy Yard.

The ships, on which $30,000,000 will be spent, were ordered to proceed to the yards before April 1.

The battleship Idaho, third of the ships to be modernized under a bill passed by the recent session of Congress, has been ordered to return to San Pedro, Calif., with the battle fleet. It will be used as a gunnery school ship during the summer. The yard at which the Idaho will be modernized has not yet been announced.

CRIME BOARD FUND NEARLY EXHAUSTED

Month's Adjournment Will Leave Many Reports Not Complete.

(Associated Press.)

A month's adjournment was taken yesterday by the Wickersham Commission, despite the possibility voiced by members that it may be moneyless before its gigantic survey of crime is completed.

The $250,000 appropriated the commission by Congress—regardless of whether it is spent—will expire on July 1, necessitating the abandonment of the extensive commission offices.

More than one member said yesterday that unless the work is pushed to the limit it can not be completed by that date. Ten reports have been planned, but none has yet been finally completed.

"We should have six months after July 1 if a finished job is to be done," said Federal Judge William S. Kenyon.

The commission yesterday deliberated upon a report prepared under the direction of Judge Kenyon dealing with "lawlessness among Governmental officials." Both Kenyon and Mackintosh estimated it would probably be two more months before they could be completed. Approval was given yesterday to a report by Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard upon criminal statistics.

Stimson Sees Path Of Peace Cleared

Franco-Italian Pact Viewed as Removing Obstacle for Geneva Parley.

(Associated Press.)

The Franco-Italian naval agreement was viewed yesterday by Secretary Stimson as eliminating a possible obstacle to the success of the world disarmament conference next year at Geneva.

The agreement encourages the United States, he said, to hope there is more prospect of success in that conference.

The text of the agreement was delivered to the State Department yesterday by the British Embassy, but Secretary Stimson said he was not prepared to disclose the details.

The Secretary, in an informal discussion, reiterated a statement made during the London naval conference that disarmament was not a step, but a process, the latest development one more move forward in that process.

Reassignment of Two Admirals Announced

(Associated Press.)

Reassignment of two admirals was announced yesterday by the Navy Department.

Rear Admiral J. M. Reeves, commander of the air force, will be relieved about May 29 by Rear Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, whose title will be commander of air craft of the battle force. He also will have charge of all aircraft of the fleet. The new post of Rear Admiral Reeves is undecided. Capt. Samuel M. Robinson, who has been on duty at the Puget Sound Navy Yard, has been ordered to report in Washington about May 15, as chief of the Bureau of Engineering, succeeding Rear Admiral Yarnell. Capt. Turner F. Caldwell, assistant chief of staff of the scouting fleet, will become captain of the yard at the Charleston, S. C., Navy Yard soon.

BRIDGE DEATH CASE GOES TO JURYMEN

Court Bars Verdict of First-Degree Murder Against Slain Man's Wife.

Kansas City, Mo., March 5 (A.P.).—The jury in the trial of Mrs. Myrtle A. Bennett, charged with the murder of her husband as the result of a bridge game quarrel, received the case at 6:50 o'clock tonight. Beginning of deliberation was ordered by the Court as soon as the jurors returned from dinner.

The case went to the jury after attorneys variously pictured the comely 38-year-old widow as a killer who acted after a card-table argument, and as an unwitting figure in a tragic accident.

First Degree Ruled Out.

In closing argument, James O. Page, county prosecutor, declared John G. Bennett, wealthy perfume salesman, died after evidence showed "the defendant slipping up on him to shoot him in the back."

Previously Judge Ralph S. Latchaw in his instructions ruled a verdict of second degree murder with a minimum sentence of ten years' imprisonment was the most severe penalty possible. The prosecution had charged first degree murder.

"We will punish this woman so other women will not get mad and kill their husbands," the prosecutor declared. Former Senator James A. Reed, defense counsel, objected and the court ordered the jury to disregard the statement.

"The jury will not punish this woman as a lesson to anyone," Judge Latshaw said.

Testimony Is Supported.

J. Francis O'Sullivan, defense attorney, supported Mrs. Bennett's testimony yesterday that her husband was slain in the accidental discharge of his revolver. She said she had obtained the weapon at his request so he could place it in his traveling bag as he prepared for a sales trip.

O'Sullivan, who was a friend of the slain man, in pleading for an acquittal said "I am here doing from what years of acquaintance with him I know John Bennett would want me to do. If he were here today he would order me to protect the wife he loved and to give solace to the old mother-in-law he loved. Bennett was a fine fellow who occasionally lost his temper." Former Senator Reed delivered the final plea for the defense in a 55 minute speech that brought tears to the eyes of the defendant. The courtroom was packed, spectators crowding the aisles and the space inside the railing.

"If you are going to give her one ounce of penalty, give her the limit under the law," he said. "If you penalize her you will destroy her."

Plan Play Presentation.

The Drake Class of Calvary Baptist Church will present the Joseph Jefferson version of "Rip Van Winkle" at 8 o'clock tonight in Woodward Hall.

PEACE COMES TO INDIA; NATIVES MAY MAKE SALT

Tacit agreement that natives of India have the right to make salt, and accord on other points came out of the new Delhi conference between Mahatma Gandhi (left), Nationalist leader, and Viceroy Lord Irwin (below, center). Madeline Slade (lower right), British-born convert of the Mahatma, accompanied him to the conference. Natives are shown above making salt from sea water.

CONVICT LABOR USE IS HIT IN ARLINGTON

Mass Meeting Protests State Bringing Criminal Here for Highway.

Resolutions protesting against the use of convict labor on the Lee Boulevard in Arlington County were adopted at a mass meeting of residents of the county last night in the Ashton Heights Women's Clubhouse. The resolutions also expressed favor for a stipulation in contracts made by the county for payment of laborers on the wage scale prevailing in the county. Thomas R. Mechem, of Lyon Park, presided.

A committee numbering Robert W. Buck, author of the resolutions; J. D. McDonnell and E. T. Cole was named to present the document to the county board of supervisors asking immediate action.

Edwin F. McGrady, of Washington, representing the American Federation of Labor, as principal speaker, denounced the practice of using convict labor on public works and claimed that conditions in this respect were worse in Virginia than in any other State. He pointed out that many persons were kept out of employment because the State chose to work its prisoners.

Sheriff Howard W. Fields, while expressing disfavor for convict camps, said that he favored the presence of convicts in preference to some men he had seen on road projects.

The resolutions urged use of free labor on roads in the county on prevailing wages there.

millions of dollars involved yearly in the satisfying of illicit thirsts.

The police department is expected to do its utmost to handle the situation, to place gangsters in jail, to break up murder plots and eventually to subdue the machine gunners, the bombers and the "putters on the spot."

"But there's too much money involved for the 'musclers' to give in to the police without a fight," said an authority close to the machinations of the beer runners, the "alky cookers," the panderers, the gambling house owners and the paid killers, known in hoodlumeese as the "enforcers."

"If Cermak is elected, Chicago can expect one 'sweet' battle with the gangsters," the informant added, "before the underworld actually is cleaned up—if it ever is."

INDIA FREEDOM BID CALLED NOT OVER

own free will they should advance toward the position which British India has for all these years been seeking to occupy.

Mixtures Dangerous.

"An undiluted autocracy, however benevolent it may be, and an almost undiluted democracy are an incompatible mixture, bound to result in explosion. It is therefore necessary, I think, for the princes not to assume an uncompromising attitude and refuse impatiently to listen to an appeal from or on behalf of the would-be partner. If they refuse any such appeal they will make the position of the congress party untenable and even most awkward."

The terms on which John Bull and Mother India will resume a speaking acquaintance were made public today, but the way to the altar was still fraught with bypaths to dissension.

Mahatma Gandhi ordered the termination of the civil disobedience campaign and Lord Irwin moved to revoke the statutes against those who waged it, pending the next turn of the wheel of India's fate.

The results of tedious negotiations between Viceroy Irwin and Mahatma Gandhi formed a basis on which leaders of Britain and of India hope in the future to reach an accord, definitely ending the restlessness which has surged like a scourge through India.

Give and Take Policy.

The text of the agreement, published simultaneously here and in London, revealed an incorporation of the give-and-take policy which ruled the negotiations. Gandhi obtained Britain's promise to release nonviolent political prisoners, to permit the manufacture of salt in certain restricted areas, to repeal statutes applied to all who practiced civil disobedience and permitting nonviolent picketing.

The concessions made by Gandhi included the lifting of the boycott against Britain, the cessation of civil disobedience and the withdrawal of demands for an investigation into police brutalities.

Other terms of the pact deal with disposition of property confiscated by reason of the owners' failure to pay taxes. These terms are subject to future arbitration.

New Parley Looms.

The scene is thus set for a second round-table conference in which all castes and classes in India will seek to find a solution.

Despite the optimism shown on all sides at the signing of the text, the problem of securing a united idea on India's needs from her widely separated peoples remains to be solved.

Gandhi said the Nationalists hoped for complete Indian independence. The other side points to the closing paragraph by Lord Irwin in the agreement, specifying that if the Congress party fails to put into full effect the obligations imposed upon it by the settlement, the government will act to protect the public and preserve order.

BERTRAND RUSSELL IN HOUSE OF LORDS

be "capable of intimidating strikers, a task to which they are accustomed at home."

As author of a dozen books on subjects ranging from geometry and German social democracy to modern morals and the problems of China, as a lecturer on mathematics and philosophy in his own Trinity College and in American universities, and as a platform speaker he has won a world-wide hearing.

He conducts at Petersfield an experimental socialistic school, with his second wife, Dora Winifred Black, who three years ago was forbidden a hall in Madison, Wis., wherein to advocate companionate marriage to students of the State university.

Russell's first wife was a Philadelphia girl—Alys, daughter of R. Pearsall Smith, Quaker preacher and merchant, and herself a suffrage lecturer. They were divorced in 1921.

The new earl and his late brother came of a father who was a self-proclaimed agnostic, and a grandfather who, as secretary for foreign affairs under Queen Victoria, almost involved Britain in a conflict of its own against the United States at the peak of the Civil War.

Lord Bertrand Russell probably will succeed his brother as undersecretary of state for India.

Marseilles, France, March 5 (A.P.).—Bertrand Russell, noted British writer, tonight declined to state whether he would assume the title to which he is heir by the death of his brother, Earl Russell.

He is concerned at present with funeral plans for his brother, who died here Tuesday night. The earl will be cremated in the presence of Bertrand Russell tomorrow morning in St. Pierre Cemetery. The ashes will be conveyed to London by airplane.

1917 VETS DEMAND PROFITLESS DRAFT

world would care to lock horns with America."

Would Fix Prices.

O'Neil said prices should be fixed during the war period on the level with prices before the war. If prices are controlled, he added, there will be no labor trouble.

"It is contrary to the spirit of demoracy," he said, "that some should profit while others sacrifice. The entire man power must be subjected to the call of the nation, either for military service or industry, without distinction as to wages."

Universal conscription in the next war was advocated by Thomas Kirby, legislative representative of the disabled veterans.

Fair Draft to All.

His organization, he said, is on record as indorsing the principle of subjecting capital and labor to the same draft as man power was in 1917.

Holds Off Attacks.

Kirby said such a program would "make other nations slow to strike."

Paul C. Wolman, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said his organization "believes the economic burden of war should fall equally upon the shoulders of capital, industry and man power, and that each should be required to contribute his respective share.

"There is no good reason why one man should give up his business or his position to shoulder his pack and rifle and go off to defend the integrity and tranquillity of his country while another sits back and either makes no contribution or derives huge profits from the sacrifice," he contended.

At the opening of the session, Secretary of the War Department Hurley, chairman of the commission, announced it would attempt to learn "why in the Government's efforts to supply its needs in all past wars, opportunity has been presented to some individuals to reap extraordinary financial profit while others have been called upon to bear more than a proportionate share of the burdens."

NEW PLOTS APPEAR AT TRIAL OF REDS

One of Defendants Admits Special Sabotage; Another Cites Loading Estimates.

Moscow, March 5 (A.P.).—New "plots" to overthrow communism in the Soviet Union were outlined today as the government's case against fourteen leaders of the Menshevik (Social Democratic) party approached an end.

Today's principal witnesses were two other Menshiviki who were brought from jail, where they also are awaiting trial. It is predicted the trial, which draws little enthusiasm from the spectators, will be concluded Sunday or Monday. All fourteen of the accused have confessed to activities designed to overthrow the government.

K. Gvozdyoff, known as one of the oldest Mensheviki and a former minister in the Kerensky cabinet, who is awaiting trial, told the court of having committed sabotage on instructions of the defendants.

Alex Nekrasov, once vice president of the Duma, and later a minister in the Kerensky cabinet, testified he also had committed sabotage, not as a member of the Social Democratic party, but as an official of the Central Cooperative Society. He said his acts were committed merely because he was antagonistic to the present government.

"I am guilty of all the crimes charged against me," said Nekrasov, who also is to stand trial as a counter-revolutionist. Gvozdyoff, who is an official of the Supreme Economic Council, said he had drawn up plans for reorganization of all locomotive shops in the Soviet Union on an American basis. He testified he figured the total cost at 1,500,000,000 roubles, which was half a billion more than necessary, in order that the huge estimate would keep the government from proceeding with the necessary transportation improvements.

This action was designed ultimately to create great public dissatisfaction which would aid in overcoming communism, he declared.

STREET CAR LINES ASK FOR CHANGES

northeast, north to the new market at Florida avenue and Fifth street northeast.

The return route would be the same to Fifteenth street and New York avenue northwest, where the buses would follow New York avenue west to the north side of the Treasury Building, thence west on Pennsylvania avenue to Seventeenth, south to G, west to Virginia avenue, thence over New Hampshire avenue to Twenty-sixth and F streets.

Buses would run every ten minutes during nonrush hours and every five minutes during rush hours.

The proposed rate of fare on the bus line would be the same as that now on street cars, but free transfers to the traction line would be provided only on payment of the 10-cent cash fare. For token-riders a 2-cent transfer charge is asked. Several exceptions are offered to this regulation, however.

The bus route would meet requests for service not only to the new market at Fifth street and Florida avenue northeast, the latter stated, but it would also serve the new Center Market at Fifth and K streets northwest. dent, asked permission to make certain changes to improve the Takoma service, which he admits is bad, but blames it on the "improper spacing of turnouts on the Washington & Maryland Railroad" in that vicinity.

The traction company's plan is to construct an additional track on Third street, between Peabody and Kennedy streets, extending around Kennedy about 50 feet to the west or far enough to permit the installation of a switch. This will form an extension of the existing double track on Third street between Peabody and Sheridan streets.

Need for the siding at Third and Nicholson streets would be eliminated and a new siding would be placed at Kennedy street, west of Thirteenth, while the siding on Kennedy at Fifth would be moved east of Seventh street.

WALES AND BROTHER REACH BUENOS AIRES

Thousands Line Decorated Streets to Greet Two British Visitors.

Buenos Aires, March 5 (A.P.).—The Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, reached the principal objective of their South American tour this afternoon. A flag-draped special train brought them into the city from El Palomar flying field.

An hour before the princes, accompanied by an escort of 25 Argentine army planes, had landed at El Palomar from Mar del Plata. A large crowd waited in a scorching sun to greet them.

Thousands of persons who lined the decorated streets of this city obtained only a fleeting glimpse of the princes as they were whisked in automobiles from the station to the residence of the British Ambassador. Other crowds were packed along the route to the Casa Rosada, where the royal party went almost immediately for an official visit to President Uriburi. Later the president returned the visit.

The princes will have four days of entertainment here before returning to Mar del Plata Sunday night. They will remain at the resort until time to come back to Buenos Aires to open the British trade exposition March 14.

This evening the president invited 150 guests to meet the princes at an official banquet at the Casa Rosada.

Son of U. S. Diplomat In Denmark to Marry

Copenhagen, March 5 (A.P.).—John Lord Booth, son of the American Minister to Denmark, will be married on April 25 to Miss Winifred Wessel, daughter of the Chilean Minister, it was announced today.

His sister was married here yesterday to William Dickerman Vogel, of New York and Milwaukee. Mr. and Mrs. Vogel will interrupt their wedding tour in Italy to return here for her brother's wedding.

A. G. NOACK DIES HERE AT AGE OF 68

Funeral Rites Are to Be Held Tomorrow; Burial in Congressional Cemetery.

August William Noack, sr., of 1503 Spring place northwest, for the past 13 years connected with the R. P. Andrews Paper Co., died at his home here Wednesday night after a short illness. He was 68 years old.

He was born in Richmond, Va., and came to Washington with his family during the Civil War. For many years he has been active and well known in business, social and religious circles in this city, having been president of the old Shoomaker Co., here, and a founder and charter member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, of which he was treasurer for more than 40 years. He was also active in the men's Bible class of that church.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Noack; three daughters, Mrs. Frank Howard, Mrs. Lloyd W. Patch and Miss Fannie Noack, all of this city; two sons, August W. Noack, jr., of this city, and Charles F. Noack, of Winter Park, Fla., and two brothers, William F. Noack, of Hyattsville, Md., and Howard Noack, of Wheaton, Md.

Funeral services will be conducted at his late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. Dr. H. Dennington Hayes, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, officiating. Interment will take place in Congressional Cemetery.

Last Rites Slated For Mrs. Portner

Services Fixed Tomorrow; Died in Baltimore After Long Illness.

Private funeral services will be held in Washington tomorrow for Mrs. Alma M. Portner, who died Tuesday at Union Memorial Hospital in Baltimore after an illness of several months. The services will be held from Gawler's chapel at 11 a. m. Interment will be at Manassas, Va.

Mrs. Portner was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Portner, a family prominent in Virginia and Washington for many years. Her father lived in Manassas, Va., and Washington, and at one time was owner of large brewery interests and for many years was active in the development of Washington real estate. The Portner home was formerly on Vermont avenue.

Mrs. Portner is survived by a son, Robert Portner Koehler; a brother, Alvin O. Portner, and three sisters, Mrs. Henry D. Flood and Mrs. W. P. Meredith, of Washington, and Mrs. A. L. Humes, of New York.

Driver Arrested As Resident Dies

Thomas Carly, 74, Succumbs After Being Hit by Car.

Thomas Carly, 74, of 200 H street northeast, died in Sibley Hospital yesterday from injuries received on Wednesday when he was knocked down by an automobile on the viaduct at Second and H streets northeast.

The car was driven by Harry L. Frissel, 36, of C street near Nineteenth street, who was arrested by Sixth Precinct Police for investigation into the death. James Ruck, colored, 24, of 444½ H street, who was hurled from his bicycle by the same auto, is under treatment at Casualty Hospital for shock and bruises.

An inquest will be held at the morgue this morning.

Old B Street Expires; Constitution Ave. Born

Old B street northwest, from the Capitol Grounds to the Lincoln Memorial Bridge, formally passed out of existence yesterday when bright new signs, bearing the inscription, "Constitution Avenue," were put up by the District Government to replace the old marker.

The name of the street was changed in compliance with a resolution introduced at the last session by Representative Henry Allen Cooper, dean of the House, who died Sunday at the age of 88.

Community Chest Goes To Its New Quarters

General offices of the Community Chest, moving from old headquarters at 1418 I street northwest to the Investment Building at Fifteenth and K streets northwest, will complete the transfer today.

All pledge payments will be made at the new quarters, where there are better facilities for receiving them, officials stated. All relief cases sent direct to the Community Chest will continue to be handled by the Council of Social Agencies, at 1418 I street, Director Elwood Street stated.

Traction Service Vet, 76, Has Been Married 53 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Ridgeway, who yesterday celebrated at their home in East Riverdale, Md., their fifty-third wedding anniversary. They were married in Leesburg, Va., in 1878, and have lived in or near Washington since 1891.

Confined to Bed by Illness, Wife and He Mark Event Quietly.

Although confined to his bed by illness, Isaac Ridgeway, 76-year-old veteran of the traction service in Washington yesterday celebrated the fifty-third anniversary of his marriage at his home in East Riverdale, Md. His wife, Elizabeth, whom he married 53 years ago in Leesburg, Va., was with him, as were two of their seven children.

Mr. Ridgeway was an employe of the Capital Traction Co. for 37 years, starting in 1888. He saw the horse cars give way to cable cars, and these in turn supplanted by the electric ones. Six years ago he retired, and has been living with his son, Elmer C. Ridgeway, in East Riverdale since 1926.

The couple have seven children, nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, all living. All of them live in or near Washington. They are Mrs. J. B. Lippold, A. C. Ridgeway, Mrs. E. C. Miller, of Ballston, Va.; J. M. Ridgeway, Edward S. Ridgeway, Mrs. Sadie E. Evans and Elmer C. Ridgeway, with whom they live.

Due to the illness of Mr. Ridgeway, no formal ceremonies were held at the home.

Citizens of Conduit Road Fight to Save U. S. Tree

The old woodman-spare-that-tree cry is well and good when you know who the woodman is and who the tree belongs to, but otherwise one may just be wasting a lot of oratory.

The Conduit Road Citizens Association, which had petitioned Clifford Lanham, District superintendent of trees and parkings, to save an aged and diseased pin oak overlooking the Potomac River in the 5300 block of Potomac avenue, was informed yesterday that the tree is on Federal property.

William A. Roberts, assistant corporation counsel, who has sprung to the defense of the tree, which he says will die unless it receives proper surgery at once, plans now to carry the case to F. T. Gartside, superintendent of parks in the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks.

The Great Falls proposed roadway was recently moved a few feet to avoid the tree and the Conduit road residents are determined to save its life.

Adult Street Car Fare Raise Looms

Letter Sent to Commission Regarding Compensation for School Cut.

While the letter from the Washington Railway & Electric Co. to the Public Utilities Commission regarding compensation for the reduced school fares had not reached its destination yesterday afternoon it was learned on good authority that the commission is asked to take the initiative in raising adult fares.

No specific schedule of increase is set forth in the proposal of the traction company, but it is known that the street car officials want the charge for tokens raised rather than an increase in the 10-cent cash fare.

A similar plan is expected to be proposed by the Capital Traction Co. and the Washington Rapid Transit Co.

Police Arrest Man On Dry Law Charge

Sergt. R. C. Pierce and Patrolman Bruce Strong lurked in the shadows of an alley near Ninth and C streets southeast as the beams of two headlights cut through the dark. The car stopped. The police moved alongside of it.

They took Nick Macchiarella, 35, of Tenth street near G street northeast, to the Fifth Precinct, where the record of the incident is on the police book in the charge "Possession and transportation of alleged liquor."

Blucher, in Court, Pleads Innocent

Soldier Held for Grand Jury in $10,000 Bail on Manslaughter Charge.

Harold A. Blucher, a 22-year-old soldier attached to a Washington headquarters company, pleaded not guilty of manslaughter yesterday when arraigned in Police Court on a charge of having knocked down and fatally injured Edward T. Ryan, 51 years old, of 712 F street southwest, in February.

Blucher was held for the grand jury in default of $10,000 bail. He was also charged with unauthorized use of an automobile. Attached to the papers presented in court was the copy of a statement signed by Blucher in which he related the circumstances leading up to the accident involving Ryan.

Blucher was arrested by Patrolman C. F. Smith, of the Eleventh Precinct, and police say he admitted knocking the man down.

French Senate Adopts Justice Court Protocol

Paris, March 5 (U.P.).—The protocol for the adherence of France to the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague was adopted unanimously in the Senate today.

The Senate also, by raised hands, unanimously adopted the general act of arbitration. Both acts previously had been adopted in the Chamber of Deputies.

ELECTRIC RATES CUT PARLEY FINDS DELAY

Utilities Group and Officials of Power Company Fail Again to Agree.

Another delay in negotiations intended to bring about further reductions in the electric rates of the Potomac Electric Power Co. was the only result of the second conference yesterday between officials of the power company and the Public Utilities Commission.

While William F. Ham, president, and S. Russel Bowen, general counsel, in behalf of the board of directors, declined to accept the modification plan of the commission and refused to negotiate with the utilities body in view of the stand taken by People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech, they later relented somewhat and agreed to present the latter's proposal at the next directors' meeting.

Insist on Consent Decree.

The power company officials at the opening of the conference emphatically stated that they were opposed to any plan for modification that did not legalize the consent decree. They not only reiterated former contentions that the commission has no right to alter the decree without their agreement, but they threw a new challenge at the authority of the regulatory body by asserting that it had no authority to set a new valuation of the power company.

Under the interpretation of the consent decree given by Mr. Ham and Mr. Bowen, the commission is powerless to do anything but mathematically compute the amount of excess earnings to be applied to the next year's reduction each year. Yesterday was the first time that they touched upon valuation, which in the consent decree was a compromise figure that constitutes little more than a guess.

See No Legal Obstacle.

The power company officials admitted under questioning that there is no legal obstacle to the acceptance of Mr. Keech's proposal to scrap the consent decree, the legality of which is doubtful, in favor of a bi-party agreement between the commission and the power company.

Under this plan the sliding scale of distributing profits would be retained, but the court would be eliminated from the picture. The commission also would be in a position to adjust the scale whenever it worked inequitably either for the public or the utility without obtaining the permission of the court.

Nothing further affecting the consent decree is expected now until March 25, when the directors of the Potomac Electric Power Co. meet again. While the commission has its petition for modification in readiness to enter court at a moment's notice, it will await the decision of the directors on the second proposal.

Friend of Indians Praises Hoover

Miss Hope E. Haupt Says President's Policies Aid Reservation Work.

Miss Hope Elizabeth Haupt, who for many years has interested herself in the affairs of the American Indian, has returned to Washington after a long trip through the reservations scattered from Maine to Oregon. She plans to make several lectures in this section.

Miss Haupt praised the work accomplished for the Indians during the Hoover regime. She declared that after 80 years of wasted time results are just becoming apparent in the last 18 months. "I used to say that the hope of the Indian was the missionary and his despair was the Government official, but that was before Mr. Hoover took office," she said.

The greatest change for the better has been made in the school system, Miss Haupt said, pointing out that more than half of the Indian pupils were now being taught in their own home schools. She said she planned to make a talk at the Friends' Meeting House, President Hoover's church, next Sunday.

Chance and Woodson Are Kiwanis Delegates

Merritt O. Chance, president of the Washington Kiwanis Club, and Eugene R. Woodson, first vice president, yesterday were elected delegates to the International Kiwanis convention in Miami May 2, at a meeting of the club at the Washington Hotel. Past President James B. Edmunds and Edwin F. Hill were named alternates.

A report on the schedules of trains and boats was made by Claude W. Owen, chairman of the interclub relations committee. He said rates are the lowest ever given for an international convention and announced plans for the interclub meeting at Fredericksburg, Va., March 17.

$600 Blaze Damages Attic.

A fire in the attic caused $600 damage to the home of John I. Lane, 6709 Georgia avenue yesterday. The blaze was of undetermined origin.

SELF-GIVEN WOUND FATAL TO SALESMAN

Leo D. Shire Dies, Leaving Mystery of His Daughter's Mother Unsolved.

Death came yesterday to Leo D. Shire, 66-year-old traveling salesman, victim of a .32-caliber bullet wound in his head, self-inflicted the previous day, while close friends remained mystified at a note disclosing to his daughter the identity of her mother.

Shire, representative of the Sherer Gillett Co., of Marshall, Mich., succumbed at Emergency Hospital fifteen hours after sending a bullet into his skull at the Hamilton Hotel.

His body will be sent today to Chicago for funeral services and interment. There it will be met by his daughter, Rita, a first-year student at Kidd Key College, Sherman, Tex., to whom he left a note in his room, saying in part:

"Rita, Margaret is your mother. I could not stand it. This is the out."

Associated Press dispatches from Chicago yesterday said that Edward Cohn, a business associate of Shire's for many years and presumably his closest friend, was baffled by the contents of the note.

"I had never heard of any Margaret," Cohn was quoted. "I was in business with Shire for 35 years, and I knew the family well, better than anyone else in Chicago. The first time I saw Rita she was only a few weeks old, and Shire's wife, Anna, was raising her as her own child. I always thought she was Mrs. Shire's daughter, and I'm sure Rita did, too. Mrs. Shire died about nine years ago."

Dispatches from Texas, where Shire had lived, in Dallas, for a time, described "Margaret" as Shire's housekeeper.

William Sherer, member of the firm for which Shire was employed, said he always had understood that Rita was an adopted daughter, but could advance no other information.

Georgetown Debaters To Meet W. & L. Tonight

The Georgetown University varsity debating team left yesterday afternoon for Lexington, Va., where they will debate the liquor question tonight with a team representing Washington and Lee University. Georgetown will defend repeal of the eighteenth amendment and proposed State regulation of liquor traffic.

The varsity team is composed of John C. Hayes, of Chicago; William A. Sullivan, of Yonkers, N. Y., and William G. McEvitt, of New York City. They are members of the century-old Philodemic Society. Upon their return to Washington, the Hilltoppers will debate with the University of Pittsburgh Sunday night at Georgetown.

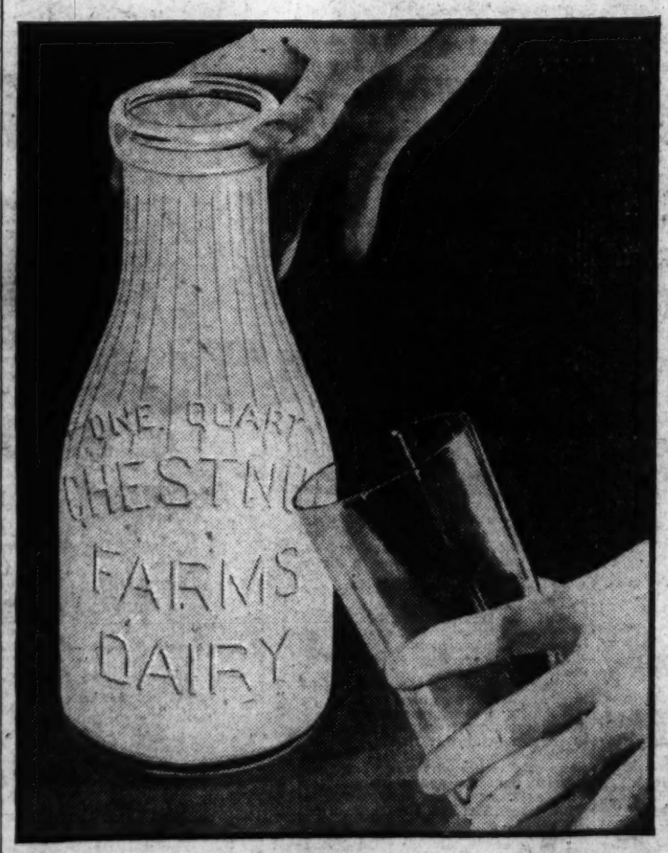
Cut down your Food bill and build up your Health



BY DRINKING MORE MILK

DOCTORS tell us that milk is the great "protective" food. It brings us the materials we need to round out our diet. Proteins to build and repair our bodies. The proper kind of fat for fuel. Sugar for energy. Valuable vitamins. Tonic mineral salts. Everything we need to keep our bodies healthy, and our minds alert.

Fortunately, milk is also one of our cheapest foods. There is more energy in 15c worth of milk than in the same amount spent for meat, eggs or fish. You need these other foods of course. But you should not economize on your milk-money to buy them. Eminent authorities state that at least a fifth of your food-budget should be devoted to milk.

Be sure to get the purest, most wholesome milk for your family. Order from Chestnut Farms Dairy — the World's Model Dairy Plant. You'll welcome the courteous, dependable service. Phone: Potomac 4000.

ANNAPOLIS STUDIES ANTI-SUNDAY BILL

Assembly Requests Ritchie to Run for President in 1932 Campaign.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 5.—Adoption of a favorable committee report in the House on the anti-Sunday blue law bill, designed to lift the ban on Sunday moving pictures, and permitting the sale of certain merchandise on the Sabbath; passage of a joint resolution calling on Gov. Ritchie to announce himself as a Democratic candidate for President of the United States; a hearing of proponents of antibillboard legislation that would place severe restrictions on advertising along public highways, enlivened the proceedings of the General Assembly.

All three of these activities were confined to the House side. The antiblue law bill that became the subject of a lively debate, was the measure drawn by Speaker Francis A. Michel, of Baltimore City. The joint resolution was introduced by Delegate Alexander Goodman, of Baltimore City, and the billboard hearing was before the ways and means committee of that body.

The Sunday measure had been amended in committee to apply to incorporated cities or towns of more than 8,000 population, but it was known that nearly all of the county delegations would seek to have their respective sections exempted, so that it finally went its way with the local option clause.

Backers Strength Tested.

The vote on the motion to table the measure was the only test to indicate the strength that backers have mustered in its behalf, hence its passage seems certain. Forty-two delegates from the counties joined with 34 of the 36 of Baltimore City in support of the bill.

Montgomery and Prince Georges were numbered among the counties that asked to be exempted from the proposed law.

Those who think the State Roads Commission should determine the location of billboards pleaded their cause before the ways and means committee of the House, of which James J. Lindsay, jr., Democratic floor leader, is chairman.

Billboards Spread Feared.

The speakers contended that the fees and penalties authorized in the bill would control the spread of billboards. It was further brought out that billboard concerns in Maryland are becoming large industries, and have a tax-free rein.

Those who spoke in favor of the bill included Mrs. Charles Elcock, of Baltimore, on behalf of the Maryland League of Women Voters; Frederic Delano, of Washington, chairman of the Park and Planning Commission, who termed the billboard a necessary evil, yet urged that it be placed in the least harmful spot; Col. U. S. Grant 3d, executive officer of the Park and Planning Commission, of Washington, who spoke from the angle of public safety; Mrs. Clara Boley, chairman of the Women's Clubs of the Eastern Shore; John Stanley, Laurel attorney, who spoke in behalf of Southern Maryland Society; David S. Jenkins, business manager of the Capital Gazette Press, of Annapolis, representative of the Maryland Press Association, and Miss Lavinia Engle, a member of the Legislature from Montgomery County, who urged that the beauty of the countryside be preserved. She urged that the revenue from the measure be spent to improve surroundings.

Prior to the hearing, members of the committee were deluged by telegrams and letters from opponents of the antibillboard bill. Among these missives was one from George A. Bowen, member of the county commissioners of Prince Georges County, and another from a delegation from Hyattsville.

Ritchie Move Speeded.

The meeting of the Democratic national committee in Washington today prompted House leaders to speed action on the joint resolution urging Gov. Ritchie to announce his candidacy for President. The measure had been in committee for nearly a month. To carry the point, the House recessed for ten minutes to allow the rules committee to make a favorable report on the resolution, and then, under suspension of rules, to which Republican members agreed, the resolution was placed on the third reading, passed and sent to the Senate, which took similar action later in the day.

Two bills, one of which would carry into effect authorized construction of the new State penitentiary in Washington County, and the other seeking to strengthen the parole system were introduced in the House by Speaker Michel.

The second bill was broader in scope and sought to curtail the power of the present parole commissioner through creation of a parole board.

The Senate overrode an unfavorable report of the judicial proceedings committee in a bill by Senator Coad (Democrat), St. Marys County, proposing an amendment to the constitution depriving the General Assembly of the privilege of extending the terms of judges beyond the constitutional retirement limit of 70 years.

Insurance Tax Charge Asked.

Delegate Charles C. Marbury, of Prince Georges County, introduced in the House today a bill to change the system of taxation of insurance companies, by placing domestic companies on the same footing as foreign companies; that is, those of other States, doing business in Maryland. Domestic companies now are assessed at the rate of $1 on the $100, as compared to 25 cents charged those from out of the State. The bill would make the 25-cent rate apply in each instance. It is pointed out that the foreign companies really do more business than the domestic organizations, and yet they have enjoyed a lower rate.

The Prince Georges delegation sponsored a minor bill, viz., to amend the charter of the town of Mount Rainier to clarify certain wording as to several requirements by the town authorities. This county delegation made quick work of a favorable report to legalize voting by women in town elections at Mount Rainier. The measure was introduced only yesterday. It provides for amending the charter by eliminating the word "male" in reference to qualifications of voters.

Prisoner Jumps Off Train, but Recaptured

Huntingdon, Pa., March 5 (A.P.).—Alfred McGraw, of Sunbury, Pa., being returned from Salt Lake City to the Eastern Penitentiary, Philadelphia, for violation of parole, leaped from a train near here today, but was recaptured within several hours. He suffered lacerations of the face and injury to one knee in jumping.

McGraw was being returned to Pennsylvania for violation of parole after serving nineteen months in a Utah prison for automobile thefts.

Rinker, of Norfolk; Dr. William A. White, of Washington; Dr. George H. Reese, and Dr. John R. Gill, of Petersburg.

The association is composed of physicians of the cities of Petersburg, Hopewell, Norfolk and Suffolk, and the counties of Amelia, Brunswick, Dinwiddie, Prince George, Surrey, Sussex, Isle of Wight, Lunenburg, Prince Edward, Mecklenburg(Rosemond, Southampton and Norfolk.

Buckley Slaying Motive Attacked

Defense Says Hamtramck Political Turmoil Was Reason for Killing.

Detroit, March 5 (A.P.).—The defense in the trial of Ted Pizzino, Joe Bommarito and Angelo Livecchi, indicted for the slaying of Gerald E. Buckley July 23, hammered away at State witnesses today in an effort to set up political turmoil in Hamtramck suburb as a countermotive for the assassination of the radio political commentator.

This attempt by the defense paralleled an effort by the prosecution to show what Buckley said and did the last hour of his life, with whom he talked and his reactions to the recall of Mayor Charles Bowles, for which he had worked.

Witnesses called today told of a party held after the recall election in a suite of the La Salle Hotel. Buckley looked in on the party shortly after midnight, they testified, talked about the election, joked with persons present and left "to get a little air." Shortly after, they learned that Buckley had been slain while sitting in the lobby.

Motorist Faces Charge Of Reckless Driving

Discrimination is what Delany Best, Brandywine street near Linean avenue northwest, lacked last night, according to Montgomery County Policeman Harry Merson, of Rockville headquarters. As a result Mr. Best was arrested and placed in the Rockville Jail, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

According to the policeman, he was driving on the Gaithersburg road when a car headed for Rockville nearly struck his car, forcing him from the road. He gave chase and arrested Best. Collateral was fixed at $102.50 by Justice of the Peace John Jones, of Rockville.

when Benita sought the solace of his companionship, was said to have been his wife.

Under the circumstances, since the little Bischoff girl is believed not to have known of Trout's marriage, the young man is said to have held himself aloof from her. It is now a theory that this attitude, assumed by the heartbroken girl to be a "slight," was an added reason for her despondency.

New York, March 5 (A.P.).—The knot in the rope that shut off the life breath of titian-haired Vivian Gordon tonight furnished a promising clew in the quest for her slayers.

At the end of a long and searching examination of the slain woman's seven diaries and the questioning of many witnesses District Attorney Charles B. McLaughlin, of the Bronx, late today said he had learned the death knot "was such as is used to tie cavalry horses in stables."

He said the significance of the discovery remained "to be determined." Experts in Columbia University have been examining the rope for several days in an effort to gain from its degree and manner of wear and other minute details possible scraps of information bearing directly upon the killing.

Men listed in "Who's Who" and the "Directory of Directors" were included in the 50 persons to whom detectives turned today in an attempt to catch the stranglers.

The 50 names, with addresses and telephone numbers, were found in the fat diaries of the demimondaine, alleged blackmailer and friend of Arnold Rothstein.

District Attorney McLaughlin said they were only "potential victims" of Miss Gordon, so he spared them publicity by making their questioning secret.

A grand jury continued its investigation into the killing of the redheaded woman, who had been seeking evidence to support her charge she was "framed" on a vice charge in 1923. Just a week ago today her body, with a rope about the neck, was found in Van Cortlandt Park.

Among the new witnesses were three employes of the polo riding academy in Van Cortlandt Park, whose stables adjoin the spot where the body was found.

Referee Samuel Seabury, prober of magistrates' courts, sent a bundle of anonymous letters to police. One of these was said to contain a tip that a narcotic ring feared Miss Gordon would "talk" and that she was believed to be responsible for a $100,000 drug seizure in Philadelphia recently.

Advertising Factor In 1932 Business

Hodges Sees Necessity for Publicity Program With Growth of Savings.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, March 5.—A Nation-wide tour revealed that executives generally appreciate that advertising of all classes will be a necessary factor in merging from the present depression, Gilbert T. Hodges, of the New York Sun, reported today to the board of directors of the Advertising Federation of America, of which he is president.

"Advertising volume is definitely increasing because advertisers in all lines of business realize that fearless, aggressive efforts are necessary if thy are to benefit from the great potential market now existing in this country," he declared.

Mr. Hodges said that the great cloud of fear which has been hanging over so many during the past year has resulted in an increase of savings deposits to an estimate of $28,000,000,000, indicating that many consumers have a great reserve to spend at the present time. This is the market wide awake manufacturers and retailers are now after, and many have admitted their advertising programs have been far too radically reduced during the hysteria of retrenchment, he said.

Police Aid Search For Missing Wife

E. L. Kilby Says Woman Left Home Feb. 23; Has Not Been Seen Since.

Eugene L. Kilby last night appealed to Washington newspapers to aid him in searching for his wife, Marguerite, who has been missing, he said, since February 23. Wednesday he notified police that the woman, who celebrated her twenty-seventh birthday the day before she vanished, had disappeared from her home on Uhland terrace, near Second street northeast.

The couple were married seven years years ago in Orlando, Fla., Kilby said. They have an adopted son, Eugene.

Mrs Kilby was described as 5 feet 3 inches in height, with dark hair and dark eyes. Her husband said that his present address is on K street near Twelfth northwest.

BOARD ASKS REPORT ON SCHOOL SURVEY

Alexandria Officials Describe Need of Repairs for Buildings.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

City council yesterday at a regular meeting received a communication from the school board acknowledging the recent visit to the public schools by the members of council, and asking that council express the views of that body on the condition of the school buildings. The city manager was instructed to write the clerk of the school board giving the impressions of the various councilmen and suggesting needed repairs.

Vice Mayor Edmund P. Tiver presided over the meeting yesterday at the request of Mayor Pierce, and at this point he vacated the chair to state that during the visit to the schools he observed needed repairs in the water sections of both George Mason High School and the Parker Gray School, at the former a skylight broken, and at Mount Vernon School, broken window panes in the basement. He offered a resolution that the school board be requested to remedy these matters also called attention to the need of paint on the exterior of Lee School, and that the city manager be requested to look into the expense of curb and gutter construction on Russell road, near Maury School, and include the improving of the roadway at that point.

Councilman T. J. Fannon called attention to the need of sidewalks at Parker-Gray School, and the city manager stated it was his understanding that the school board had the paving around that school building under consideration.

A communication was received from the State Board of Health relative to setting aside one week this spring to be known as "clean-up week," and the city manager was directed to obtain as many copies of the sample bulletin sent by the State body as possible to distribute to the members of the police force for use in observing such a week, and also to designate the week most convenient to the city manager for this observance.

V. Ward Boswell presented an application for a permit for a gasoline filling station at 801 South Washington street, the southwest corner of Jefferson and Washington streets, which was referred to the Zoning and Planning Commission. A resolution prohibiting the sale of fireworks was withdrawn and the city attorney instructed to look up the present city ruling on th' subject, and Councilman Tiver stated there is already a city ordinance covering the matter. An application from the Community Development Corporation for permission to erect an apartment house at Raymond and DeWitt avenues, was denied as the proposed construction is frame. Councilman Tiver stated a frame apartment building was too great a fire risk. An appropriation of $2,500 was granted for the construction of the bridge at Mount Vernon avenue and Four Mile Run, now being built. W. E. Dawson, 1601 Duke street, was given permission to build a frame addition to his shop at that point.

The city manager was instructed to purchase a metal telephone box for the Rosemont station, to have the policemen on duty in that section report to headquarters every hour. He was also instructed to survey the dilapidated waste paper boxes on King street.

A communication was received from the Bureau of Public Roads regarding the paving on Washington street from Montgomery to Franklin, with sheet asphalt. When council conferred with the committee from that bureau on the use of Washington street as a part of the Mount Vernon Boulevard it was agreed that the contractors would pave that section of Washington street already improved, the city to bear one-fourth of the cost.

A committee from the chamber of commerce composed of F. Clinton Knight, Dan S. Hollenga, C. Page Waller and John Baryon Phillips has submitted to the city school board an exhaustive report on an investigation of the physical condition of the city schools, which was made just before the end of the year 1930. The report goes into details of all school buildings in the city and particularly recommends that some means of discontinuing the use of the West End School Building be devised, as this building was sold to the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association some years ago. The committee recommends that a competent board, composed of three Virginia educators, at a cost not to exceed $1,000, be obtained for the purpose of making a complete survey of school conditions in this city.

Five persons have applied for citizenship in the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia. They are Mrs. Johanne Gertrude Herwig, Germany; William Siegfred Gronfeldt, Denmark; Vito Antonio Bufano, Italy;

Will Suit Pushed By Stepdaughter

Lillian Russell Marriage Pact With A. P. Moore Is Denied.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 5 (A.P.).—Denial of knowledge of any prenuptial agreement between Alexander P. Moore and Lillian Russell, actress, was made today by defense witnesses at the hearing of the suit by Mrs. Dorothy Russell Calvit to break the will of her stepfather, former Ambassador to Spain.

Witnesses for Mrs. Calvit previously had testified of such an agreement whereby Moore was to leave his stepdaughter half of his estate. She was left $1,000 out of an estate of $600,000.

Attorney John S. Weller, who said he had known Moore since 1899 and had drawn wills for him since the death of his wife, quoted Moore as once having said regarding Mrs. Calvit: "I owe her nothing. She has talent and should work and, besides, she is married."

Gas Tank Explosion Burns Auto Man Here

An explosion of a a gas tank that was being removed from a wrecked automobile yesterday burned Isador Glasser, 35 years old, who conducts an automobile business at 155 Florida avenue northeast. Mr. Glasser was taken to Freedmen's Hospital and treated for burns on the arms.

The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Mrs. Virginia Padilla Zier, Honduras, and Mrs. Myfanwy Maud De Daniels, Wales.

Fire Chief James M. Duncan, jr., in his report for the month of February, states the fire loss in the city was estimated at $4,955. There were 46 alarms, of which 43 were local and 1 general and 2 suburban.

RASKOB STIRS UP WAR.

All that was needed to expose the chasm that divides the Democratic party on the liquor question was the speech of Chairman John J. Raskob at yesterday's "harmony" gathering of the national committee. Every one has known that the North and South wings of Democracy would refuse to flap together, but in some quarters it was assumed that the Democratic leaders had learned enough from the Waterloo of 1928 to avoid a head-on collision among themselves. Evidently, however, Chairman Raskob believes that the dry South is no longer Democratic territory and may be ignored.

It is difficult to explain the reason for Mr. Raskob's speech on any other ground than as the deliberate beginning of a movement to override the South. No more provocative statements could have been made than those contained in his speech. His proposal that the national committee should suggest a wet plank in the next campaign, contemplating the reestablishment of liquor traffic by constitutional amendment, is certain to arouse the fury of Democrats in all dry States. They will oppose it to the last ditch. A wet candidate upon a plank of the kind proposed by Chairman Raskob could count upon losing many States.

The spokesman of the dry wing of the Democratic party is Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas. He lost no time in joining issue with Chairman Raskob. He represents a section of the party that has the power to destroy, if not to elect, a Democratic candidate for the Presidency. Rather than permit the return of a liquor regime these Democrats will again throw their States into the Republican column. One of the mysteries of politics is the inability of Northern Democratic wets to gauge correctly the intensity of feeling among Democrats of the South and West on the prohibition question.

Senator Robinson correctly stated that both parties are divided on the prohibition question. The Republicans will find great difficulty in compromising their differences on this question. If they are disposed to begin intestine strife on the question they have but to take warning from the experience of the enemy. Chairman Raskob has shown the Republicans what to avoid, and that is the unnecessary precipitation of this question in the deliberations of the party long before the opening of the national campaign.

The Democratic quarrel having started, there is no stopping it. No temporary truce will avail. Senator Robinson pointed out that the dry Democrats had not tried to draw from the national committee an expression in favor of the dry cause, although the last Democratic national convention expressly declared for the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. Until the next convention lays down party law, this is the law; and Chairman Raskob's proposal to repeal and reverse party law instantly meets with determined resistance.

There were many rumors during the recent session of Congress that Democratic leaders would have been glad to set Senator Robinson aside as minority leader of the Senate, because of his fixed opinion on the eighteenth amendment. But Senator Robinson is not a man to be easily set aside. He strengthened his leadership yesterday by immediately rebuking Chairman Raskob for injecting the liquor controversy into the committee's councils. Senator Robinson knows only too well that Democratic hopes may as well be abandoned if the party is to be plunged into an internal feud. The public discontent arising from the depression and other causes will not bring about a change of administration if the Democratic rival of President Hoover is doomed beforehand to lose Democratic States.

The wonder is that Chairman Raskob does not see these facts. His party as a whole may rue the day that it permitted him to gain virtual control of its policy by relieving its financial necessities.

BEATEN BY HIS BONUS VOTE.

The first fruits of public indignation against Congress for enactment of the bonus loan measure over President Hoover's veto have ripened in Vermont. Senator Frank Charles Partridge, of that State, has been defeated for the Republican nomination to succeed himself because of his vote for the bonus.

Vermont is a rock-ribbed Republican State. When Gov. Weeks appointed Mr. Partridge to succeed the late Senator Greene shortly before Christmas it was with the understanding that Partridge would stand by the Republican administration. Vermont has no stomach for insurgency. If a senator is not Republican enough to stand by the administration, it has no use for him.

With a special election in the offing, Senator Partridge allowed himself to be persuaded that a vote for the bonus would be good politics. Like dozens of other politicians he looked eagerly for the "soldier vote." He voted for the increased loans on veterans' adjusted service certificates, and later voted to override the President's veto.

Warren R. Austin took note of Mr. Partridge's failure to stand by President Hoover. The time was short, but by use of radio he informed the people of Vermont how their newly appointed senator had surrendered to political expediency. The people responded by defeating Partridge and choosing Mr. Austin for the senatorship; for nomination on the Republican ticket in Vermont is tantamount to election.

When Senator Partridge gets back to Proctor he will have ample time to contemplate the relative merits of serving the public and of throwing down principle for political expediency. In Vermont the electorate had the advantage of striking while the iron was hot. It remains to be seen how taxpayers in other States will deal with legislators who voted to override the President's veto of the bonus bill.

LEFT-OVER BILLS.

President Hoover's visit to the Capitol to sign last-minute bills turned out by Congress gave a dramatic touch to the ending session, but it proved to be nothing more than a formality. Mr. Hoover decided not to pass upon all the bills that were piled on his desk before the end of the session, after Attorney General Mitchell had ruled that the Constitution does not require him to do so. Twenty-six bills were signed while the President and his Cabinet awaited for the final adjournment, but many still await his signature. His presence at the Capitol might therefore be considered a graceful gesture in favor of tradition even though the President refused to be restricted by it.

The Constitution allows the President ten days in which to sign bills sent to him by Congress. If he fails to return them to Congress during that time they become law without his signature, unless Congress has adjourned in the meantime. In that case the President may pocket veto any measure he does not care to sign.

There is no occasion for denying the President ten days for consideration of bills even though Congress has adjourned. Congressional terms expired on March 4, but the President's did not. His signature on a bill is just as valid after Congress has adjourned as before.

The President found it a physical impossibility to pass judgment upon the 400 measures that were sent to him in the last days of the session before the gavels fell in the House and Senate. Many of these measures need careful examination by department heads as well as by the President. If the President were denied time to study these bills, the hysteria of Congress in its last hours would be carried over to the White House. The President would be swamped and the check which the Constitution gives him to prevent hasty and unwise legislation would be ineffective during that critical period.

In those years when the term of the President expires the ten-day period for signing acts of Congress after adjournment can not be used. But future Presidents will probably find it advantageous to follow the precedent set by Mr. Hoover for the mid-term sessions.

RAILROADS CAN CONSOLIDATE.

Congress has done the country a good turn by failing to interfere with railroad consolidation. When President Hoover announced last December an agreement of railway executives to consolidate Eastern roads into four great systems a political row on the subject was threatened. Democratic and insurgent sharpshooters saw another opportunity to snipe at President Hoover. But their efforts came to naught, and the issue subsided. Congress adjourned without taking any action that would prevent the Interstate Commerce Commission from approving or disapproving of the railroad executives' plans.

The movement to halt consolidation got no farther than the Senate interstate committee. A special investigator for the committee made an adverse report on the proposed agreement, but no action was taken. The railroads and every one else interested in this problem of consolidation will rejoice that politics have been eliminated from the case, at least for the coming nine months.

The transportation act of 1920 was written with consolidation in view. The Interstate Commerce Commission has failed to work out a satisfactory plan. In the meantime the railways serving the Eastern territory have been in a state of uncertainty. Plans for development and improvement of their service have been held in abeyance. When the executives of these roads brought forth a plan of consolidation on which they were agreed the whole muddled situation began to clear.

It would have been unfortunate, indeed, if these plans had been upset by a political wrangle. As matters stand the railroads are free to present their agreement before the Interstate Commerce Commission and ask for its approval. If the commission should find the proposed consolidation conducive to the public welfare it may authorize the railroads to make it effective.

President Hoover approved the consolidation plan on general principles. He did not attempt to examine the details of the agreement, for he has no authority to pass judgment upon it. It is the duty of the commission to decide whether the agreement to allocate railroad facilities in the East to four great systems will work to the best interests of the public. The commission will be in a better position to decide that question if it is unharassed by politics. It would seem the part of wisdom to dispose of this case before Congress reassembles.

Dancing across the continent to the tune of $25,000 may be all right. Many a politician has done the goose step for years for less than that.

Cornell University claims to have disproved the old adage that "practice makes perfect." Humph! Congress proved that long ago.

MARCH OF PATERNALISM

From the Christian Science Monitor.

Some of the greatest milestones of modern times are marked by the onward march of collectivism. On all sides may be observed a rapid development of paternalism in government which would have been anathema only a few decades ago.

Two states are held up as the outstanding examples of collectivism—Soviet Russia and Fascist Italy. In the one aim of elevating state above private rights these otherwise antithetic nations meet on common ground. Through its control over industry Moscow is the controller of the private purse of the people. No less than 66 per cent of the national income is disbursed by the government, as compared with 14 per cent in the United States. Italy has blossomed out similarly into practically a corporative state, complete with an industrial Parliament which not only gives advice and arbitration in industrial matters, but is also endowed with legislative powers, mandatory upon employers and workers alike.

Other states are little less backward in assuming a collectivist complexion, though in less spectacular fashion. Germany disburses through its various public organs nearly 50 per cent of the national income, or not much less than the Soviet Union, thus standing equally as a silent witness to the decay of individualism.

England, too, has its economic advisory council, its ramified social services, and contains many champions of an industrial subparliament on the German model. And now some of its leading citizens are talking of a five-year plan by means of which industry would be divided into state-supervised monopolies. Ten years ago these pioneers would have incurred derision as visionary, almost dangerous, Socialists. Finally, France, often held up as the home of individualism, has recently adopted a state program for supporting workless and aged members of the community.

Formerly the root of Oriental government was the antithesis of collectivism. The norm was the family, which developed with the state as almost a self-governing unit, so that the nations seemed more like congeries of families loosely federated than strong states vested with the power to assert constant authority. Japan was the first Oriental nation to break away from this tradition. On emerging from seclusion it proceeded so rapidly to crystallize its family system into the modern state system that it now subsidizes almost every important national activity. Its example has fired China to westernize its traditional institutions. From that country come reports of a constant state of collectivist legislation, destined to put China in the ranks of modern nations.

The last stronghold of individualism is the United States, where the theory is maintained that neither Federal nor State governments should perform what private agencies might perform as well. But the theory is being rapidly undermined. For more than the last twelve months a kind of state control of agriculture has been exercised by the Federal Farm Board. The Government has directed its policy toward the reduction of wheat and cotton acreage. Its operations have spilled over into the grain exchanges, where it is now such a dominant voice that many private traders have transferred their operations to Winnipeg. The United States is also running a large banking business through its lending operations in connection with the Veterans' Bureau.

To stop the tendency would be akin to the effort of the lady of fiction who tried to sweep back the ocean. What begins as a temporary measure has a habit of being translated into permanent legislation. The new paternalism is defended as merely the fulfillment of state responsibility. In the last analysis, therefore, modern collectivism is founded on Emerson's words: "All men have a right to all that men have achieved."

But mankind at least can see to it that the invasion of the state into the domain of the individual is dictated only by the need to correct social evils, redress injustices or promote the well-being of communities in a rapidly shrinking world. The invasion should be resisted whenever the state seeks to become a parasite upon the back of individual enterprise.

POST HASTE.

Two horns of a Democratic dilemma: Owen Young and Owin' Raskob.

Some folks are foolish enough to think that a committee's business is to commit itself—but not Gov. Roosevelt.

Our 2-to-1 bet today is that more Democrats are worrying about what will happen to the next campaign fund if Mr. Raskob's bill is not paid, than about the bill itself.

"Lady Astor Dines Chaplin." Fair exchange—American success in England recognizes English ditto in United States.

Alfred Smith, conservative, of New York, visiting the Capital, expresses the opinion that "the number of wets has grown considerably since 1928."

It will be nine months before another Congress can deliver its diagnosis of the acts of the dear departed.

A Southern member of the national Democratic committee has asked for Raskob's resignation, "to be effective as soon as he has taken steps to wipe out the party's deficit." Raskob probably has taken a million steps on this business already.

Let's send for Gandhi to stop "uncivil obedience" among both grouchy officials and civilians.

Former Gov. Smith opposes present Gov. Roosevelt's desire to make the power question the main issue of the next campaign as being too technical—he spent a whole evening trying to explain unsuccessfully to one audience how-come horse power had anything to do with water power.

"In the past months there appears to have been a very wholesome deflation of a spirit of too much arrogance. Individuals and nations are not so self-satisfied as they were." Thus opines Mr. Coolidge. The Duce you say! But then you can take a chance, not belonging to the Marines nowadays.

England's rule in India will fit the people for self-rule long before they could of their own accord agree upon either government or religion. Call again in 1995.

There was something of a battle royal in town yesterday between water power and strong drink.

Doubio McIntyre remembers "those visitors to Mexico who always tell of seeing Popocatepetl and that other one." One traveler settled down on "Succotash-Seattle," and if you say it rapidly it does very well, but here's wagering that O. O. dictionaried for Popo's complete orthography himself.

It was just two bad at the Democratic love feast—Roosevelt and Raskob.

Ninety-five senators helpless before a one-man filibuster would seem to call for a dog-in-the-manger rule.

The reason why wood alcohol does not kill more persons is that it goes to the head where it finds congenial and harmless habitat. P. H.

JUST FOLKS

THIS NEW FREEDOM.

They'd read the books, and so they said,
"We'll keep our freedom, when we wed,
And come and go our whole lives through
Exactly as we're pleased to do.
You keep your whims and I'll keep mine,
Come home or stay downtown to dine,
Go where you will, with whom you choose,
And thus our love we'll never lose."

This sounded well to Jim and Jane.
The theory seemed safe and sane,
But once the marriage vows were said
They found their sweetheart days had fled,
And they were bound to go through life
Forevermore as man and wife.
Miss Jenny Black was asked to write
Her name as Mrs. Jimmy White.

Miss Jennie Black felt sure that she Would want her husband to be free.
But Mrs. White began to find
She'd had a curious change of mind,
And when departed Jimmy White
She wanted him back home at night.
She felt she had a right to know
Just where it was he planned to go.

And what about that Lover Jim?
Marriage a husband made of him,
And thinking as a husband he
Had thoughts of what a wife should be,
And various whims and notions, too,
Of what a good wife ought to do.
The moral's simple to repeat:
You can not keep the cake you eat.

It Isn't Stealing to Take What Your Pal Would Gladly Give.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

A WELL-KNOWN publicist, wishing to reveal the hopeless depravity of the younger generation, tells the story of a spoiled and prodigal youth who signed his father's name on a check and thus escaped an embarrassing situation by sacrificing his honor and shaming his illustrious family.

The young hellion—he was not yet 20—had ventured abroad after nightfall in one of his father's cars; had picked up others of his age and kind, both male and female, and shortly after midnight, being then in the midst of a sleeping village many miles from home, had run into and damaged another car driven by an ancient villager who loved a dollar and recognized opportunity when he saw it.

The young people had not been drinking, but they had been noisy. And when a policeman and other witnesses appeared, as though by magic, it quickly became evident that the young man and his guests would finish the night in jail and subsequently endure much unpleasant publicity unless money could be found to placate the law and satisfy the noisy demands of the old fellow whose fenders were crumpled.

A hasty inventory and pooling of resources squared matters with the policeman, but there remained the clamor for damages and the threat of attachment and suit. In desperation the young man offered a check in settlement.

It did not occur to him to sign his own name. That would have been a trick. He signed a name that was potent, being careful to explain that it was his father's. And thus he delivered himself into the hands of his enemy.

That was the sin that revealed his hopeless depravity. He was a forger! Without permission or authority he had pledged a fraction of his father's millions.

Next morning, in company with a fellow culprit, he entered his father's office to confess. He was uneasy and repentant, for he had damaged a new car and wasted money; but he felt guilty of nothing more.

The father—so the outraged publicist tells us—was shocked to his marrow. His son a forger! A criminal in the family! A shame he could never outlive or forget!

Well, forgery is a serious crime. And $200 is a lot of money—to some people. But is $200 worth more than a son?

This father was ashamed of his son, but the son was ashamed of his father, also. He said to himself: "I thought he would stand by me. I depended on him, and now he shames me before my friends. He thinks more of money than he does of me. Now all the fellows will know the kind of father I have."

The moral, as you see, is somewhat obscure.

Worthless sons have ruined their fathers by means of forgery. But a decent boy is not depraved merely because he expects his dad to stand by him in an emergency.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Stopped Treasury Raids.

New York Herald Tribune.

Broadly speaking, the acute political pressure which a depression always creates caused many members of Congress to lose both their heads and their scruples and impelled them to savage drives on the Treasury, which, if all had been successful, would have crippled the country beyond description. This pressure came to a head in the short session which has just ended, and from it there has emerged a President with greatly enhanced prestige because of his determined will to resist the easy course of organized clamor. For the many dangerous things which Congress leaves undone we may be truly grateful to the President. He has shown great courage in an hour of extreme need.

If, by reason of the conditions which confronted the country, the President did his greatest service by saying "No," the list of his positive accomplishments is also important. He prevented an extra session, but he also advanced Government construction to an unprecedented point.

Socialism's Real Aim.

New York Times.

Politically Muscle Shoals long ago became a symbol. President Hoover, while opposed to Government ownership, has always been willing to see power developed, even under Government auspices, as a by-product of flood control, reclamation, or the improvement of navigation. But the extreme progressives are not content with that. Their interest is not in navigation and flood control, nor even primarily in nitrates and fertilizer, but in power. Their end is not the best utilization of a war heritage, but Government ownership of electric utilities generally. In their hands Muscle Shoals is only a fulcrum, the "Power Trust" a lever. They mean to overturn if they can the existing economic order, so far as the utilities are concerned. It is well to have this understood, for without such an interpretation of the deeper significance of the Norris plan as Mr. Hoover's veto message affords, rates and nitrates might leave the ordinary mortal confused.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Congenital Democrat Wonders Why His Party Quits States' Rights Doctrine.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am aware that it invites knowing smiles from the young and ridicule from easy-going time-servers when a disgruntled old scout begins talking about how he was brought up. But in view of the present look of things political, I find it hard to possess my soul in patience.

Even if the old-time Democracy you read about may sometimes have gone to extremes, at least it was red-blooded and to some extent consistent. I was taught, as I might say almost from the cradle, that each self-respecting Americans might be safely left to the unregulated choice of what they would eat, drink, and wear. I readily imbibed the idea that localities and States as well as individuals, should be free to manage their own affairs without interference by any outside power. I was proud of our Federal Government because under it this freedom was assured. And because the Democratic party stood for personal liberty, local and State self-government, and antipaternalism, I was glad to be a Democrat.

Today, although I rub my eyes and try to fool myself with the sight of some remnant of Democracy as it was, I must confess that my party pride is just about knocked into a cocked hat. What I see is a Democratic party overrun by prohibition apostates who laugh at personal liberty and States' rights and disgraced by leaders hell-bent for the establishment of a paternalistic government in place of the system of our sires.

What with all this, and the spectacle of a Republican President fighting for the preservation of what might once be called the crowning doctrine of the Democratic creed, I am forced to admit that, at least for the time being I take no pride in being called a Democrat.

HICKORY.

Vicious Dogs Turned Loose by Motorists in Parks—A Public Danger.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I wish through your columns to call the attention of the proper authorities to the practice of allowing dogs to run along with cars through the public streets and parkways of the city. It is a common practice of certain automobile drivers to let large dogs out of cars to race along thoroughfares to the great damage of dogs, children and motorists.

On Tuesday evening about 5 o'clock such a driver released an immense and vicious police dog near the Lincoln Memorial. This beast spied a smaller dog playing on the field and darted like a catapult at the animal, viciously attacked him, paused to bite and shake a tiny Pekingese, no larger than a kitten, and bounded on after the disappearing car of his owner. This owner never paused to investigate the damage done—namely, the injuring of two dogs and the frightening of the owners of the smaller dogs—women—almost to the verge of hysterics.

Any one would be justified in shooting such a vicious dog, which certainly should not be allowed to run at large. Isn't there some law against vicious dogs running at large?

A child might easily have been in the way and badly hurt. With a dog of the wolf nature with great fangs and bulk bearing down upon a child, what chance would he have to escape injury? A. P. GRAHAM.

Virginia Democrat Praises Veto of Muscle Shoals Bill and Warns His Party.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The President did another good day's work when he vetoed the Muscle Shoals bill. He gives renewed confidence and assurance that our Government is not yet ready to scrap its traditional policy of refusing to enter into any business in competition with private citizens.

The fact that all but three Democrats voted to pass the bill over the veto reflects no credit on that party, and will rise up to plague it in the election of 1932. Because of this record the President, who acted in the interest of all the people, has again greatly added to his prestige. I predict that a great multitude of Democrats will be voting for Mr. Hoover in 1932 unless the leaders of the Democratic party outside of Congress repudiate the stand taken by the members of that party in the Senate and assure the voters of this country that the party does not favor putting the Government into business in competition with our citizens.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Not being one of those who receive a bonus, I turn to my government insurance for a loan when in need. After my bank has failed, I get cautious and deposit a few hundred dollars in Postal Savings for a specific purpose.

Please ask your high-finance man to explain why the Government charges me 6 per cent interest for its money and gives me 2 per cent for mine. HENRY D. STYER,

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Miss Ridsdale Is Married to D. F. McCall

Ceremony and Reception in Washington Club; Bride in Satin.

THE marriage of Miss Betty Ridsdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percival S. Ridsdale, to Mr. Donald Fenton McCall, of New York, son of Dr. and Mrs. Donald M. McCall, of Muskegan, Mich., took place at noon yesterday at the Washington Club, with the Right Rev. Mgr. P. C. Gavan, of Sacred Heart Church, officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory antique satin, fashioned along close-fitting lines, with a square cut train. A veil of matching tulle was drawn close around her head, and held with a small cluster of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of ivory colored orchids and lilies of the valley.

Palms and spring flowers were arranged attractively in the spacious rooms at the club, where members of residential society gathered for the ceremony and reception which followed.

Miss Patricia Ridsdale was maid of honor and her sister's only attendant. She wore a frock of coral mousseline de soie, made with a flounced skirt and short cape edged with taffeta. The costume was completed by a picture hat in lace braid to match the gown and she carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. William McCall was best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. John Pitts Sheldon 3d, of Michigan, and Mr. John Gordon Ridsdale, of Philadelphia.

At the reception Mrs. Ridsdale and Mrs. McCall stood with Mr. McCall and his bride to receive the guests, the former wearing a gown of rose beige lace with a band of kolinsky fur at the neck and on the bell sleeves. She wore a hat of felt and straw-lace to match the fur and carried a corsage of roses. Mrs. McCall was gowned in black lace. She wore a hat to match and carried a corsage of orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. McCall left after the reception for a wedding trip, the latter wearing a tailored dress of beige flat crepe, with a dark red cowl, and a hat and fur trimmed tweed coat to match. On their return, April 1, they will make their home in New York.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. H. L. McCall and Maj. Fenton McCreery, of Flint, Mich.; Mrs. Charles Lathrop Pack, of Lakewood, N. J.; Dr. and Mrs. William Parks Belk, and Dr. and Mrs. Paul B. Cassidy, Miss Frances Joy Cassidy, Mr. Frank Henson, all of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newton Pack, of Princeton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sisson, jr., of Potsdam, N. Y.; Mrs. Harry Ferguson, Mrs. George Knox Fullarton, Mr. James Wiley, Miss Mary Thayer Davison, and Miss Louise Davison, all of New York; Miss Abby Sutherland, of Ogontz School; Mr. and Mrs. George Cassidy, Miss Vera Cassidy, Miss Betty Brown, all of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Senator and Mrs. Felix Hebert will leave today for West Warwick, R. I., where they will pass the summer at their home. They were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Marguerite Hebert. Their other daughter, Miss Catherine Hebert, and Mr. Edouard Hebert, who is a student at Georgetown University, will join their parents at the close of the school year.

Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, president of the George Washington University, is to be the guest of honor at the George Washington interfraternity prom, to be held in the large ballroom of the Willard tonight. The deans and their wives, of the different colleges and universities, will be the patrons.

Senator and Mrs. Coolidge Remain in Capital.

Senator and Mrs. Marcus A. Coolidge will be at the Mayflower until their departure next week for their home in Fitchburg, Mass.

MME. HARMODIO ARIAS, wife of the new Minister from Panama, who will take her place as chatelaine of the legation when she arrives in Washington in a few weeks. She is the wife of Dr. Arias.

Lamont Host Last Night at Small Dinner

Ambassador Tellez and Minister Prochnik Among Guests.

The Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Lamont entertained at dinner last night at their home on Kalorama road.

The guests were the Dean of the Diplomatic Corps, the Ambassador of Mexico and Senora de Tellez; the Minister of Australia and Mme. Prochnik, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Ridley McLean, Assistant Attorney General and Mrs. John Lord O'Brien, Solicitor General and Mrs. Thomas D. Thacher, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Covington, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Carlisle.

Senator David A. Reed was one of the speakers at the American Foreign Service luncheon which was held in the palm room of the Willard yesterday.

Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire; Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi; Representative Henry W. Temple, of Pennsylvania; Representative J. Charles Linthicum, of Maryland, and Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., of New York, were the other speakers and guests of honor.

Mme. de Martino, wife of the Ambassador of Italy, will not be at home today.

Mme. Filipowicz, wife of the Polish Ambassador, was the ranking guest last evening at a dinner given by the Financial Counselor of the Polish Embassy, Mr. Witold Wankowicz, at the Shoreham Hotel.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Hetzel, Mr. Jerzykowicz, the Second Secretary of the French Embassy and Mme. Bousquet, and the Secretary of the Norwegian Legation and Mme. Siqveland.

Former Senator Arthur R. Gould, who has been making his home at the Willard during this session of Congress, has returned to his home in Presque, Me.

New Belgian Envoy Is Much Feted at Home

Paul May Is Expected to Arrive in Capital at End of Month.

Although he has not booked passage to this country, the time of the arrival of the newly appointed Ambassador of Belgium, Mr. Paul May, is set for the end of this month, when he will come to Washington to assume the duties of his new post.

Mr. May has been the guest of honor at several fetes given recently by members of the American colony in Brussels, among them a luncheon, at which members of the American Club were hosts. Over 80 guests were present.

Mr. May is succeeding Prince Albert de Ligne, whose departure with Princess de Ligne and their three attractive daughters caused much regret among members of the diplomatic contingent in Washington. Prince de Ligne probably will go to Rome as ambassador.

Until the arrival of Ambassador May, business at the embassy is being carried on under the direction of Viscount de Lantaheere, who is acting as charge d'affaires.

Among those entertaining at dinner at the Willard preceding the United States Army dance on Friday, March 13, will be Col. and Mrs. R. C. Foy and Maj. and Mrs. Leonard T. Gerow. Assistant Secretary of War, Mr. Frederick H. Payne, will be the guest of honor of Col. and Mrs. Foy, and Assistant Secretary of War, Mr. F. Trubee Davison, the honor guest of Maj. and Mrs. Leonard T. Gerow.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenn To Tarry in Capital.

Former Representative and Mrs. E. Hart Fenn will move from the house they have been occupying at 1661 Crescent place to 2400 Sixteenth street, where they will be, after March 15, for a month. They then will leave for their home in Wethersfield, Conn.

Representative and Mrs. William Radford Coyle sailed Tuesday for Panama for a three-week trip, after which they will return to their home in Bethlehem, Pa. With them on the ship were Representative and Mrs. Charles L. Underhill, of Massachusetts; Representative and Mrs. Samuel S. Arentz, of Nevada, and Mrs. Robert D. Carey, wife of Senator Carey, of Wyoming.

Mrs. John T. Buckbee, wife of Representative Buckbee, of Rockford, Ill., and Mrs. Margaret Thompson Dow, resident secretary of the Congressional Club, will leave Saturday morning for a motor trip to California. En route West they will stop in Oklahoma for a visit with Mrs. Buckbee's daughter, also staying a short time in Tulsa with friends. They will be in the West about two months. Mrs. Buckbee will return to her home and Mrs. Dow will go to her home on Marthas Vineyard for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, who have been guests of Mrs. Brown's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Kinsolving, in Baltimore, sailed Wednesday night for England. They will spend Holy Week in Rome and later will go to Spain, and will then go to Paris for the month of June.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"PISCES."

IF March 6th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to noon, from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 1 p. m. to 2:15 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:10 p. m.

The planetary aspects of March 6th indicate more favorable time for those of mature age than for the young and enthusiastic. To the former, financial benefit and increased power and responsibility will be vouchsafed; to the latter, minor disappointments and slow progress.

Children born on this March 6th will always retain the spirits and disposition of their early days. They will lack in shrewdness, never take themselves seriously, and will have a keen sense of humor. They will be rather irresponsible, but always happy and contented.

If you were born on March 6, you are exceptionally intelligent. You realize your own limitations, and are never tempted to express an opinion on any subject or topic with which you are not thoroughly conversant. Your taciturnity is not a pose. It is your defense, and others, when you look wise and say nothing, credit you with more ability than you actually possess. Your air of reserve invites confidence, and, to a certain extent, you have succeeded in capitalizing silence.

You are a deep thinker, although you fail to give your thoughts words. You derive more pleasure from the role of an onlooker than you would if a participant. Your word, however, when given, is your bond. You make few promises, but always keep them. You are absolutely dependable, and people trust you implicitly. You work hard, and are rather indifferent to success, as measured by material rewards. Your chief delight is the glory of achievement. You can generally spot the weaknesses in any organization—be it a business or a home—and your "metier" is systematization, although you would hesitate to call yourself an expert along these lines.

In your home, you unbend, and your many good traits ensure you the respect, as well as the affection of those who comprise your family circle.

2—Ring Lardner, author.
3—Edward Morris, packer.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

PLANTS REQUIRE FOOD.

IT is surprising how many people water their plants quite carefully, but give not even a thought to their nourishment. Plants, like people, can be overfed, but they can also be undernourished.

When overfed they are stimulated to send forth large quantities of foliage, which is usually different from the foliage resulting from more normal development. Sometimes the leaves are smaller and usually they are born on longer stems, but stems which can not sustain themselves.

In other words, an overfed plant, while it may have luxuriant foliage, has a rather droopy appearance. Again, the leaves may be large and coarse. In either case much of the general attractiveness of the plant is gone, and overfed plants never produce flowers, except perhaps a few rather indifferent blooms. All the energy of the plant is expended in the development of foliage.

Underfed plants resemble poorly nourished people. Their foliage is sparse. The leaves are small; the flowers, when they do appear, are never well developed and their coloring is never true. The yellows are pale, the reds and whites are gray. Such plants are always the prey of insects and disease.

The best plant foods are those rich in nitrogen, which is essential to all plant development. Generally speaking, liquid manure is the best all-around food. I am always loath to recommend patent foods because, while they may be all right in the hands of a skilled horticulturist, in the hands of an amateur who is not familiar with their formulae and their uses they may do more harm than good.

Liquid manure can be easily made. Suspend a bag of manure into a barrel of water. In watering plants which need nitrogen fertilizer—that is, those which should be encouraged into greater growth—scoop up a little in a sprinkling can, diluting this with water until it is the color of weak tea. This is used for flowers coming into bud and for all plants which are not doing well. When using liquid manure water your plant well, or else, to prevent injury, use only a greatly diluted solution.

Bonemeal, which contains phosphorous, is also a safe form of food for the use of the amateur gardener. The great advantage of bonemeal is its value in making good flowers and stiff stems. It is never dangerous to apply, and you need not be afraid of using too much, for if you do it will merely remain in the soil until used. Always use enough to whiten the soil.

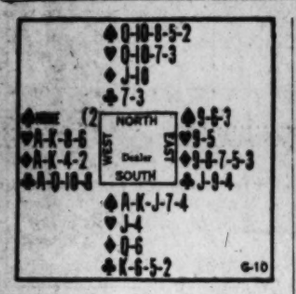
WORK ON BRIDGE



WITH the above hand, which was recently played at Contract Bridge, South bid one Spade and West four Hearts, obtaining the contract.

North opened the play by leading a Spade which, forced West, who then was in serious difficulty. He tried to drop the adverse trumps in two rounds, but North won the third, drew West's last trump, and then North and South proceeded to cash four Spades. So with a contract to win ten tricks, Declarer took seven. It might have been very different.

The Correct Procedure.

The trouble was with West's bidding; he should have doubled South's Spade bid. With his strength in Diamonds and Clubs, West could support any declaration East might make; and East might have a long weak minor which would produce much better results than West's five-card Heart suit. If West doubled, North probably would bid two Spades to shut out East—and would succeed. Also with preemption in mind, South would bid three Spades; and if West then bid four Hearts, he would be in the position described above. But West should double a second time (still informatory as it is a suit bid, of not more than three, partner has not bid and the doubler has not passed an opportunity to double). North would pass, East would bid four Diamonds, South would pass and West would become the Declarer at five Diamonds with a most remarkable outcome.

North would lead a Spade which would be trumped by West. Declarer then would be delighted when he dropped the adverse trumps in two rounds. He next would try to make the long Hearts good in dummy by leading the Ace and King and trumping a third Heart in closed hand; but would not succeed as North still would have a Heart over West.

That would not stop Declarer, however, as East would lead the Jack of Clubs and whether South's King covered or not would be immaterial; if it did not, West would play the Ten and East would lead the Club Nine. West finessing it if South again refused to cover. Therefore, playing at Diamonds, East and West would take every trick.

Another sound declaration for West would have been two Spades over South's one, thus showing a very strong hand with no losing Spades. East would have bid Diamonds and the hand would have been played as above described.

YOUR NAME
What Does It Mean?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph.D.

THE family name "Mills" is one of the many names which appear to have a simple origin, but which in reality have come down to us from several quite different sources. In most cases it is derived from the Latin "molina," and its full significance is "he who lives near the mill." Its commonest variations are "Miln," "Milne," "Milnes," and "Milns." Sometimes "Mills" is based on the French "Mille" which, in turn, is a shortened form of "Emile." "Emile" may be traced back to two quite different Latin sources according to which it may mean "work" or "flattering." There is evidence that in some cases "Mills" is based on the personal name "Milo." "Milo" has the same ultimate source as "molina," both words going back to a Greek verb meaning "to crush." Finally, "Mills" has frequently become confused with "Miles." A certain Margery Mylys is mentioned in the Hundred Rolls. The variation "Milne" occurs many times in an English document of the year 1379.

The family name "Miller" is one of the relatively few names whose original meanings are clearly indicated by their present forms. In old English records the name generally occurs in the Latinized forms "Molendinator" and "Molendinarius." The Hundred Rolls (1273) mentions a certain Adam Molendinator and a Wymund Molendinarius. "Miller" has frequently been adopted as the English equivalent of the German "Mueller" and "Muller." Common low German forms of this name are "Moller," "Moeller" and "Moehler."

The personal name "Lois" is merely a variation of "Louis." "Louis" is ultimately of Germanic origin, and may be translated "famous warrior" or "famous war."

Dare Interprets the Mode

A spring tailleur consisting of a jacket and skirt of navy blue crepe de laine. Blouse is of white georgette crepe and is worn with a navy blue leather belt. (Courtesy of Joseph Paquin, Paris.)

Paris, March 5.

THE mode has finally made up its mind to settle down somewhere or to settle "up and down" really—and I'm all out for predicting four or five changeless years, not seasons, like those that we saw following the war.

The last two years have been hectic ones in the style world, both for the mode creators and the mode wearers. Much as the mode creators would have liked to have seen the return of the days in which a woman's costume became out of style almost overnight, for financial reasons they were not anxious for this to happen from the standpoint of true modern feminine elegance and intelligence.

And it is with a sigh of contentment, if not actual relief, that we all see the settling of Dame Fashion into the carefully placed waistline at the normal height of the waistline (if it happens to be flattering to the woman who's wearing it), the to-the-instep length of evening wear, the just-below-the-calf length for afternoon wear, the modest and yet wholly intriguing pyjamas for beach wear.

I repeat, that it is with a sigh of relief, yet with the least possible tinge of disappointment. Because while we admit it was confusing, still the last two years have been rather thrilling ones! It is only after the showings of these last collections of the Haute Couture that we admit that the mode has struck its balance at last, and bids fair to remain more or less as it is for a while.

Lanvin has a special hat made of paper composition and apparently shellaced into rigid chic or chic rigidity, which is really very lovely. The brim of it looks for all the world like a lovely soft braid of hair which wraps all around your head in a coronet effect, but a braid, remember, which is flat and shellaced into place. Whereas, the crown of it is made of simple raffia, the same color as the brim, of course, woven exactly like a wide-meshed basket, and into a very flat bonnet-like shape which exactly fits the head. And the braidlike brim is made of a flat inch-wide straw which looks for all the world like the spun sugar ribbon which ties baskets of cakes in a high-class confectionery window.

Dare just knew you were wondering what to do with that odd half hour before you retire—you know, when you're tired of reading and the radio palls and you haven't had a heavy date for days, and well, you're feeling just a bit blue. So she's evolved a sure-fire way of reviving your interest in er—life. And it's as simple as sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which will tell you how to make the daintiest spring underthings you've ever seen! There isn't a woman on earth who wouldn't revive over thinking of dainty underthings, let alone making them for herself—better send for that new lingerie leaflet and see!

And a charming spring tailleur from Joseph Paquin, with a white blouse, a world of chic, and tons of charm!

• • • •

Yes, you are still to wear a muff for spring! Not a big furry one, of course, but a small one with a double purpose, like the black suede and white kid one I illustrated for you today—in the corner. This muff is a purse, you see—and apart from that, it is part of an ensemble. The rest of the ensemble is the gloves of white and black, and the little boutonniere consisting of one white and one black flower—made of kid!

Other hints on the mode are given in Dare's weekly fashion letter every Sunday in The Post.

Au revoir!

FRANCES M'DONALD

Advising the Neighbors.

DEAR Frances McDonald: I live neighbor to a newly married couple—married one year. The girl is everything a wife can be, but the husband is very inferior. She has kept on working, as he makes very little, and when she comes home she just flies around getting a nice dinner ready for him. Their phone is a party wire, and we are the other party. More than once I heard him talking to girls over the phone while his wife is out working for the roof over their heads. And I mean just that, for she started paying on their little house the minute they were married. He takes no interest in all this. He has work about four days a week and sits around the rest of the time.

About two months ago my husband offered him some work to do. He said he would "get to it" soon. Has never made a move. It would mean about $40 and is in his line, and could be done any time when he was free. Instead we see him sitting days at a time in the house or standing downtown on the street. My husband and I get furious when we see him dash out a half hour before his wife gets in, and come back as if from a day of job hunting in time to eat. So last night I was over there and she asked him to break up some wood for the furnace. He did not know I was in the kitchen with her, and he told her she had a nerve to ask a man who "had been tramping around all day" to start "chopping wood" at night. It was too much for me, and I said, "Tramping from the radio to the telephone." They both wanted to know what I meant, but I would say no more only to tell her to see that he chopped that wood—and I went home.

Now, my husband says I should have had more control over my tongue and said nothing. But I feel like saying a lot more. I feel that as one woman I owe to another to tell her that he has her fooled. That he is just a tramp and will soon be content to live on her earnings. She knows I do not like him and I know will come and ask me about what I said last night. She asked me once if I thought she should have children. I told her yes, but after she found a second husband. She said then, "Yes, I guess every one can see him as he is except me." I felt sorry then, and never spoke against him again until now. But can you imagine him starting out for an evening's enjoyment and practically telling her to go down in the cellar and chop wood after she had worked eight hours and prepared his meal besides? Am I doing my duty to keep silent in such a case?

OLDER AND WISER.

Well, telling an infatuated wife the sad truth about her husband is one duty that we personally would leave to the policewoman. It is seldom that such a woman is influenced in the least by such well-meant interest in her affairs. She knows the truth. She may not know the minute details such as the girls on the phone or faking the hunt for work. But she knows that she has settled her affections on a man who is capable of all the sneaking subterfuges, all the petty deception any man could devise. She knows he is the type. The details do not matter. She knows, too, that that type lets the woman chop the wood. So what would you be doing except being annoying and unpleasant. Your feelings are perfectly natural. To the woman who admires the normal man and regards the parasitic type with horror such a situation is appaling. But telling the girl will be productive of no good and much unpleasantness.

Your advice regarding the children was excellent. And when she actually asks for your opinion you can be as frank as you wish. But curb your impulse to rush in with the bitter truth. Advising the neighbor is a thankless job—and who should know if not one who has been doing it wholesale for years? Wives hate the people who tell them the truth about their husbands. Do not ask me why—but they do. So watch your step. And control your neighborly zeal.

"Festival of Nations" Workers Meet Tonight

Captains and junior captains doing preliminary work for the "Festival of Nations" to be held in this city April 27 to May 2 under auspices of the Girl Scouts, District, will meet for instructions this afternoon at 5 o'clock at festival headquarters in the Transportation Building.

Miss Helen Ray Hagner, box office director of the event, will distribute coupon books which will be sold throughout the city. Holders of coupons will be allowed to select their seats for the festival two weeks in advance of the public sale, which begins in April.

Spaghetti De Luxe, Serving 6.

4 tablespoons butter.
4 tablespoons flour.
2 cups tomatoes.
1 teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon paprika.
2 cups cooked spaghetti.
1-3 cup chopped celery.
2 tablespoons chopped onions.
1 cup canned or cooked fresh mushrooms.
½ cup cheese, cut fine.
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers.

Melt butter and add flour and blend. Add tomatoes and cook until creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add rest of ingredients and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake 25 minutes in moderate oven.

Muffins (12).

3 cups pastry flour.
6 teaspoons baking powder.
2-3 teaspoon salt.
½ cup sugar.
2 eggs.
1½ cups milk.
3 tablespoons fat, melted.

Mix all ingredients and beat three minutes. Half fill greased muffin pans. Bake 15 minutes in moderate oven. Serve warm with butter. Left-over muffins can be reheated by sprinkling with water and placing in paper sack, and heating five minutes in moderate oven. Leftover muffins can be cut in halves and toasted and served with coffee for luncheon or breakfast.

Fruit Salad.

1 cup diced pineapple.
1 cup diced peaches.
1 cup diced pears.
1 cup seeded white cherries.

Mix and chill ingredients. Drain well and arrange portions on lettuce. Top with French dressing.

Creole Cake.

1½ cups sugar.
3 squares chocolate, melted.
3 eggs, beaten.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.
½ teaspoon cloves.
1 cup raisins.
1 cup sour milk.
3 cups flour.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
1 teaspoon soda.

Cream fat and add sugar and chocolate. Mix well until creamy. Add all rest of ingredients and beat three minutes. Pour into two layer cake pans and bake 30 minutes in moderately slow oven. Cool and frost with chocolate icing.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

ARE HEATERS SAFE?

MRS. J. K. C. writes: Will you write on the unhealthy effects that gas stoves and hot-water heaters in kitchens have on housewives and women who are obliged to work where they are used, when they have no chimney attached? I live in a small apartment with this arrangement and I am obliged to breathe that air for a while every day. It is so bad I can taste it.

REPLY.

Our friends in the gas industry would have us believe that no harm can come from the practice you ask about. They have an association, and the association backs a scientific body charged with the duty of discovering the facts and laying down rules. All manufacturers of heating appliances are supposed to be guided by these rules.

Conditions are far better than they were when this method of procedure was adopted. But there is room for further improvement. The number of deaths from monoxide poisoning, except those due to automobile gases, is probably declining at a rate that should satisfy us. It is doubtful if the same is true of the chronic effects of mild, long-continued gas poisoning. Those effects are not dramatic. In fact, they are not easily diagnosed. Probably they are seldom suspected. They are headaches, dizziness, languor, pallor and anemia. Neither doctors nor physiologists have a satisfactory test for the state of oxidation of the blood. There are tests for carbon monoxide in the blood and, perhaps, quantitative tests for carbon dioxide, oxygen, and unburned gas, but they are not simplified to the point where they can be used at the bedside by the ordinary garden variety of physician.

The violent poison to be looked for is carbon monoxide. Carbonic acid is not very poisonous. In fact, as is the case with most poisons, it is useful when the dosage is small. In unburned gas there are some harmful substances that are usually of no practical importance. In the products of combustion of coal, wood, gas, and particularly industrial combustion, occasionally there are fumes of other harmful substances, but this, too, is outside the present subject.

Almost any apparatus leaks or discharges fumes and gases at times. Therefore, the plan of having the fire in one part of the house and the people in the other is safest. Whenever there is any sort of fire within the room there is an element of hazard. This applies to open fires, grates, coal stoves, oil stoves and gas stoves. If the stove is well built or the open fireplace never smokes, the danger is reduced. If the stove is loosely put together, or of poor material, the danger is enhanced. If it has no stack pipe or chimney, the potential harm is still further increased.

It is true that carbonic acid and water, the products of perfect combustion of carbon and hydrogen, are not harmful in small doses. But it is also true that carbonic acid in large doses is harmful, and not even atmospheric moisture is wholly guiltless.

Never Argue, Her Rule, In Seeking Happiness

London, March 5.—"Never argue with a man, for he is always wrong." "Never let a man have to look for a clean pair of socks, for it will make him bad tempered all day." These are two of the epigrams of Mrs. William Walker, of Winfleet, who with her husband was recently pronounced England's oldest couple. Walker is 95 and his wife 91, and they have lived together 72 years.

Mrs. Walker says she believes in feeding a man well, seeing that his clothes are always ready for him and letting him do as he likes. "All right, Willie, if you must," is the expression she has most often used.

NEW ENGLAND GALE SUBSIDES OFF COAST

Receding Tide Leaves Beach Strewn With Cottages and Wreckage.

Boston, March 5 (A.P.).—The storm which yesterday lashed the Northeast coast, causing damage estimated in the millions, blew itself out today. There was no recurrence of the extreme high tide, which was responsible for the greater part of the destruction.

As the sea rolled back it left in its wake a shore line strewn with splintered dwellings and summer cottages and uprooted and undermined sea walls and breakwaters. Highways and roadbeds of electric and steam railroads were washed out in many places, and road gangs labored to repair the damage.

Although the force of the tidal storm was felt all along the North Atlantic States, the most destructive blows fell on the Massachusetts and New Hampshire coasts.

Cottages Are Demolished.

Numerous summer cottages were demolished at Revere, popular Greater Boston summer resort, and at Hampton Beach, N. H.

Fear that today's tide would approach the record high of yesterday to multiply the damage already inflicted was found without foundation. The wind that had been blowing from the northeast, driving the sea upon the land, shifted to the northwest, serving to abate the heavy seas. Many sections that were flooded yesterday remained comparatively dry.

A radio message received at the Wood Hole Coast Guard Station today said the tubgoat Roger C. Sullivan, out of New York, had sunk off Hen and Chickens Lightship early today. The crew of twelve took to lifeboats and rowed to the lightship, from which they were transferred to a dredge which was taking them into New Bedford.

Steamer 22 Hours Late.

The steamer Lady Somers of the Canadian National Line reached Boston from the West Indies 22 hours late and reported encountering a furious storm Tuesday, while 300 miles south of here. Three passengers and ten seamen were injured.

Passengers on the Eastern steamship Robert E. Lee, from New York, reached here 24 hours late, having ridden the storm at anchor at the Cape Cod Canal. Rail service generally returned to normal today.

Denver, March 5 (A.P.).—A Rocky Mountain blizzard which covered Colorado, Wyoming and Montana with a blanket of snow, blocking highways and hampering air travel, subsided somewhat tonight as the storm raced eastward into the Central States.

Snow and below freezing temperatures were forecast tonight and tomorrow for parts of Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas, with a sharp drop predicted for Colorado and Wyoming. For Friday the Weather Bureau forecast fair and colder for most of the Rocky Mountain States.

Washington Fete Planned by Town

200th Anniversary to Open With Celebration in Fredericksburg.

Fredericksburg, Va., March 5 (A.P.). A long and varied program celebrating the 200th birthday anniversary of Washington will be started here tomorrow with the observance of the 200th wedding anniversary of his parents, Mary and Augustine Washington.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, the Colonial Dames of America and a delegation of school children will join in a program that will be climaxed with the placing of a wreath on the tomb of Mary Washington near Oratory Rock at 5:15 p. m. tomorrow.

While the national celebration of George Washington's bicentennial does not begin until some months later, Fredericksburg, where "the father of his country" spent so much of his time, is planning extra programs throughout this and next year. February 22, 1932, is the bicentennial date.

Baltimore Woman Wins Poetry Prize

Lizette Woodworth Reese Given Shelly Memorial Fund Award.

New York, March 5 (A.P.).—The Shelly Memorial Fund prize for poetry, established by the Mary P. Sears trust, was awarded today to Lizette Woodworth Reese, of Baltimore. The first award was made in 1930 to Conrad Aiken.

Miss Reese is 80 years old. Her sonnet, "Tears," is widely read. Some of her better known volumes are "White April," "A Victorian Village" and "Collected Verse."

The award, amounting to $800, will be presented to Miss Reese within the next few days.

Brothers Given $5,000 For Finding Lost Gems

Newark, N. J., March 5 (A.P.).—A $5,000 reward for the return of $101,555 worth of jewels which Mrs. Edgar F. Luckenbach, of Sands Point, Long Island, lost in New York, has been given to Goodwin Jarvis, 24-year-old plumber's helper and his brother Martin, of New York, who found them in a taxicab.

Detectives had been conducting a Nation-wide search for the three pearl necklaces, a pearl stickpin and two wrist watches which Mrs. Luckenbach left in a taxicab December 19 en route to a Florida train.

WHEN REVOLT FLARED IN PERU

Civilians are shown here as they aided loyal troops in quelling an uprising of rebels at Callao, Peru. The revolt which spread over Peru resulted in the resignation of Sanchez Cerro as president in favor of a junta headed by Ricardo Leoncio Elias.

revolted at Callao, port just outside of Lima, but were suppressed after 60 had been killed and 39 arrested.

A few hours later another movement developed at Arequipa, cradle of Peruvian revolutions, and a "southern junta" was set up in that department. Shortly afterward still another insurrection developed in the vicinity of Piura, in northern Peru.

Sanchez Cerro, who himself was a revolutionary ruler, and had been installed by a rebellion at Arequipa last August, moved troops to both the North and the South, but his plans were upset by the Navy, which issued an ultimatum Sunday that the president must quit.

He complied with the demand before a conference of the country's most popular men, and then retired to the Bolivar Hotel, later moving to the Lima Country Club.

In the meantime the junta which was overthrown tonight was set up. It was headed by Dr. Ricardo Leoncio Elias, chief justice; Col. Manuel Ruiz Bravo, chief of the army general staff, and Capt. Alejandro Vinces, commander in chief of the navy.

These officials sought immediately to restore the country to normal and began negotiations with both the Northern and Southern rebels, sending delegations by airplane to confer with the leaders.

But the Arequipa rebels held out, objecting to the presence of Col. Ruiz Bravo because he had ordered troops against them, and demanding the right to organize a new Peruvian government. The provisional junta accepted this suggestion.

Through the revolt the Arequipans have followed the route taken by Sanchez Cerro last August. When he began the movement he was merely a lieutenant colonel in the army, although noted as an opponent of the Leguia regime.

Just as in the present case, a group in Lima overthrew the central government and set up a junta, inviting the Arequipans to participate in a new administration.

But Sanchez Cerro stuck to his guns and demanded the full right to head the government his revolution had brought about. He flew to Lima by airplane and was acclaimed provisional president amid tumultuous scenes.

In the ensuing seven months his tenure was marked by strife, both economic and political. The Southern forces which had aided his coup eventually decided they had merely exchanged one dictator for another, and the present movement began.

Distressed Steamer Arrives in Port

Newport News, Va., March 5 (A.P.). The steamer Seminole of the Roosevelt line, which was disabled Tuesday off the coast by an accident to the fuel pump supplying the boilers, arrived here today in tow of the Coast Guard cutter Mascoutin.

Damage was confined to the propelling machinery.

GALLATIN TABLET IS OFFERED TO U.S.

Memorial for Revolutionary Swiss Soldier Made by Torrington Man.

Versailles, France, March 5 (A.P.). An offer by Maj. William E. Beale, superintendent of the American Brass Co. at Torrington, Conn., to have a tablet placed at Yorktown, Va., in memory of Baron de Gallatin, has been approved as "a pious thought" by Judge Edmond Scherdlin, president of the Paris court of appeals and descendant of the baron.

De Gallatin was a Swiss officer in command of French troops who worked in liaison with American soldiers at the siege of Yorktown, in the American Revolution.

Maj. Beale wrote to Warrington Dawson, discoverer of De Gallatin's journal of the siege, that he, like the baron, was of Swiss birth and wished to commemorate the distinguished service of the Swiss officer at Yorktown.

"The United States," Maj. Beale wrote, "is the only country I love enough to feel I would gladly give for it my life or the last penny I had in the world." But he said he wanted to recognize that little Switzerland, with the spirit of freedom, "can breed men who become leaders in worthy movements for freedom."

Forwarding the letter of Judge Scherdlin to Maj. Beale today, Dawson wrote, "It is indeed noteworthy that this gallant Swiss should have shed his blood for the sake of our national independence. It is only right that his name should be recalled in perpetuity."

You either feel GOOD or you don't

Chief Connally had both these experiences

"I FELT weak and rundown. My color showed that my blood was very pale. I suffered from poor circulation. A Pathological Laboratory made a test of my blood, and the examination showed it to be 33% below normal. It was then that I decided to take a course of S.S.S.

"In about six weeks' time, after taking S.S.S. regularly, I had another blood test made, and it showed that my blood had been restored to normal. My appetite was greatly improved; so much so, that I could eat pork, and the like, without any discomfort. And to my surprise, my skin and complexion became clear as almost new, and like a child's.

"I think S.S.S. is the most wonderful blood medicine and tonic of its kind on the market today. It has so improved my circulation and the condition of my blood that it has made me feel like a young man again, although I am 56 years old."

HOBOES' YEAR BAD; ALL JAILS CROWDED

Veteran Panhandler Who Has Not Worked in Years Voices Complaint.

COMES BACK TO VOTE

Menominee, Mich., March 5.—On the word of "Cap" Harrison Miller, hobo and panhandler of the old school, this is a tough winter. Cap is in Menominee on one of the regular visits, coming up from the South, he said, to vote at the spring election, provided any candidate requires his services.

In all his 50 years, of which 35 years have been spent "on the road," Cap never before was troubled by the employment situation because he never worked, but this year he has too much competition. He declared the better jails are so crowded it is only because of his old friendships among jailers that he is able to get in at all.

Cap claims to have been in most of the jails in the United States. He credits Oconto, Wis., with the best jail he ever was in—individual cells and light, bath and good meals with no work.

To add to his troubles Cap has lost considerable prestige among his old jungle friends. Known once as the "Sheik of Rust street," he has acquired the ignominious title of "Lefty" right here in Menominee. He holds it against the town.

About a year ago he stole a shoe salesman's sample case from the Hotel Menominee. The case contained 48 shoes. He had made several sales before being arrested on complaint of one of his customers. The shoes were all lefts. The story spread throughout hoboland and he met ridicule in the jungles instead of the respect to which his long career entitled him.

Cap originally came from the upper peninsula and claims he is still entitled to vote here. In proof of his citizenship he exhibited a prison pardon he received from Gov. Fred W. Green, of Michigan, two years ago. He was sentenced from Detroit to from one to fifteen years for burglary and was pardoned after serving sixteen months. That "rap," he said, was all a mistake.

"It was cold weather," he explained. "I was run down and had the gout from heavy living on Detroit liquor and I wanted to get ten or twenty days to straighten out in. I threw a brick through the window of a wholesale warehouse and every burglar alarm in the world went off. Because the burglar buzzers exploded they sent me up for a burglar. I ain't no burglar—I'm a needle and shoestring salesman."

No Suicides Allowed In Istanbul Schools

Istanbul, March 5 (A.P.).—Students who try to commit suicide in the classrooms should be severely reprimanded, says a ruling of the Turkish department of education.

The finding grew out of the act of a 14-year-old boy in a coeducational school here. He ran to the teacher's platform, shouted farewell to his classmates, and to one little girl in particular, and then drank poison.

His life was saved, but he is to be kept in after school every day for the rest of the year.

RIALTO

"THE LOTTERY BRIDE." United Artists' release of Arthur Hammerstein's production of a story by Herbert Stothart, with music by Rudolf Friml, featuring Jeanette MacDonald, John Garrick and Joe E. Brown, supported by Robert Chisholm, ZaSu Pitts and Harry Gribbon. Directed by Paul L. Stein. Reviewed Thursday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

It seems to me that Arthur Hammerstein, inured to the practices of the light musical stage, placed a serious handicap upon his initial screen venture by selecting a story with locales in which realism would be most difficult to achieve in a motion picture studio, no matter how expansive and well equipped. The action of this peculiarly involved romance involves the warmest of human emotions, set in environs of the utmost frigidity. By every right "The Lottery Bride" should be tropical, but instead is laid in Oslo, Norway, in the spring, and the Arctic Circle the rest of the year.

The plot is just a bit fantastic—as the libretti of operettas have a perfect right to be, unless they are to be submitted to the penetrating eye of the camera—even utilizing the flight of an Italian dirigible to the North Pole as an element of suspense and subsequent motivation for a Technicolor rescue by ship and dog sledge among vast mountains of futuristic ice so uniformly rectangular as to suggest that it was manufactured in a Gargantuan electric refrigerator expressly for this production!

The young lovers who part in anger in Oslo, only to meet again in the far North, when the girl has become the lottery bride of her sweetheart's brother, are played by Jeanette MacDonald and John Garrick, who find it a little difficult to bring complete conviction to their roles. The momentarily favored brother, as impersonated by Robert Chisholm, is a better singer than he is actor. In fact, the vocal interludes with which the piece is punctuated are well sung throughout. Miss MacDonald displaying her fine soprano to advantage on more than one occasion and Joseph Macauley and John Garrick both bringing into play voices that are better than might be expected. Mr. Macauley, by the way, is the commander of the dirigible who just happens by on his way to the Pole.

It is unfortunate that the screen imposes so rigid a demand for naturalism as it does. On the stage "The Lottery Bride," with its rousing male ensembles and picturesque settings, would be considered very stunning, indeed.

Joe E. Brown and ZaSu Pitts contribute an intermittent vein of comedy that is appreciably aided by Harry Gribbon. The Messrs. Brown and Gribbon, as manager and prospective heavyweight champion, have one drinking scene that marks the picture's high point of hilarity. Very high.

The surrounding bill is varied and, in the main, amusing. "Slim" Summerville, assisted by Eddie Gribbon, Walter Long and Lucille Hutton, appears as the bungling bugler in another Russian military comedy, "The Sargie's Playmate," and manages to make it as ridiculously ribald as usual. A Krazy Kat cartoon-comedy, "Taken for a Ride," falls something short of Mickey Mouse's inspired humor, but still is funny in an extravagant way, and Graham McNamee broadcasts news events, not all of which are of as recent occurrence as might be desired—the oversize Studebaker roadster, for example, which already has been seen on the local screen as the setting for a short-reel musical subject featured a month ago.

The bill is completed by a brief organlogue by Morton Floodas, which yesterday afternoon met with the enthusiastic favor of a matinee crowd that evidently perceived no flaw in any part of the program.

The Key to Charm

THOUSANDS of girls are asking this question—"How can I make myself the envy of others and the center of attraction to men?" The answer is simple. Pay just a little more attention to your health. It will add greatly to your charm and attractiveness. The key to charm is a fresh body that radiates health. If you are nervous, listless; if your backaches, and you feel fidgety and unhappy, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, sold by all druggists in both fluid and tablets, is a tonic that braces the entire body, overcoming nervousness, sleeplessness, and a general rundown condition in women, and those monthly miserable feelings so destructive to good looks and a pleasing personality. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been a blessing to womankind for over 60 years, and it helps the womanly organism to function properly. It is a tonic which all women should try. So many women are robbed of their natural attractiveness and good looks by periodic pains. They should try this reliable remedy.

The comment of one who has used it follows:—"I was taking care of a sick relative, and through overwork and loss of sleep I had a nervous breakdown—was not able to sleep, would be flighty and restless the whole night through. I got so weak that I could scarcely walk across the floor, could not do anything. I finally started taking the 'Prescription' and it restored my nerves and completely built me up in health."—Mrs. Lulu Boward, 814 So. Potomac St., Hagerstown, Md. Ask your druggist for

Why we spend $2,000,000 to put CAMEL cigarettes in the new HUMIDOR PACK

WE have been in the tobacco business a long-time down here at Winston-Salem and we take a lot of pride in the quality of the cigarettes we make.

While we have spent a good many million dollars advertising Camels, we've always held to the old fashioned idea that the thing that really counts is what we put into our cigarette and not what we say about it.

If we know anything about tobacco, and we think we do, Camels contain the choicest Turkish and the mellowest, ripest domestic leaves that money can buy.

In fact we have every reason to be proud of the quality of Camels as they come from the factory, but the remark of an old friend of ours from Denver some time ago emphasized a point that has been the problem of the cigarette industry for years.

As he inhaled the smoke from a Camel we gave him in our offices one morning, he sighed with very evident enjoyment and then asked jokingly, "What is this, a special blend reserved for Camel executives?"

"Certainly not," we told him. "This package of Camels was bought at the corner store this morning."

"Well," he said, "I've been a dyed in the wool Camel smoker for a good many years, but upon my soul I never got a cigarette as good as this in Denver. If you would give the rest of the world the kind of Camels you sell here in Winston-Salem, you ought to have all the cigarette business there is."

THAT statement simply emphasized again the cigarette industry's most important problem. The more we thought about it, the surer we were that he was dead right, and that somehow, something must be done.

Denver wasn't getting a fair break. Neither in fact was any other town. The only people who really knew how good Camels could be, were the folks right here in Winston-Salem.

That was due to a factor no cigarette manufacturer had ever been able to control.

Naturally there is no difference whatever in the quality of the tobacco in Camels, whether you buy them in Winston-Salem, Denver or Timbuctoo. But up to now there has been a very real difference in the condition of the cigarettes by the time they reached the smoker.

The flavor and mildness of fine tobacco depend upon the retention of its natural, not added, moisture content which is prime at about ten per cent.

In spite of our great pains always to make sure Camels left the factory with just the right amount of natural moisture, no cigarette package had ever yet been designed that could prevent that precious moisture from drying out.

THERE are three things about a cigarette that can sting the tongue and unkindly burn the throat.

(1) Cheap tobaccos.
(2) Particles of peppery dust left in the tobacco because of inefficient cleaning methods.
(3) A parched dry condition of the tobacco due to loss of natural moisture by overheating or evaporation.

Always certain of the quality of our tobaccos we had already made Camel a "dustless" cigarette by the use of a specially designed vacuum cleaning apparatus exclusive with our factory.

Now, if we could perfect a package that would actually act as a humidor and retain the natural moisture content, then Yuma, Arizona, could enjoy Camels as much as we do here at Winston-Salem.

We knew what we wanted. We tried many things. We asked the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory to help us.

After many experiments and humidity tests covering all methods of packing cigarettes came the detailed report of which this is the net:

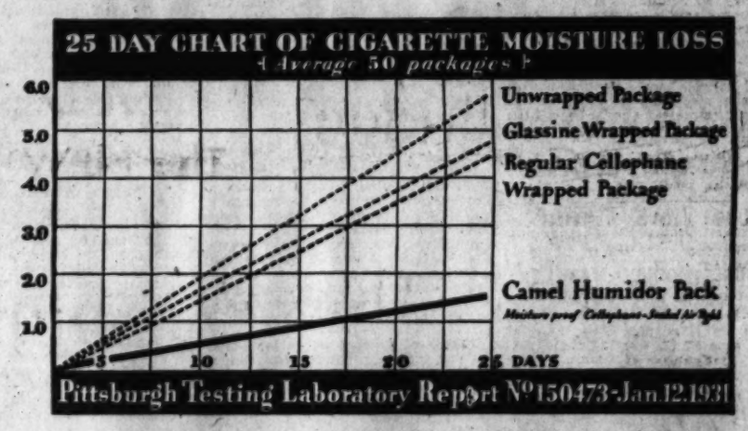
(A) No existing cigarette package, including those wrapped in glassine paper or ordinary cellophane, gives anything like adequate protection against evaporation.

(B) All cigarettes so packed tend to dry out rapidly from the day they are released from the factory.

(C) Only a waterproof material with a specially devised air-tight seal could give the desired protection.

(D) This measure, while costly, could be relied on to keep Camels in prime condition for at least three months in any climate.

If you have a technical bent, the graph below made by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory will show you the exact results of their exhaustive study.



Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory chart above graphically shows you that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition

YOU may be sure we gave this report a lot of careful study. We checked it and re-checked it and then we went ahead. We tried this device and that. At last we met success. The air-tight wrapping involved the designing of special processes, special machines.

That costs a lot of money, more than $2,000,000 the first year, but after you have tried Camels packed this modern new way we are sure you will agree it is a fine investment.

For some time now every Camel that has left our factory has gone out in this new Humidor Pack.

We have said nothing about it until now, to make sure your dealer would be able to supply you when the good news came out.

Camel smokers of course have already discovered that their favorite cigarette is better and milder now than ever before.

If you aren't a Camel smoker, try them just to see what a difference there really is between harsh, dried out tobacco and a properly conditioned cigarette.

You can feel the difference, you can hear the difference and you certainly can taste the difference.

We always have believed that Camel is the world's best cigarette.

Now we know it.

NET INCOME OF GAS COMPANY IS HIGHER

Demand for Appliances Is Reported in All-Time February Record.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The January statement of operations of Washington Gas Light Co. was filed with the Public Utilities Commission yesterday and shows operating revenues of $671,281.85 for the month, as compared with $502,184.90 for the month last year. Net income is listed at $174,047.48, as contrasted with $66,423.09 for the month a year ago.

Regarding these items there is an explanatory note on the report stating that operating revenues and net income as shown are somewhat distorted, due to variation in the billing periods between January, 1930, and January, 1931, the former having approximately 29 days and the latter approximately 35 days.

For comparative purposes, it explains, the gas revenues for both months should be adjusted to a normal 31 billing-day period. These adjustments, it states, would present a more consistent statement and would reflect the following results: Operating revenues—January, 1931, $595,440.48; January, 1930, $536,622.16. Net income—January, 1931, $98,206.11; January, 1930, $109,860.35.

Net corporate income of Georgetown Gas Light Co., the statement of which also was filed yesterday, is revealed as $17,171.10 for January, 1931, as against $20,698.80 for January, 1930.

Sales of Appliances.

The net operating revenue of this company shows a slight drop from $20,698.80 to $17,171.10.

February's sales of gas appliances by the Washington Gas Light Co. set a new all-time record for that month of the year, according to figures just compiled by the company. An increase of 143 per cent over the same month of 1930 is shown on the official sales chart.

Most of the increase in the sales of gas appliances in February is attributed to widespread demand for automatic gas heat. It is reported that more house heating jobs were sold during the past month than were sold during the first six months of last year.

Important new positions recently accepted by well known Washington executives are pointed to as evidence that the turn in business activities is of far more than seasonal significance.

Transfers in February.

Noteworthy among the February transfers in Washington's financial world was that of Arthur B. Dickinson, who has been appointed assistant general manager of the Strathmeade Community Development, which, owing to greatly accelerated activities, has made extensive additions to its executive staff.

Mr. Dickinson, long a resident of the District, goes to his new position from the Washington offices of J. W. Seligman & Co., where he was associated for years with Frank P. Morse, local head of this well known firm of investment bankers.

Prior to the Seligman connection, Mr. Dickinson was also associated with Mr. Morse when the latter represented Redmond & Co. in Washington.

While accepting congratulations from many sources, Mr. Dickinson points out that the pleasant association of years gone by could not be terminated without sincere regrets, notwithstanding the exceptional opportunities presented by the new Strathmeade connection.

CHANGES JOB

ARTHUR B. DICKINSON,
Leaving the local office of J. & W. Seligman & Co. to become assistant general manager of the Strathmeade Community Development.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, March 5.—Steel plant operations in the Mahoning Valley probably will show a slight increase next week for the current level of 48 per cent, Dow, Jones & Co. says. A week ago operations were lowered to 48 per cent from 50 per cent. Mill managers now report automobile steel is being taken in greater quantities. One pipe line contract, unplaced as yet, may permit higher operations at one of the larger independents in the district.

J. J. Merberry Co. today reported increased sales for February, as compared with the corresponding month of 1930. Sales last month totaled $1,696,717, against $1,633,433 reported for February of last year.

Holdens Motor Body Builders, Ltd., of Adelaide, Australia, have approved merger of that company and General Motors Australia, Ltd., into a new company to be known at General Motors & Holdens, Inc.

The gold statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York for the week ended March 4, shows imports of $5,382,000 from Argentina, $1,230,000 from Uruguay and $150,000 chiefly from other Latin-American countries. There were no exports and there was no net change in gold earmarked for foreign account. In addition, the daily statement today showed imports of $2,919,300 from Colombia and $17,500 from the Dutch East Indies.

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. was reported today to be increasing its operations, after a slowing up recently. The slackening is understood to have been in connection with the closing out of a large pipe order.

Copper buying diminished in volume in both the domestic and foreign markets. The trade pointed out that the reduction in purchasing was a natural development after the heavy buying of the last two weeks, when the immediate needs of consumers were well supplied.

Directors of the Postal Telegraph & Cable Co. omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock due at this time. A statement said that while gross earnings so far realized this year are slightly better than in the last quarter of 1930 and reductions have been made in operating expenses, the estimated results for the present quarter do not justify declaration of a dividend.

Effects of lowered prices for crude oil and refined products were shown in a tabulation of dividend disbursements ordered by the Standard Oil group of companies for the first quarter of 1931.

The purchase of the Beaver, Meade & Englewood, an 85-mile railroad in Oklahoma by Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad for $1,850,000 was announced by M. H. Cahill, president of the Katy lines.

Lorillard's Stock Row Nearing End

Agreement Looms Between Stockholders, Directors of Tobacco Firm.

Richmond, Va., March 5 (A.P.).—The News-Leader says today that differences between Richmond stockholders and directors of P. Lorillard Co., over proposed revision of a plan to sell stock to company officers and employes, and for revision of a bonus by-law, are expected to be ironed out before the annual meeting March 10 at Newark, N. J.

Unless the differenbes are settled, the paper says, a move started yesterday in United States District Court at Newark, for a temporary injunction will be pushed. The paper says stockholders here do not believe this extreme move will be necessary.

The paper says the plan itself is not the objection, but the wisdom of the proposed changes at this time is questioned by powerful interests here.

New York Call Money Firms at 2 Per Cent

New York, March 5 (A.P.).—Call money firmed to 2 per cent on the New York Stock Exchange today, the first change since January 2 last, when the rate dropped to 1½ per cent after renewing at 3 per cent. During the holiday period demand for funds carried the rate as high as 4 per cent.

The official renewal rate today was 1½ per cent, but heavy calling of loans made it apparent that the rate would go above that figure. It was estimated that banks called $40,000,000 in loans for their needs in connection with the $100,000,000 financing by the City of New York and the withdrawals by the Treasury Department together with month-end settlements.

Resignation of Legge Is Held Likely Today

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Legge of the farm board spent an hour with President Hoover yesterday and there were indications afterward that formal announcements of his resignation would be made soon.

Some time ago, Legge indicated to the President he would step out soon after March 4, to resume work with the International Harvester Co. No definite date has been set.

It was reported last night that the formal announcement would be made today. Legge said any statement must come from the White House, and the White House was silent.

Railroad Workers Face Reduction in Salaries

London, March 5 (A.P.).—Blanket reductions affecting upward of a million railroad workers in the British Isles were recommended tonight by the Railway National Wage Board after hearing arguments from the carriers and the men.

Employers had sought a reduction, but the unionized workers countered with a demand for increases which would bring the basic average wage to 3 pounds (about $15) a week. The reduction decreed roughly approximates 2.5 per cent.

Woolworth's February Sales Show Increase

New York, March 5 (A.P.).—Although February sales of F. W. Woolworth Co., increased $145,515 over January, they fell 3.2 per cent behind the total reported for February of 1930.

Total sales last month were $19,385,584, compared with $19,240,069 for January of this year, and $20,030,307 for February last year. Sales for the first two months this year aggregated $38,627,929, an increase of 0.5 per cent over $38,435,467 for the corresponding months of 1930.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, March 5 (A.P.).—An early advance in cotton on relatively steady Liverpool cables today was followed by reactions under this realizing combined with some scattered selling which was accompanied by talk of an easier technical position and expressions of uncertainty as to the extent of the prospective reduction in acreage. May contracts after advancing to 11.49 sold off to 11.37, 12 points net lower, but met trade buying at the decline and closed at 11.37. The general list closed steady at net declines of 6 to 9 points.

The opening was steady 1 to 3 points higher on the steadiness of Liverpool which stiffened up just before trading here started, and reports of comparatively light offerings. Trading was quiet, but the buying became a little more active after the call and prices worked up to 11.25 for March and 12.03 for December, later in the morning, or about 5 to 6 points net higher. The demand then tapered off and prices sagged during the middle of the day under realizing and liquidation combined with some Southern and local selling.

March sold off to 11.11 and October to 11.87 under the offerings which were supposed to come partly from brokers operating for the cooperative interests, with the spot interest estimated at about 9 to 12 points during the middle of the afternoon. This dip seemed to meet an increased trade demand, attributed partly to covering against the near Indian connection, however, and the near July offered up 3 or 4 points from the lowest in the late trading.

Sentiment was mainly as to prospective reduction in acreage seemed to be emphasized by reports from Washington quoting the chairman of the Federal Farm Board to the effect that there would be some reduction, but he saw little chance for much reduction in acreage sufficient to correct the situation growing out of the large supply of cotton. There was also a private report from New Orleans that the chairman of the acreage committee of the American Cooperative Association had practically decided that to get better prices for the next crop farmers must reduce their acreage sufficiently to bring supply and demand into balance. Far Eastern buying reported here in the late trading was supposed to reflect recent developments in India.

Liverpool cables said Continental buying had been supplied by realizing and selling on the easier ruling of Egyptian cotton. Exports today 36,501 making 5,135,689 so far this season.

Port receipts 17,869. United States port stocks, 3,976,139.

CARNERA BATTERS OUT DECISION OVER MALONEY

Westbrook Pegler Says

NEW YORK, March 5.—In a fling at journalism, the myriad-minded James J. Johnston, manager of prize fighters, promoter of prize fights and, for several years, the Col. E. M. House of the New York cauliflower administration, states that the trouble with prize fighting nowadays is the general incompetence of the people who handle the athletes.

Inexperienced tailors, delicatessen keepers and ordinary loafers obtain the professional incipient rights to pugilists and, knowing nothing whatever about fighting themselves, are unable to coach their boys. And, knowing nothing whatever about prize fighting management either, they overmatch them and fight them to exhaustion in a very short time.

Well, now, the matters mentioned by Mr. Johnston are quite so, but I believe that as chairman without portfolio of the most influential prize fight commission in the world, Mr. Johnston will have to answer for the most important trouble with prize fighting, which is the serio-comic solemnity with which the New York commission has attempted to govern the industry. The principal charm of the prize-fighting racket is its mischievous irresponsibility, and when the New York commission took on this rumbling dignity it was a good deal as though the Interstate Commerce Commission had suddenly decided to regulate the game of marbles in all the school yards of the United States and suspend the boys for fudging and refusing to knuckle down.

The fact is that for all their guile the members of the prize fighting industry are a child-minded lot who would be likely to receive a more understanding and successful administration from some commission on juvenile delinquency, as is shown by the fact that whenever a pugilist does come along who is found to have read a book without any pictures in it the magazines run articles about him.

I do not wish to seem to be taking the problems of the racket too seriously myself, but it does occur to me that even in the days of the least restraint the interests of the public suffered no particular harm, whereas, under the present plan, the patrons have been bilked of almost a million dollars in three successive heavyweight fights under Garden management which ended in untimely fouls. To be sure, the commission did not commit these fouls, but it did condone all of them and, by lending itself to the exploitation of the shows, tended to exaggerate the sums which the public stood to lose and did lose. Under the old, casual system of matchmaking, these three bouts might have drawn a maximum of $150,000, and the sole office of the commission in connection with them was to magnify them and thump the tub.

CHILDISH MINDS IN GAME

This exaggeration, in turn, has quite naturally attracted the professional interest of the more aggressive types of miscreants, and the time arrived when a member of the Illinois prize fight commission and a very distinguished racketeer, who has since fallen under machine gun fire, paid a simultaneous visit to Jack Dempsey's training quarters in Chicago the night before Dempsey was to fight Gene Tunney. Somehow, vigilant as they are to protect the fair name of the sport, the commissioners have a very liberal tolerance for parties of the most sinister reputation, issuing licenses to them quite freely, either directly or through their dummies.

Now, in the days for which Mr. Johnston is at present issuing a rather extended sigh under his signature, there were not, to the best of my recollection, many such characters engaged in the sport. The more prominent managers were such persons as Mr. Johnston himself, Dumb Daniel Morgan, Silent Charlie Harvey, Uncle Williamson, Prof. Will McCarney, James Joplin Bronson, Barber Tom Jones and the Rabelaisian Leo P. Flynn. Though these boys were in no way careless of their chances to do something to one another, their offenses were only pranks after all. There was no intimidation by the gun, even if, sometimes, unprepossessing parties did breathe down the collars of the boxing writers at the ringsides, urging them to shade their decisions one way or another under penalty of violence, and the imposition of the customers

PRANKS IN GOOD OLD DAYS

Nats Hammer New Ball in Practice

Hargrave, Rice and West Lead Mates With Bat.

Hayes Now on Scene Preparatory to Signing

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BILOXI, Miss., March 5.—Any doubt about the new ball, adopted for the coming season, being slower than used in the recent past or that the so-called raised seams give the pitchers an advantage, was dispelled at the Nationals' workout this morning.

With Bill ("Pinky") Hargrave, Sam Rice, Sam West and Ed Kenna doing most of the heavy hitting, drives went through the infield like bullets while the outfielders were run ragged chasing loopers. If the reports that the new ball was adopted to benefit pitchers were made to boost the flingers' morale, the plan has failed as far as the Johnson twirling corps is concerned, for all declare that they see no difference between the sphere to be used during the coming season and the type of ball furnished last year.

"General" Alvin Crowder took a turn on the hill this morning marking his 1931 debut, while others who toiled were Art Fidler, Carl Fischer, Bobby Burke, Lloyd Brown and Al Schacht.

Hayes on Scene, Very Peppy.

A new player made his appearance at the drill, Infielder Jack Hayes having arrived during the night. The "Alabama Wild Man" has lost none of his pep or fielding ability and surprised all by crashing out three clean drives in his first turn at the tee.

Hayes has not accepted President Clark Griffith's contract terms for the coming season, but the fact that he is here and was allowed to work out this morning shows that he and the Nationals' owner are not far apart in their salary differences. Hayes has been offered a raise, but believes that he is entitled to a larger one. He and President Griffith no doubt will confer shortly and reach an agreement.

While Hayes is rated merely as a utility man, with "Buddie" Myer scheduled to get the second-base assignment at this writing, he is a mighty important cog in Manager Johnson's baseball machine, being able to put up a good game anywhere in the infield except at first base. Johnson himself admits that Jack is Myer's superior as a fielder and should this youngster suddenly show some hitting power he would supplant Myer as a regular.

Schacht Disgraced By Scribe's Hit.

Coach Al Schacht is in disgrace at the camp here. While at Hollywood in the movies he played ball every Sunday and was "popping off" yesterday regarding the fine manner in which his arm has responded. "I believe I could win in the majors this year," he said, whereupon one of the scribes gave him what the players call the "bronx cheer."

"I'll just bet you a buck I can strike you out two out of three times," Schacht retorted, and the bet was decided today, the writer driving the first offering down the third-base line and then following with a clean liner to left field.

This afternoon and tonight, all was quiet along the Mississippi Sound as far as Mr. Schacht was concerned.

Johnson and Bolton Slightly Hurt.

Two minor injuries were reported at this morning's drill. Manager Johnson split a finger while hitting fungoes to the fly chasers, while a foul skidded along one of the digits on Catcher Cliff Bolton's hand and scraped off a slice of skin.

Outfielder Sammy West has not given his throw arm a test, but he is working hard getting himself in tip top shape otherwise. He is confident that his flipper will be all right, but, on Trainer Mike Martin's advice, is making no throws of more than 30 or 35 yards.

Most of the Nats hied themselves to the golf course this afternoon to witness one of two handicap matches played between Washington players. Sam Rice essayed to use only a mid-iron against Bobby Burke, who carried a full set of clubs, and Rice won by five strokes, turning in an 84.

ALL'S fair in love and war according to Gen. Hsiang Chi. Capturing an army is one thing and knowing what to do with it after it is captured is another. Food was probably one of Gen. Chi's greatest worries and feeding 100,000 extra men was out of the question. The general could at least have killed his prisoners before burying them but he probably figured that this would be a lot of unneccessary labor. Burying 100,000 men alive is not a pleasant thought but it was all a matter of course with Chinese generals of 2,300 years ago.

• • • •

In ancient Rome men who wished to run for office dressed themselves in white to signify purity and their high-minded intention to deal justly —if elected.

• • • •

The grasshopper is a slow flyer but it is a known fact that swarms of these insects fly without a stop across the Mediterranean Sea to Europe and swarms hatched on the slopes of the Rocky Mountains take to the air and do not alight until they have reached the State of Iowa, 500 miles away.

Majors' All-Star Money Team Drawing Annual Wage of $310,000, Survey Shows

Ruth Heads Outfield Commanding Salary of $150,000.

By DIXON STEWART.

NEW YORK, March 5 (U.P.).—Baseball's all-star money team will cost major league magnates a total of $310,000 in salaries for the 1931 season, a United Press survey revealed today.

The all-star club, selected on a basis of salaries rather than on playing ability, includes:

Player and team	Salary
Babe Ruth, Yankees, rf	$80,000
Rogers Hornsby, Cubs, 2b	50,000
Hack Wilson, Cubs, cf	35,000
Al Simmons, Athletics, lf	35,000
Mickey Cochrane, Athletics, c.	25,000
Lou Gehrig, Yankees, 1b	25,000
Left Grove, Athletics, or George Earnshaw, Athletics, p.	25,000
Fred Lindstrom, Giants, 3b	20,000
Glenn Wright, Brooklyn, or Travis Jackson, Giants, ss	15,000

Apparently, young men considering baseball as a career will do well to take up outfielding. Except for Rogers Hornsby, whose salary covers his recompense for managing as well as for playing, the highest stipends go to outfielders. Ruth, Wilson and Simmons are far ahead of any rival, the other high-priced outfielders being Herman and O'Doul, Robins, and Cuyler, Cubs, $20,000; Heinie Manush, Senators, $18,000; Goose Goslin, Browns, and Paul and Lloyd Waner, Pirates, $16,000.

Pitchers are next in line, with Earnshaw and Grove drawing $15,000 each. Dazzy Vance, who topped the National League last season at $0,000, is holding out for a $6,000 increase this year.

Salaries of other pitching stars are estimated as follows: $18,000, Malone and Root, Cubs; $16,000, Bush, Cubs, and Grimes, Cardinals; $15,000, Marberry, Hadley and Jones, Nats; Pennock, Pipgras and Ruffing, Yankees; Ferrell, Indians; Hallahan and Haines, Cardinals; Kremer, Pirates; Blake and Smith, Cubs; Fitzsimmons, Hubbell and Walker, Giants.

Mickey Cochrane's salary is believed to be more than twice that of any other catcher except Gabby Hartnett, of the Cubs, who will draw $20,000. Bib O'Farrell and Frank Hogan, Giants, and Jimmy Wilson, Cardinals, are reported to draw $12,000 each, with Dickey, Yankees; Ruel, Red Sox; Sewell, Yankees; Lopez, Robins; Spenver, Senators, and Hemsley, pirates, in the $10,000 class.

First basemen fare best among the infielders, with Gehrig topping the list at $25,000; Bill Terry wants a like sum from the Giants and has been offered $22,500, while Morgan, of Cleveland, is asking $20,000. Jimmy Foxx draws $20,000 from Connie Mack, with Lou Fonseca, Cleveland, and Bissonette, Robins, listed

HITTING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5 (A.P.).—Joe McCarthy gets more and more enthusiastic about his New York Yankees as the days go by. He was talking today about the pitchers.

"I am not talking about the speed and curves they have," said Marse Joe, "but I have been impressed by the way they do their work. Even the young pitchers perform as if they know what it is all about. I must say I like the looks of these pitchers."

Bucky Harris Hurt By Batted Ball.

Sacramento, Calif., March 5 (A.P.).—Manager Stanley R. Harris, of the Detroit Tigers, joined his own casualty list today when a batted ball struck him on the leg and he had to be carried from the field.

Although X-ray reports will not be available until tomorrow, the attending physician said he did not believe a bone was fractured. Harris will not be able to leave the hotel for several days, however.

Comiskey Takes First Look at Chisox.

San Antonio, Tex., March 5 (A.P.).—Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, had his first look today at the 1931 edition of the club. Whatever his opinions were he kept them to himself, but asked lots of questions.

Smead Jolley, the big outfielder, arrived in camp and immediately started blasting the baseball, driving two out of the park in his first workout.

Quinn Warns Boston Of Discipline.

Pensacola, Fla., March 5 (A.P.).—The Boston Red Sox practice session was cut short here today to give Owner Bob Quinn a chance to get acquainted with his hired hands.

The usually genial prexy gave his players a stern lecture, which included a warning that all must obey Manager "Shano" Collins to the last letter. He advised the latter to draw up a list of strict training rules, the lack of which, he said, has kept his team in the American League cellar too many years.

Browns Play Tie In Brief Game.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 5 (A.P.).—Bill Killefer surprised everyone in the Browns camp here today when he divided his squad for a five-inning exhibition game. The score was 2 to 2 at the end of the game.

The players were eager and anxious for the game as the routine practice had become somewhat tiresome. Goose Goslin led one team while Jim Austin was in charge of the other.

Rookie Outfielders in Giants' Line-Up.

San Antonio, Tex., March 5 (A.P.).—Two rookie outfielders appear in the the first official New York Giant line-up of the training season.

John McGraw today picked Jim Bryan, youngster from Dixon, Tenn., and Joe Moore from Gause, Tex., to start against Dallas of the Texas League in the Giants' first exhibition game Saturday.

Quinn's Spit Ball Baffles Rookies.

Clearwater, Fla., March 5 (A.P.).—Jack Quinn exhibited that ancient spitter of his today and had the Brooklyn Robins' rookies breaking their backs swinging at it.

John Picus was touched up for two runs and six hits in four innings, but whenever he called on the spitter the boys could do nothing but swing wildly at it or lift pop flies.

Cub Regulars Win With 5 in Ninth.

Avalon, Calif., March 5 (A.P.).—The Chicago Cubs today looked like the Cubs of two years ago in scoring five runs in the ninth inning to defeat the irregulars, 9 to 6, in a practice contest.

Joss Petty was the victim of the rousing finish and before the game was won had given up two singles, a walk, a double and a homer. Sheriff Blake pitched the first four innings for the irregulars and gave only four hits, and Leroy Herman, who finished for the regulars, benefited by the five runs to the extent of receiving credit for the victory.

Discouraged Rookie Quits Phils.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 5 (A.P.).—One man was added to the Phillies squad today and another was subtracted. Pinkey Whitney, star third sacker, is the new arrival. Chet Nichols is the player who left. Nichols, who has had trouble with his arm since last summer, became discouraged after working out here a few days and obtained permission from Manager Shotton to return home.

The first fielding drill of the training season was held today.

Augusta M. A. Host To Prep Boxing Meet

Staunton, Va., March 5.—The South Atlantic Prep School boxing tournament starts Friday at 3 o'clock, at the Augusta Military Academy Gymnasium, Fort Defiance, Va. There are six entries: Greenbrier Military Academy, Lewisburg, W. Va.; Oakridge Military Academy, Greensboro, N. C.; Blackstone Military Academy, Blackstone, Va.; Fishburne Military School, Waynesboro, Va.; Staunton Military Academy, Staunton, Va., and the defending champions, Augusta Military Academy, the host team.

T. C. Brockman, New York City and Baltimore, who, last year, refereed the collegiate tournament, will be the third man in the ring. Johnnie La Rue, coach of the Virginia boxing team; Buss Malone, coach of the Washington and Lee boxing team, will be the judges.

The finals will be held Saturday night.

Eastern Wins In Tourney At W. & L.

Captial Team Ousts Staunton Five, 29-20, in First Round.

Kane Leads Attack; Danville Beats Fishburne.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., March 5.—Eastern High's Basket Ball Team, joint holders of the District of Columbia school championship, forged into the second round of the Washington and Lee University's court tournament here this afternoon when it passed safely over its first opponent, the Robert E. Lee High Team, of Staunton, Va., by the score, 29 to 20.

Results of other games follow: Central Newport News, 32; Pulaski (Va.) High, 8. Wilson (N. C.), 29, Shenandoah, 23. Spartansburg, 29; Jefferson High (Roanoke), 22. Benedictine, 25; Massanutten, 19. Danville, 24; Fishburne, 13. Lexington, 28; South Boston (Va.), 21. Charlotte (N. C.), 38; Lynchburg, 16. Raleigh (N. C.), 35; John Marshall, 26.

Capt. Barnie Kane, of the Washingtonians, put up a brilliant bit of individual play to place his team in front at the start and to keep it there throughout the fray, Kane, with six field goals and a free toss to his credit, led the scoring by a comfortable margin, his closest competitor being Mitchell, forward for the losers.

Eastern Holds 11-8 Lead at Half.

The Confederates offered stiff competition to the Eastern outfit from start to finish, the eventual winners holding but an 11-8 lead at the half.

Courtney, substituting for the injured Eastern guard, Zola, put up a good deefnsive game throughout the fray and pocketed a basket from the floor and one from the charity stripe. The work of big Bill Noonan, giant center of the Washingtonians, was also noteworthy.

Star Women Golfers Defeated in Upsets

St. Augustine, Fla., Jan. 5 (A.P.).—The great upsets today eliminated from the Florida East Coast golf championship the pair that had been counted as finalists, Diana Fishwick, British champion, and Virginia Van Wie, Chicago.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, brought defeat to Miss Van Wie when she laid the Chicago girl a dead stymie on the eighteenth hole, preventing her from squaring the match.

Mrs. H. D. Sterrett, Hutchinson, Kans., took the match from Miss Fishwick, 4 and 2. Mrs. Sterrett, playing great golf, was out in 38 to be one up at the turn. She piled up her added advantage when Miss Fishwick three-putted two holes and was short on another.

20,000 at Miami Battle See Irishman Stage Game Rally But Giant Is Victor

THE WINNER

PRIMO CARNERA.

Crowd Boos Verdict After Courageous Finish of Loser.

Primo's Body Target; Maloney Scores at Long Range.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN STADIUM, Miami, Fla., March 5 (A.P.).—Primo Carnera, despite his celebrated cracked rib, received the decision of Referee Elmer (Slim) McLelland, of Detroit, tonight after a close ten-round match with Jimmy Maloney, of Boston. Twenty thousand saw the bout. There were no knockdowns.

The crowd attending the last of Florida's winter fistic festivals booed the verdict lustily, apparently in the belief that the Irishman had won the honors. Jimmy spotted Primo 73½ pounds and gave the Italian giant an aggressive fight all the way.

"Slapsey Maxie" Rosenbloom, of New York, the light heavyweight champion, stepped out of his class to beat Marty Gallagher, Washington, D. C., heavyweight, in the eight-round semifinal. Rosenbloom clouted and jabbed Gallagher most of the way to win the judges' decision.

ROUND ONE—Carnera's right side, for several inches above the waist line, was tightly taped with adhesive. The Italian slid out of his corner like a ship moving away from its dock and wrestled Maloney to the ropes. Jimmy dug his left to the region of the cracked rib. Carnera was warned for hitting on the break and one punch grazed the referee's ear. Carnera awarmed over his smaller rival as Maloney punched both hands to the body. Carnera clubbed wildly with both hands and hurt Maloney with a solid right to the head. The crowd roared as Jimmy stung Primo with a left hook to the jaw. The Irishman leaped at his ponderous foe like a bull terrier, but was punished badly along the ropes. Maloney was staggered by a heavy right to the head but refused to cover. Jimmy ducked a right chop at the bell.

ROUND TWO—Carnera came out jabbing, but backed away from a left to his damaged side. Maloney smashed a hard right to the head and the crowd yelled. Carnera charged like a wild bull, but Maloney rushed back and forced the big fellow to give ground. Both were swinging from their heels in a wild mix-up.

Jimmy bobbed and weaved out of the giant's reach as he played for the body. He hack Primo missing. Maloney barely ducked a left uppercut as he dodged from a corner. Maloney was wrestled to the floor from a mixup along the ropes, but there was no count. Carnera was skipping and jabbing in a fancy exhibition of elephant footwork at the bell.

ROUND THREE—Carnera rushed across the ring and almost fell through the ropes as he missed Maloney completely. The Italian grinned sheepishly and began sparring. Maloney hung two hard rights that grazed Primo's chin and then backpedaled. Carnera battered Maloney with both hands along the ropes as Jimmy tried desperately to counter to the body. Jimmy had a lot of trouble getting inside of Primo's long reach. Maloney took a stiff left clout to the ear as he stepped away. Carnera was extremely wild with his punches as he chased his opponent. Jimmy landed a light left to the jaw at the bell.

ROUND FOUR—No medical attention has yet been required in Carnera's corner. The black-haired giant came out sparring and shifting with the speed of a bantamweight. Maloney flew into a clinch. Primo slipped and went to his knees as he backed away from a stiff left to the stomach. The Italian laughed, jumped up and shook hands with Maloney. Jimmy curled his left around Carnera's neck and tried hard to score with body punches. He spent most of the time, however, bouncing off the big fellow's arms.

They did a lot of sparring without any damage to show for it. Maloney absorbed a stiff blow from Carnera's elbow just before the bell.

ROUND FIVE—Carnera came out fast and they sparred until Maloney connected with a left swing to the ear. Primo was forcing the fight at a fast clip and obviously to put over a finisher. Maloney jumped in and out of reach, frequently swinging with both feet off the floor, in flying attempts to reach his target. Carnera was flustered by Maloney's tactics. Maloney rolled with Carnera's attempts to jab and they were exchanging long-range swings at the bell.

ROUND SIX—Maloney bounced back to the ropes after taking a straight left and was jolted by a short left hook. Carnera boxed on his toes and moved rapidly in search of an opening. Maloney landed occasional lefts to the body, but he was generally beaten to the punch. Jimmy made the big fellow wince with a left to the cracked rib. Maloney dug both hands to the body and easily ducked Primo's counter swings. The Irishman brought a roar as he swung a hard right to the head just before the bell.

ROUND SEVEN—Maloney kept the fight at long range as far as possible, blocking or rolling with Carnera's left leads. Jimmy whacked both hands to the body, but took a stiff left to the nose. The Irishman was forcing the fighting for the time being and kept Primo missing. Primo had little

6 CHAMPIONS DEFEND C. U. HONORS

Quinn and Reichman Again Seek Titles at Brookland.

SIX defending champions, team and individual, are slated to appear in the second annual Catholic University Indoor Track and Field Meet tomorrow night in Brookland Gymnasium. The meet program is featured by the "Ryan Thousand," in which Ray Conger, national mile champion and national indoor thousand-yard champion, will race against several outstanding college athletes.

Ed Quinn, Maryland University freshmen, has entered in defense of his District of Columbia A. A. U. 50-yard title. He also will compete in the Abbey Club invitation sprint series of 40 and 50 yard races.

George Gwinn, former Johns Hopkins star, will try to retain his crown in the 1-mile run and in addition will bid for victory in the 2-mile run, which was not conducted last year.

Reichman to Defend 880-Yard Title.

Al Reichman, Tech High School ace, has entered the 880-yard run again in the scholastic division. He won this event last year in 2 minutes 10 seconds, good time considering the condition of the track.

P. Cooper, of Maryland University, is to attempt his second consecutive win in the 3-mile run, which this year is to decide the local A. A. U. championship.

POST TOURNAMENT STARTS MONDAY WITH 3 GAMES

Crescent and Nativity in Opener

DeMolay-Red Stars, St. Martins-Whirlwinds Clash.

Palace-D. G. S. Plays Mercury in Feature Tuesday.

To the Crescent A. C. and the Nativity quintets goes the honor of playing the first game of The Washington Post's Fifth Annual A. A. U. Championship Tournament. These 145-pound rivals are scheduled to take the Tech High Gymnasium floor at 7:30 o'clock Monday night to start the parade of some 125 games which will be necessary to decide the District A. A. U. championships in the seven classes.

Two unlimited contests, promising to be typical of the finish fights that have marked previous Post tournaments, will follow on the Monday night program. The crack De Molay Team meets the Red Stars at 8:30 o'clock, and St. Martin's, considered by many a "dark horse," tackles the Eastern Whirlwinds at 9:30 o'clock.

As has been the case in previous tournaments, the nominal fee of 25 cents will gain admission to each night's program.

Southwest Rivals To Clash.

Tuesday night will find Southwest staging a battle royal on the neutral Tech court. The Palace-D. G. S. and Mercury fives, both from below the Mall, are scheduled to battle against elimination at 9:30 o'clock. Mercury won a game from Palace early in the season. The D. G. S. tossers aim to even matters and in addition move a step nearer the unlimited title.

Two other promising unlimited battles are scheduled Tuesday. The Trinity and Potomac Boat Club fives will open the program at 7:30 o'clock, while the Mount Vernon and Y. M. C. A. teams, long prominent in Post tournaments, will clash at 8:30 o'clock.

Members of The Post's sports staff, in cooperation with District A. A. U. officials, diligently have complete plans for the tournament.

Second Gymnasium May Be Used.

There is a possibility that another gymnasium may have to be obtained to insure the completion of the tournament by March 31. In the event that the staging of games on two courts is found necessary due to the record entry, it is probable that only the early-round games in some classes will be staged at the added gym, with semifinals at Tech.

With few exceptions, the weighing of the lighter class players was completed last night at the Boys Club. As has been the case in other years, only a few players failed to make the required poundage. Among those who made the grade before a number of rival players was Tommy Hook, Saks Clothier star, who many thought would be unable to compete in the 125-pound class.

A final chance for those players who have not yet weighed will be given tonight at the Boys' Club between 7 and 8 o'clock.

D. G. S. NINE MEETS.

The District Grocery Stores A. C. will hold a baseball meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at 2001 Sixth street northwest. All old and new candidates are invited to attend.

PREP FIVES BUSY.

Landon and Friends basket ball teams meet today in a game which develop some of the closest playing of the prep school variety this year. The action starts at 3:30 o'clock at Friends.

Devitt Prep goes over to Baltimore today for a match with Loyola High's tossers, while Bethesda-Chevy Chase and Georgetown Prep are slated to hook up at Garrett Park.

WOODWARD JUNIORS SCORE

Woodward School Juniors triumphed over the Friends School Juniors yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. to the tune of 20-to-9. The winners contributed most of their scoring in the first half, at which time they led 16-5.

Reynolds, a newcomer to Woodward, led the scorers with 11 points.

STOCKS GAIN 1 TO 4 POINTS IN RALLIES

Encouraging Steel Report Is Factor in Vigorous Price Recoveries.

New York, March 5 (A.P.).—After a week of decline, the stock market felt entitled to a rally today and came back vigorously.

The new short interest created during the recent weakness of the rails and industrials was prodded into covering by bullish operations in the steels and utilities and with the exception of the first hour or so the market was higher all day. Net gains of 1 to 4 points were liberally sprinkled through the prominent leaders. Trading, however, was relatively quiet, and the turnover of 2,700,000 shares was the smallest in a fortnight.

Industrials made a tardy response to yesterday's steel trade news, while the utilities more emphatically expressed their relief at the adjournment of Congress. Furthermore, the market heard encouraging reports of increasing steel mill activity in the Youngstown area. With Wednesday's large batch of unfavorable dividend actions out of the way and with the edge taken off the railroad statistics, bear traders encountered substantial resistance and stood aside after rather ineffectual attempts to dislodge further liquidation of carrier shares.

American Can Leads.

American Can stood out with its net gain of 4½. Important stocks up at least 3 included American Telephone, International Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey and Atchison. The gains in United States Steel, Radio, Bethlehem, Westinghouse, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, General Electric, New York Central, Union Pacific and Electric Power & Light ranged from 1⅝ to more than 2. Coppers and oils dragged.

A cut in crude petroleum prices by one leading unit foreshadowed similar action by others. As for the coppers, trade circles expect that much of an advance in quotations will be postponed until April, since many of the large consumers are covered for the first quarter.

Commodities Are Steady.

Activity in bonds was less pronounced, but prices improved, especially the foreign listings. The syndicate purchasing New York City's $100,000,000 issue announced shortly after noon that the big block had been taken by dealers and market circles reported a lively demand. The full settlement made to the city by the banking group was largely responsible for the firming of call money, which advanced to 2 per cent for the first time since January 2. Brokers loans promptly reflected the easiness of stocks during the week ended March 4, declining $8,000,000.

Commodities were steady to firm. Movements in wheat were narrow and the close a fraction lower to a fraction higher. The Stabilization Corporation has started its sales of milling wheat to foreign buyers. Corn finished the day with gains of as much as a cent, reflecting forecasts of colder weather. Cotton lost 6 to 9 points net.

Unconfirmed reports that Italy would soon seek a large international loan sent the lira to a new high for the year, but otherwise there was little change in the foreign currencies. Shanghai was firm with the rise of 1.4 cent in silver bullion.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, March 5 (A.P.).—New upswings of the corn market gave relative poise to other cereals today. Attention focused on the corn visible supply which so far this year showed but 2,500,000 bushels increase against 15,000,000 in 1930. With blizzard weather sweeping eastward, traders were uneasy about possible interruption of the movement of corn to primary markets.

Corn closed firm, ¾ to 1⅛ cents higher, wheat at ¾ decline to ⅛ advance, oats off to ¼ shade up, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents down.

In view of present available commercial supplies of corn totaling only 19,000,000 bushels compared with a five-year average of 36,000,000, special significance was attached to primary arrivals, 721,000 bushels against 985,000 a week ago and 769,000 at this time last year. Moreover, Chicago receipts, 196 cars, were also smaller than a year back. Buying was further stimulated by reports that there was little prospect of any increase of commercial stocks this month, but on the contrary an excellent chance of a reduction.

Bears vainly pointed out that corn reserve stocks on farms, in the nine surplus states, were 44,000,000 bushels larger and farm animals in the United States 6,000,000 fewer than in 1925 when May corn was $1.30, affected by $1.90 wheat. Bulls contended that May corn at present offered the best chance for a nearby speculative profit of any commodity on the board. Despite profit-taking setbacks at times, the market closed at almost the day's top level.

Wheat and oats rallied with corn, but gains were difficult to hold. Primary receipts of 1,435,000 bushels of wheat against 880,000 a year ago tended to chill buying enthusiasm, but opposite influence, however, was announcement that the grain stabilization had been making daily sales to European buyers, and that the corporation soon would move 500,000 bushels out of Chicago to provide storage room for future arrivals. Late reports told of sales of United States wheat to Havre and Marseille, France.

Provisions were easier as a result of profit taking following recent advances.

FOREIGN BONDS RISE WITH BRISK DEMAND

Domestics Improve Slightly; Signs of Stability Abroad Cheer Financiers.

New York, March 5 (A.P.).—A brisk demand for foreign bonds such as the group has seldom enjoyed in recent months carried a wide list of European and South American obligations to new highs for the current recovery today. Domestics were slightly improved.

Encouraged by signs of returning stability in foreign countries investors have shown increasing interest the last three weeks in new commitments. The broadened demand and extent of the rise in today's session was the best of the period.

In a turnover of nearly $800,000, the German International 5½s offered in this country last year advanced 2 points to close at 81¼, or 13 points above the low touched last year. German 7s duplicated their peak. German bank issues were buoyant, and Rhine-Westphalian Frankfort City, Bulgarian governments, Berlin City and Berlin City Electric issues joined the advance.

Announcement of the settlement of the controversy over American Petroleum concessions in Colombia, together with calling for funding payments on outstanding issues by Argentina, Colombia, Brazil and Peru in the past few days, helped Latin American obligations. Colombian bonds rose 3, Chilean 3 or 4, and Argentine loans advanced fractionally to new peaks for the year. Australian issues gained further ground.

The first advance in call money rates in two months attributed to calling of loans to pay for the $100,000,000 City of New York bond issue marketed today failed to affect the market. Bankers said the industrials gained with the rise in shares. Rails were irregularly higher.

SHIP MINUS CREW FOUND ABANDONED

Baltimore Craft Is Sighted 405 Miles Off Savannah; 7 Seamen Missing.

Baltimore, Md., March 5 (A.P.).—Word that the four-masted schooner Emerett, of Baltimore, was sighted abandoned yesterday off the coast of Georgia with her crew of seven missing was received here today by the local Hydrographic office.

The American Steamer Sea Thrush sighted the vessel when about 405 miles east of Savannah. Shipping officials said no word had been received from the Master, M. Bacosta Roberts, of Jesterville, Md., since the Emerett cleared from Jacksonville, Fla., on February 25 for Porto Rico with a load of lumber.

Officers of the steamer reported that one of the lifeboats was gone and that part of the deck load of lumber had been washed away. The Emerett sailed from Baltimore, November 5, for Bermuda with lumber. Mr. Roberts was owner of the vessel as well as master.

The information received by the Hydrographic office was that the Emerett seemed to be badly waterlogged and when sighted the sea was very heavy.

The other members of the crew were listed here as William Hurlston, Mobile, Ala.; Arthur Jorden, no address; Albert Plank, Boston; Melvin Bernsten, Norway; Jen Jensen, Denmark, and Oscar Langerud, Baltimore.

G. W. Fraternities Are Set for Ball

Arthur Darton Will Lead Outstanding University Social Event.

The salient event on the social calendar of George Washington University, the interfraternity council ball, will be held tonight at the Willard Hotel, beginning at 10 o'clock and lasting until the wee hours of the morning. It is expected that more than 500 fraternity men, both active and alumni, will attend the ball.

The grand march, most colorful incident during the evening, will be led by Arthur Darton, social chairman of the council and chairman of the committee on arrangements for the ball, assisted by T. Calhoun Lacey and Steele McGrew, other members of the committee. Music will be furnished by the Slaughter Orchestra.

Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington, and Mrs. Marvin, as well as the deans of the different colleges in the university, will chaperone the ball. Unusual favors have been arranged for both men and women attending, and there will be unique entertainment which was arranged by the committee.

CosmopolitanClub Hears Child's Teeth Discussion

Advanced methods of correcting improperly placed teeth in children were discussed yesterday by Dr. Francis M. Murray, orthodontist, before a luncheon of the Cosmopolitan Club at the Carlton Hotel.

Dr. Murray said it is now possible to remedy such defects without extraction. He was instrumental in having classes formed in this branch of dentistry at Georgetown University, where he is an instructor.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

FAIRFAX CITIZENS VIEW 1931 BUDGET

Increases and Decreases in Appropriations Aired at Special Session.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon, 2324-W-2.

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors held a special meeting yesterday at the courthouse to hear citizens on questions of various items in the tentative budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1931.

During the hearing on the proposed increases in the county funds amounting to $16,228.40 and the decreases of $23,349.54, one question was raised by the citizens present. The decrease in the county funds to be raised next year will amount to $7,121.14. It was explained to those present that since the proposed increase in the public health appropriations for the county, representatives from the State health department had agreed to increase the State appropriation for this work so that the increase to be raised in the county will only amount to $250. Two items included in last year's budget, one the reassessment of real estate in the county amounting to $10,000 and the other for the prevention of bovine tuberculosis of $3,500, were dropped from this year's budget.

The proposed increases and decreases in the district funds were discussed and a large delegation from Mount Vernon district protested the raising of $7,500 by a special levy in that district to be used in the erection of modern school buildings. It was pointed out that to raise this amount would entail a tax levy of approximately 25 cents on each $100 valuation of property, according to figures now available.

the subject realized the immediate need of improved school facilities in the district, but they felt that because of the drought and unemployment conditions now existing in the district that most of the citizens would be unable to stand so large an increase at the present time. They stated that a school at Franconia was most needed and they believed that with the money now to the credit of the district and with a 5 cent tax levy assisted by funds borrowed from the State literary loan, a school building could be erected at that point. A five cent tax levy in this district would only yield approximately $1,680. Members of the school board explained that this amount would be so small that they did not believe it possible to finance the building of a school this year and suggested that at least a 10 cent levy be agreed upon.

Following the hearing, the board of supervisors held a short session and decided to meet Thursday, March 12, to consider final adoption of the budget, which will become effective April 1. After this date changes can not be made except by unanimous consent of the board and at that time no item can be raised or lowered more than 10 per cent. The tax rates under the budget, as finally adopted, will be set at the regular March meeting of the board.

The Fairfax County board of supervisors and the Fairfax school board yesterday adopted a resolution asking Commonwealth Attorney Wilson M. Parr to draw up a resolution for each board addressed to the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia protesting that body's attitude relative to the closing of the terminal of the Arlington & Fairfax Railway Co. in Washington.

A series of farmers' educational meetings will be held this summer in Fairfax County. Representatives from the Department of Agriculture and from the State Agricultural College at Blacksburg, Va., will speak. The first of the meetings will be held in Fairfax March 18 in the county courthouse at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, at which time Prof. Harry Moore, head of the department of poultry husbandry, will give a talk on "Baby Chicks."

Prof. Moore will endeavor to obtain support for a series of poultry meetings to be held during the summer and fall months. At each meeting a different phase of poultry work will be discussed. Every one interested in poultry should be present and help make this poultry short course a success. Prof. Teska, head of the horticultural department at Blacksburg, will also be present and give a talk on the care of fruit trees and the management of diseases and insects that are causing so much trouble in the county and State. The home orchard should prove a valuable adjunct to the farm home and can be made so if the farmers learn how to combat the pests that do so much damage to crops and fruit trees.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Herndon Volunteer Fire Department will give a chicken dinner this evening in the basement of the Congregational Church at Herndon for the benefit of the local fire department. Mrs. Mary Coberth is general chairman of arrangements.

S. Marshall Thompson, 49, prominent Fairfax County farmer, died Wednesday at his home on Lee highway between Merrifield and Fairfax, following a short illness. Mr. Thompson was a native of Fairfax County. For a number of years he was topographical draftsman in the United States Forest Service, returning to Fairfax County upon the death of his father, Alfred H. Thompson. Since that time he had engaged in farming.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Lucy Bennett, of Vale, four sons and two daughters. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Annie L. Thompson; a brother, Armistead T. Thompson, and four sisters, Mrs. Martin L. Bray, of Shockey Station; Mrs. J. P. Fletcher, of Bucklands, Va.; Mrs. J. L. Crouch, of Centerville, and Mrs. Wallace S. Covington, of Fairfax.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Southern Methodist Church at Fairfax. Services will be conducted by Elder T. M. Dalton, of Baltimore, of the Old School Baptist Church. Burial will be in Fairfax Cemetery.

At the regular meeting of the Acacia Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at Falls Church, Mrs. Lola H. Pattie was elected a worthy matron for the coming year. Olin G. Snyder was elected worthy patron; Mrs. Hazel Rucker, associate matron; Frank Hinkens, associate patron; Mrs. Sara Redfield, secretary; Mrs. Mabie Robertshaw, treasurer; Miss Estie Birch, conductress; Mrs. Dorothy Snyder, associate conductress; Miss Gertrude Orr, chaplain; Mrs. Catherine Ware, marshal; Mrs. Grace Brown, organist; Mrs. Mary Crossman, warden; Everett Tillett, sentinel, and William Crossman, trustee. The following star points were appointed: Adah, Mrs. Adah Tillett; Ruth, Mrs. Queen A. Grasty; Esther, Miss Martha Thompson; Martha, Miss Carrie Ball, and Electra, Miss Marie Taylor. The new officers will be installed on March 23 by Mrs. Mary E. Teachem, of Washington, grand lecturer of the Order of Eastern Star of the District of Columbia.

The Rev. Herbert A. Donovan, of the Zion Episcopal Church at Fairfax, will conduct special Lenten services in St. George's Episcopal Church at Clarendon this evening.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Annandale will give an oyster supper this evening at Annandale school. Mrs. R. T. Creel will have charge of arrangements.

HUGE STILL CAPTURED IN COUNTY

With the still are, left to right—Justice of the Peace H. Carlin Cockeril, who issued the raiding warrant; Sheriff E. P. Kirby, A. J. Bailey, Lloyd Reed and Murray Wells.

OCCOQUAN FUGITIVE IS TAKEN IN CAPITAL

Henry F. Sweeney, Who Fled Workhouse, Is Put Under Arrest Here.

One of the three prisoners who escaped from the Occoquan Workhouse on Tuesday night was captured yesterday at Thirteenth and Euclid streets northwest, by Patrolman C. W. Pitts, of the Eighth Precinct. Henry F. Sweeney, 28 years old, is the one captured.

Howard L. Carson and Raymond Ball, the other escapees are still at large. Carson stayed in Washington only a few hours after his escape, according to Sweeney. Ball was last seen at Third and Pennsylvania avenue, he said.

Sweeney was arrested after a telephone call came that there was a suspicious looking man in the neighborhood of Thirteenth and Euclid streets. After his capture he said that his two companions had become intoxicated soon after leaving the workhouse in an automobile borrowed from one of the guards. They used back roads on their way to this city, he said. All were trusties.

Police Hold Motorist After Hitting Woman

Miss Eugenia O'Reilly, 24, suffered a possible fracture of the skull and severe bruises yesterday when struck by an auto at Massachusetts avenue and North Capitol street. According to police, she was standing in the safety zone when a machine driven by Frederick R. Hutton, Massachusetts avenue near Tenth northeast, knocked her down.

Hutton was charged with reckless driving at the Sixth Precinct Station. Miss O'Reilly, who lives at 119 Sixth street southeast, was taken to Casualty Hospital.

Cash and Books Reported Stolen.

Mrs. Sophie Wahl reported to police yesterday that her home at 814 Farragut street northwest had been entered by an intruder and some cash, a bank book and a prayer book stolen. Entry was gained through a rear door, which was left unlocked.

Witnesses Scoff At Assault Story

Defense Alleges Woman in Case Gave Imaginative Story to Police.

Norfolk, Va., March 5 (A.P.).—Testimony that the complaining witness had on two previous occasions told stories of being drugged and kidnaped was included in defense witnesses' statements today in the trial of William Harper, Negro, charged with criminally assaulting a young Portsmouth woman.

Mrs. Rex W. Rodgers, in whose home the complaining witness was living, testified that she did not believe the story. "I believe she was suffering from delusions," the witness said.

Mrs. Rodgers testified further that on the night of the alleged attack the woman did not leave her home until after a radio broadcasting program had started at 6:45 o'clock. The State contends the alleged assault took place in Norfolk between 6:30 and 6:45 o'clock.

J. P. Jones Appeal Filed in Virginia

20 Grounds Cited in Writ of Former Delegate Asking New Trial.

Richmond, Va., March 5 (A.P.).—Petition for a writ of error presented to the Supreme Court of Appeals today by Counsel for James P. Jones, member of the House of Delegates convicted of embezzling funds of the Virginia Methodist Conference Orphanage, denies there was an embezzlement and cites twenty grounds of alleged reversible error.

Among other things it is charged that the jury imposed too short a sentence. "The jury returned a general verdict of guilty upon all thirteen counts of the indictment" the petition recites, "and under the law he was punishable from one to ten years for each offense. The jury fixed his punishment at five years. If your petitioner is guilty as found by the jury, the minimum punishment was thirteen years and the maximum punishment 130 years."

ROBERT H. SMOOT DIES.

Native of Charlotte Hall Succumbs to Illness at Hospital Here.

Robert H. Smoot, of Charlotte Hall, Md., died yesterday morning at Sibley Hospital after a short illness. He was a native of Charlotte Hall, and had lived in Maryland all of his life.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Maud Halley Smoot; two sisters, Mrs. C. S. Shepherd, of Covington, Va., and Mrs. D. M. Freeman, of this city, and a brother, James A. Smoot, of Baltimore. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the All Faith Episcopal Church, Charlotte Hall. Interment will follow at that place.

ROCKVILLE ASKS AID FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Meeting Held in Montgomery County Seat Details Tax Needs for Projects.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post,
9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md.
Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Projects which are being asked by the mayor and council for the improvement of the town of Rockville, county seat of Montgomery County, were deetailed and discussed at a special meeting of the Rockville Rotary Club yesterday. Mayor J. Roger Spates of Rockville explained the items.

State Senator Robert G. Hilton, members of the board of county commissioners, and Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners, were present at the hearing as guests of the club. Senator Hilton told the meeting that the delegation to the General Assembly is anxious to do everything possible for the welfare of the town, but declined to make any definite promises. W. F. Prettyman, president of the Rotary Club, also spoke and presided at the luncheon.

It was pointed out that the town of Rockville is the county seat and that 10 per cent of the property in the town is owned by the county and is exempt from taxation, and that in order to develop it properly and in keeping with its importance the county and State must return more than heretofore in the way of improvements. The town has a taxable basis of $1,800,000 and pays the same tax which is levied on the whole district. It receives back less than $700 for all road work, and to date has had only 1 mile of hard-surfaced road from the State and county, while other districts assessed for a like amount have received from ten to twenty times the mileage the town has received.

The improvements, which the town fathers are anxious to have cared for, and which were made public after a meeting of the town council last month, include several street widening projects and the construction of a new elementary school for the town.

A special meeting of the mayor and council of Gaithersburg will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, in the schoolhouse, for the public discussion of the request for imposition of a fire tax in the Gaithersburg District made by the Gaithersburg - Washington Grove Volunteer Fire Department.

The fire department is anxious to have a 5-cent fire tax imposed in order that a steady income that could be budgeted in advance can be worked out. The department now has a $15,000 debt on its firehouse and $6,600 on its equipment, which can not be carried unless some help is received from the taxpayers. A committee consisting of Frank B. Severance, Dr. Barnett, and Herbert Diamond has been appointed by the department to push the imposition of the tax.

Suit for absolute divorce from Harry L. Johnson, of Catlett, Va., was filed yesterday in circuit court at Rockville on behalf of Mrs. Lelia Shenk Johnson, a minor, of Takoma Park, Md. The suit was filed by Attorney Milton Whitney, jr., of Takoma Park, Md., and names the mother of the girl, Mrs. Anna E. Shenk, as next friend.

According to the petition, the couple was married in July 12, 1927, at Rockville, Md., and lived together until February 25, 1928, when the husband is alleged to have deserted. The wife asks absolute divorce and custody of the one child.

The Glenmont Center Citizens Association will meet Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Glenmont School. Legislation pending before the State Legislature at Annapolis which affects the community and proposed membership in the Montgomery County Civic Federation will bed iscussed, according to Richard C. Birney, president.

The Kensington Board of Trade will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the National Guard Armory at Kensington.

Operator of Still Back in Manassas

Walter Polen Recaptured and Will Start on Jail Sentence.

Special to The Washington Post.

Manassas, Va., March 5.—Walter Polen, who was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $250 for operating a still which was captured on a farm belonging to the Rev. Westwood Hutchison in 1929, was brought to the county jail this morning by Deputy Sheriff W. E. Partlow and Constable M. A. Lynch, to begin serving his sentence.

Following his sentence the court suspended its execution so that Polen might complete work on his crops, and a $500 bond was posted. Polen left the county and has remained outside the State until recently. Word reached Manassas that he was working on a farm near Arcola, in Loudoun County, and officers proceeded to that point yesterday, where he was arrested and brought to the county seat to begin serving his term.

DINNER WILL MARK SCHOOL'S FOUNDING

Secretary Hyde to Address Anniversary Gathering at Maryland University.

Addresses by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde and Swepson Earle, Maryland conservation commissioner, will feature the dinner to be given tonight at the University of Maryland to mark the seventy-fifth anniversary of the signing of the charter of the Maryland Agricultural College.

The subject of Secretary Hyde's talk has not been announced, but Mr. Earle will speak on "Pioneers of Colonial Agriculture." Mr. Earle is known as one of the foremost historians of Maryland.

Dr. H. L. Broughton, head of the department of Chemistry, will outline the work of "Dr James Higgins, The First Agricultural Chemist," who was pursued out of the State because of his advanced theories in his profession. Prof. Charles S. Richardson will speak on "A Pioneer of Agricultural Education, Hon. Charles B. Calvert," who was instrumental in having the charter of the school signed. Prof. Richardson is head of the department of public speaking.

"What Maryland Has Contributed to National Agriculture" will be the subject on which Dr. A. F. Woods, coordinator of experimental work in the National Department of Agriculture, will speak. Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the university, will outline future plans for the school.

The dinner has been arranged by the Agriculture Club of the college, under the leadership of Arthur Ahalt, president. Mark F. Woods, of Berwyn, and a member of the club, is chairman of the program committee and Sydney Lawler, of Washington, is head of the banquet committee.

Dr. H. F. Cotterman will be toastmaster and Dr. H. J. Patterson, dean of the school of agriculture, will deliver the address of welcome. The Maryland Agricultural College, which was merged with the University of Maryland in 1920, is one of the two oldest purely agricultural colleges in the country.

The annual military ball of the Maryland University branch of the Reserve Officers Training Corps will be held in Ritchie Gymnasium, at the school tonight. Willis T. Frazier, son of U. S. Senator Lynn J. Frazier, is chairman of the program committee.

Frank Cox, president of the university's chapter of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, has charge of the pledging of that body, which is a feature of the ball.

The main feature of the program will be a grand march, the first movement of which will be an exhibition drill restricted to advanced R. O. T. C. students. The march will be led by Miss Agnes McNutt, sponsor of the regiment, and Lieut. Col. Henry J. Whiting. With this couple will be Miss Jane Hammack, sponsor of the First Battalion, and Maj. Willis T. Frazier, commander of the First. Next will come Miss Margaret McGarvey, sponsor of the Second Battalion, and its commander, Maj. Conrad E. Grohs.

Patrons for the affair include Maj. Alvan C. Gillem, jr., head of the military department, and Mrs. Gillem; Capt. Everett L. Upson and Mrs. Upson, Lieut. Robert N. Young and Mrs. Young and Lieut. Edward H. Bowes and Mrs. Bowes.

Four persons, one a woman, have been arrested in Prince Georges County in the last 24 hours on various liquor charges, and three of them are out on bail, awaiting their trial in Hyattsville Police Court next Wednesday.

The woman is Mrs. Anna Booth, of River road in Bladensburg, who was freed on bond of $500 on a charge of possession.

Bond was set at $1,000 for Frank Steele, of Capitol Heights, who was arrested on the Baltimore boulevard near Beltsville. Eight cases of alleged liquor were found in his car. Charges of transportation and illegal possession were placed against Samuel P. Boyden, of H street northwest near Twenty-second street.

Disclaiming any knowledge of the 60 gallons of alleged whisky found in his car when it was stopped on the boulevard, Samuel Sonneborn, of Baltimore, was, nevertheless, held on charges of transporting and possession. His bond was fixed at $1,000 and he was committed to jail when he could not raise this sum. The alleged contraband was found when he was arrested for speeding.

No liquor was found in the car of Francis Morley, of Penn street northeast near Eleventh street, when he was arrested for speeding. He was held on bond of $1,000 after his arrest by Constable Howard Slater.

The much-postponed hearing for Paul E. Dement, of Branchville, in connection with the death of Claude Hughes, will be held Saturday morning at 11 before Judge Herbert J. Moffat in Hyattsville. Hughes died in Providence Hospital after being stabbed by Dement during a fight.

Two steps looking toward the elimination of fire hazards in Riverdale have been taken by the town council, one the appointment of Edward C. Stewart, chief of the volunteer fire department, as fire marshal, and the other the revision of the fire ordinances of the town, making them more stringent. Three hundred feet of new hose, to cost $285, will also be bought for the fire department.

Two new laws, drawn by Milton D. Campbell, corporation counsel, were passed, making it illegal to tamper with the mechanism of the new traffic light on the Baltimore boulevard and condemning the disregard for stop signs in the town.

Approximately $900 will be returned to property owners along the boulevard for their sidewalks which were torn up when the repaving was done. The sum will be paid by the State roads commission. Plans are maturing for a form of release to be signed by these property owners, so that the $900 can be paid direct to the town for the rebuilding of the destroyed paving.

Other matters were discussed, including the question of collection of garbage and the rezoning of Lots 1 and 2, in Block 26, from residential to industrial. There are no funds for a collection system, which is at present being collected under a plan worked out by the Riverdale Women's Club. Citizens are requested to submit any plans they may have for a collection system.

The rezoning question will have a hearing at Marlboro next Tuesday before the county commissioners. Residents of the town who are opposed to the change will have an opportunity to be heard at that time.

Dr. E. W. Nelson Named Deputy.

Dr. E. W. Nelson, naturalist and former director of the United States Biological Survey, has been elected a vice president of the American Forestry Association, that organization announced yesterday.

VIRGINIA IS PLANNING FOR MUSIC FESTIVAL

Program for Initial Day of April 14-17 Event Is Already Complete.

Charlottesville, Va., March 5 (A.P.) Miss Eva Taylor Eppes, State junior counselor for the Virginia music festival to be held here April 14-17, and vice president of the Virginia Federation of Music Clubs, one of the sponsors of the event, today said the program for the first day of the festival had been completed, and that the State board of education would hold examinations for teachers of music on the same date in Charlottesville.

"Both those who expect to take the examinations for certificates through credentials, must obtain application blanks for the examinations, she said. All applications must be registered by March 15. Inquiries for further information may be made through Miss Blanche Deal, president of the Virginia State Music Teachers Association.

April 14 will be officially called "Junior Day" on the festival program. There will be a short business session at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. Junior clubs will report and at 10:30 o'clock the young artists program will begin under the direction of Mrs. S. W. Rawls, of Franklin. Junior contests will be held during this session, under the direction of Miss Ivor Aycock, of Suffolk, and a hymn playing contest, under the direction of Mrs. Harrison Robertson, of Danville, will be among the features.

Massed Chorus Arranged.

Mrs. Dan Dickenson, of Danville, State junior choral chairman, is arranging a massed State chorus as the first feature of the afternoon program. Two numbers will be sung: "Sing, Young America, Sing," by Alfred H. Strick, and "Hymn of the Pilgrims," by MacDowell. The Schuyler Junior Club will render special numbers and Miss Frances Calvert Thompson, junior club member of New Market, will render a piano solo. There will be an Indian dance by Glen Perry Colonnas of Norfolk. Miss Ethel Irwin, of Harrisonburg, has arranged a series of special numbers by the Junior State Orchestra. The Shenandoah College Orchestra will have a prominent part in the program.

One of the features of the day is planned for 3:30 o'clock, when, following an introductory talk by John Powell, a folk music program by old-time musicians will be rendered. Fiddle tunes, folk songs and banjo tunes are to be presented.

Folk music settings is the title of the section of this feature. George Harris, of Richmond, in "Blow Away the Morning Dew," "Lord Rendal" and "William Taylor," will open the program. Others in their selections will include Katherine Walker, of Schuyler, in "The Wraggle Taggle" and "Oh, No, John;" Miss Eva Eppes, of Fredericksburg, in "The Bird's Courtship," "The Farmer's Curst Wife" and "Frog Song," and at least one other artist in three numbers.

Based on Folk Music.

The last section of the first day program will be compositions based on folk music or composed in folk music style. Winston Wilkinson, violinist, will play "Natches on the Hill" and "From a Loved Past." George Harris will sing "Linden Lea" and "Whenas the Rye." Hilton Rufty will play "Jockey to the Fair" and "Hobby on the Green," and John Powell, pianist, will render "The Arkansas Traveler," "The Banjo Picker" and "Turkey in the Straw."

Verbon Kemp, secretary of the festival, said today that already great interest has been shown in this, the first Virginia music festival. The programs for the other three days were said to be nearly complete. Massed singing by 1,000 voices, symphony orchestra concerts and other features will be included.

Ceiling Fall Hurts Hospital Patients

Four Women Are Victims of Accident, but Are Not Badly Injured.

Baltimore, March 5 (A.P.).—Four or more women tuberculosis patients in a city hospital bungalow annex were injured today when a ceiling collapsed. One of the injured suffered a broken leg, but the others escaped with cuts and bruises.

Cries of the patients, eight of whom were quartered in the ward where the ceiling fell, brought nurses and attendants and a municipal ambulance was called to transfer the injured to the accident ward.

The building is a one-story structure located about a quarter of a mile from the hospital main building.

Al Capone, it seems, faces the bar of justice merely for vagrancy or contempt of court. Just why he hasn't been charged with smoking in the subway, leading an unmuzzled dog, playing baseball in the city streets, fishing without a license or riding a bicycle on the sidewalk may never be explained.

A Chicago social worker says that a receding chin is a social asset. "Men with receding chins have charm, listen well and their repartee can not be excelled," she reports. And by inviting a few carefully selected guests with low foreheads and big ears any hostess can guarantee the party against a dull moment.

5,500 MAY TURN OUT IN ARLINGTON VOTING

Politics in Adjacent Virginia Section Warming Up as Election Nears.

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Cla. 500. Clarendon, Va.

With the preelection season rapidly approaching when the voters of Arlington County will begin to give much consideration to their choice of men for county officials, special interest appears to be centering around who will constitute the county board of five to replace the county board of supervisors of three under new form of government known as county manager plan.

As a result of the special election held last year on the question of a change in the form of county government which becomes effective January 1, together with the fact that there will be a new office to fill, that of county judge, predictions are now being made that the total vote at the coming November election will exceed 5,500 votes.

The office of county judge is the result of an act of the last general assembly which replaces the present county police court and abolishes the office of justice of the peace.

While the general election is not until November, there will be a Democratic primary in August for the selection of Democratic candidates for the State Senate and delegate to the House of Delegates of the general assembly. At the present time there are but two candidates seeking the office of State senator. They are Col. Charles T. Jesse, of Arlington County, former member of the house, and John Rust, of Fairfax County. Hugh Reid, present delegate, still refuses to commit himself on the question of whether he be a candidate for the State senate, but there are yet strong possibilities of him throwing his hat in the ring.

The present known candidates for the several county offices are as follows: For Commonwealth's attorney, William C. Gloth (incumbent), Clarence R. Ahalt, Amos C. Crounse and Lawrence Douglas; for sheriff, Howard B. Fields (incumbent); for treasurer, E. Wade Ball (incumbent); for commissioner of revenue, Harry K. Green (incumbent); for county judge, Bryan Gordon and H. W. Dudley; for membership on the county board, Dr. Frank T. Stone, George M. Yeatman and E. C. Turnburke.

Indications are that there will be several persons to announce themselves as candidates for the abovementioned office, including a number of Republican candidates, which it is understood will be made known following the holding of the convention, the date of which is still unknown.

County Treasurer E. Wade Ball announces that Saturday, May 2, is the last day in which persons who are otherwise qualified to vote at the November election can pay their poll taxes. Treasurer Wade states that his office at the county courthouse is open each week day until 4:30, and on Saturdays until 1:30 o'clock.
